What Ails our Youth?

GEORGE A. COE—1.00
"What chiefly ails our youth is that they have not the right kind of parents and teachers," says Dr. Coe. In this book, the problem of youth in modern civilization is taken up from a different angle, that of school and church, and the conclusions drawn by the author throw an interesting light on the relationship between youth and those organizations. A book for every minister, Sunday school leader, and parent.

With Christ as Guide

A. HERBERT GRAY—1.00
An apprehension of Christianity. This little book has fallen into three parts. The first is an account of the personality of Jesus. The second is an attempt to realize what are the religious convictions and experiences to which Jesus leads. And the third is a more negative section which dissociates the religion of Jesus from some of the hampering and perplexing accretions which have been formed around it.

PROBLEM DISCUSSION SERIES

To stimulate Personal Thinking and guide Discussion Groups and Forums in the formation of intelligent Christian opinions.

People today are asking for opportunity to think and act for themselves. The place which the problem forum is taking in so many of our churches and colleges is an indication of this. Men and women are finding in personal study and discussion an opportunity for readjustment of old points of view and for a wholly new vision of their time.

WORLD PROBLEM STUDIES

America's Stake in Europe—CHARLES H. FAHS
America's Stake in the Far East—CHARLES H. FAHS
World Facts and America's Responsibility—CORNELIUS H. PATTON
With discussion outline prepared by Charles B. Swartz

DEVOTIONAL

A FAITHFUL GUIDE TO PEACE WITH GOD. By C. O. Rosenius. 393 pages. Cloth, $1.50. Flexible leather, gilt edges, $3.50.

Being excerpts from the writings of C. O. Rosenius. Arranged as Daily Meditations to cover a period of two months. With the assistance of Bishop N. J. Laache. Reproduced by George Taylor Rygh.

DAILY MEDITATIONS. By Conrad Svendsen. Edited and with a preface by George Taylor Rygh, Litt. D. 454 pages. Cloth, $1.75. Half morocco, gilt edges, $2.50.

A book for the Family Worship. Arranged according to the Church year. Characteristic features of these meditations are simplicity of diction, directness of expression, applying the text to the daily life of the individual and a pietistic note, rendering them all the more practical.

THE MIRROR OF FAITH. By Erik Pontoppidan. 268 pages, cloth, $1.50.

The English edition of "Troens Speil," Erik Pontoppidan's classic treatise on faith. Pastors and teachers will find benefit and joy in this work both personally and with reference to their calling. The arrangement of the reading matter and the contents make the book peculiarly well suited for use in connection with instruction in the elements of Christianity. It will lead pupils to actual self-examination and a serious search for the fellowship with God which is indicated by faith.

BOOK OF FAMILY PRAYER. By Bishop N. J. Laache. 626 pages. 8vo. Half roan, $2.00. Half Morocco, Gilt Edge, Gift Edition, $2.50. Full Morocco, $3.50.

Bible lessons with meditations for each day. Arranged after the Church Year. Translated from the Norwegian by Peer Strømme. Pronounced by Lutheran clergymen everywhere as one of the best Lutheran books of devotion to be had in the English language.

JOHN GOSZNER'S TREASURY. Containing Bible meditations for each day in the year, with devotional songs to the furtherance of family prayer and piety. 400 pages. Cloth, price $1.25. Leather, $2.25.

Contains a Scripture text, a short devotional or instructive reading, and a little verse, for thirty-one days. More than 300,000 copies have been sold of this book in the original. It is rendered into a simple and beautiful English, that every child will easily understand.

AWAKE. By Rev. N. Lunde. 175 pages. Cloth, 90 cents.

A volume of admonitions. Translated from the original Norwegian edition by Rev. M. C. Waller.

A FREE TEXT CHURCH POSTIL. Consisting of sermons written by fifty-five different authors, this book presents a new preacher every Sunday during the church year. 356 pages, nicely bound in leather back and corners. $2.25.

LOOK TO JESUS. Daily meditations and prayers before the Mercy Seat. 64 pages. Cloth, 35 cents. Flexible leather, 65 cents. The book contains morning and evening prayers with Scripture texts for 31 days.

THE OLD PATHS. 440 pages, half leather binding, $2.25. Morocco back and corners, $3.00. Sermons on the second Gospel series acording to the Church of Norway. Collected and edited by Rev. Knut Seehuus.

LUTHER AS AN EDUCATOR. By Dr. G. M. Bbuce, Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minn.

Presenting the great Reformer of the Church as also a Reformer of Education. "Dr. Bruce has done historic truth a great service by forcibly and convincingly bringing to the fore Luther as an educator." Cloth, $2.00.

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT IN THE AMERICAN LUTHERAN Church. By Gerald Jenny. A survey of the problems which have confronted youth; sets forth a historical background of the youth movement in the different Lutheran synods, and then takes up each synod by itself and traces the history of its "youth movement." 170 pages. Cloth, $1.25.

THE SECRET OF A HAPPY LIFE. By Martin Hegland, Ph. D., Dean of the Department of Religion at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and President of the Young People's Luther League of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. 134 pages. Fourth edition. Cloth, $1.00.

The basis of this volume is a sermon-lecture delivered at a number of young people's conventions. As a pastor and psychologist Dr. Hegland speaks wisely and lovingly to the young people who have been baptized and nourished thru the teaching, training and example of Christian parents, teachers, and pastors, so that they have come in the years of their youth into a conscious life with God. He also speaks to those who have drifted away from God. Many will read The Secret of a Happy Life and be blessed by the reading.

AFTER ITS KIND. By Byron C. Nelson, Th. M. Second and revised edition. 144 pages, cloth, $1.50.

The evolution theory discussed. The sub-title of this volume is "The First and Last Word on Evolution." "The first word" is the decree of the Creator at the time the different "kinds" or species were created. "The last word" is the statement of the laws of heredity brought to light by the discoveries of George Mendel. The pages of this volume are the product of years of study of a Bible-lover who has gone thru the fiery furnace of skepticism and came out firmly convinced of the scientific trustworthiness of the first chapter of the Book of Genesis.

AN ELEMENTARY CHRISTIAN PSYCHOLOGY. By O. M. Norlie, Ph. D., S. T. D., Professor of Psychology at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. 270 pages, 69 illustrations. Second edition. Cloth, $1.25.

Presents the subject of psychology from a Biblical point of view without doing violence to the facts of modern psychological science. It covers the ordinary topics in elementary psychology besides such questions as conscience and faith, and the natural and renewed states of man. It has 16 lessons, provided with questions, assignments and references.

PAUL OF TARSUS. By E. Kr. Johnsen, late Professor of Theology at Luther Theological Seminary. 376 pages. Cloth, $1.75.

Paul, the great missionary hero of all times, has been portrayed in this volume in such a vivid manner that the story of this great apostle and remarkable man stands out like a powerful drama. The second part of the book is a popular commentary on the Epistle of Paul.

GENERAL

REMINISCENT REFLECTIONS OF A YOUTHFUL OCTOGENARIAN. By Dr. George Henry Gerberding. Pioneer church work among English speaking Lutherans in the East and West has been vividly pictured in this life story of Dr. Gerberding. 294 pages. Cloth. $1.50.

WHO'S WHO AMONG PASTORS IN ALL THE NORWEGIAN LUTHERAN SYNODS OF AMERICA. 1843-1929. Edited By Dr. O. M. Norlie and Dr. O. A. Tingelstad. Biographical sketches of pastors. More than 2,000 pictures. 800 pages. Durable binding. $5.00.

THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS AN HISTORICAL FACT. By Rev. Z. J. Ordal. 128 pages. Cloth, $1.25.

The author of this treatise establishes in a most convincing manner that the resurrection of Jesus is an historical fact. Contents: The Veracity and Credibility of the Apostles. The Significance of the Fact that the Apostles Preached. Direct Testimony of the Apostles as Preachers. The Central Position of Our Lord's Resurrection in the Teachings of the Apostles. The Facts on Which the Assurances of the Eleven Rested. Appearances of Jesus with a Special Import. The Fact on Which the Assurance of Paul Was Based. Are the Facts Considered Sufficient for Us? Additional Proof for the Resurrection of Jesus.

WHO IS JESUS? By Prof. M. O. Wee. Fourth edition. 90 pages. Paper cover, 50 cents. Cloth, 85 cents.

The author is particularly anxious to speak thru the pages of this book to people who are struggling against doubt, who ask questions in order to get answers, who are seeking for light and truth in order to attain assurance in their hearts. The author proves that many of the ablest thinkers and highest minds have been men of faith. The testimonies of these men form an interesting part of this book.

AUGSBURG CONFESSION. Translated from the Latin original, together with the Three General Creeds. 68 pages, 12*mo.* 25 cents.

BAPTISM—INFANT BAPTISM. By Dr. O. Hallesby. Translated from the Norwegian. 62 pages. Paper, 30 cents.

There are perhaps few features of the Christian faith which in our day cause so much controversy as Baptism, and Dr. Hallesby's excellent book, therefore, will be more than welcomed by all Lutherans.

MISCONCEPTIONS OF THE WORD AND WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT. Dr. J. N. Kildahl. To a correct understanding of the words and works of the Holy Spirit, read this book. It will prove a help and a blessing to seeking souls. Cloth, 75 cents.

THE DIFFERENCE. By Rev. I. G. Monson. New and revised edition. Cloth, 60 cents.

A popular guide to denominational history and doctrine. Gives a brief history of the various denominations and shows where the Lutheran Church differs from the other denominations in doctrine.

THE MAIN DIFFERENCE BETWEEN POSITIVE AND LIBERAL THEOLOGY. By Dr. O. Hallesby, Professor in the Independent Theological Seminary, Oslo, Norway. Edited by George Taylor Rygh, Litt. D. These are lectures delivered at Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul in 1923. Heavy paper cover, 40 cents.

FOREIGN MISSIONS IN THE BIBLE. By Rev. M. Saterlie. Has been prepared to satisfy the need among teachers and other workers in Bible classes, Young People's Societies and other organizations, of a little book that would help them get a better view of the missions in the light of God's Word. 84 pages. Heavy paper cover, 30 cents.

THE BOOK OF REVELATION AND ITS 20TH CHAPTER. Rev. I. D. Ylvisaker. Will remove the feeling that The Book of Revelation is a sort of puzzle picture book, and instead make you find it a wonderful book, so full of God's love and mercy, so assuring of final victory and eternal glory for the church of Christ. Pamphlet of 20 pages. 10 cents per copy; $1.00 per dozen.

GRADED SYSTEM FOR LUTHERAN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The system is based on Luther's Catechism, the Explanation and Vogt's Bible History.

In all the Catechism and Explanation classes the same topic is studied on a given Sunday.

In small Sunday Schools the unity of lesson plan permits the grouping of two or more grades in one class.

There is harmony between the Bible history and the Catechism lesson. The Bible story selected, whether from the Old Testament or from the New Testament, illustrates the central thought in the Catechism lesson.

Fiction

CHRIST BEFORE PILATE. By Waldemar Ager. 277 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

An American Story. The leading character in Mr. Ager's book is Rev. Welde, an idealist and dreamer, who gradually, as the story progresses, realizes the untenable position he holds in a congregation and society, in which selfishness and cowardice have the upper hand. It is a copy of Muncaszy's famous painting, "Christ Before Pilate," which hangs in his study, that keeps incessantly the question alive in him: "Am I for Christ or am I like Pilate, washing my hands?" "Christ Before Pilate" is a novel of contemporary American life which ranks with the best.

STUDIES IN SOCIOLOGY

SOURCE BOOK FOR SOCIAL ORIGINS — *$6.00

By William I. Thomas

We are indebted to our savage ancestors for practically all of society's universal customs and for her lesser rules of etiquette, both of which we frequently refer to as the results of civilization. Source Book for Social Origins traces the connection between the society of our very distant forefathers and our own, and shows that many of what we call our customs have been bequeathed to us by them.

The author has grouped the materials used in seven parts: Part I, The Relation of Society to Geographic and Economic Environment; Part II, Mental Life and Education; Part III, Invention and Technology; Part IV, Sex and Marriage; Part V, Art, Ornament and Decoration; Part VI, Magic, Religion, Myth; Part VII; Social Organization, Morals, The State. The work is completed by general biographical suggestions.

The book is a study of child life as found among historical peoples, including the old nations of Egypt, India, China, Japan, Persia, Judea, Greece and Rome, ancient Mexico and Peru, medieval Europe, and earlier United States. The word child is used in a general sense and includes all ages up to full manhood.

G. Stanley Hall said: "The Historical Child is unique and mounmental, and will always be a credit to American Scholarship."

"An imposing and interesting array of folkways of many ancient peoples."—The Survey.

THE MULATTO IN THE UNITED STATES — *$3.00

By Edward Byron Reuter of the Department of Sociology at the University of Illinois

This is a study which may well be taken into account by all students of the American race problem. The World Outlook: "Mr. Reuter considers the sociological consequences of race intermixture in various ages and places, and concludes that for the United States segregation is desirable not only for the whites but also for the negroes, who will thus develop their race more slowly but more normally. The mulattoes will be the leaders in this development, for their white blood has made their development more rapid and increased their abilities."

WHO ARE THE SLAVS? — Illustrated, 2 vols. $10.00

By Paul Radosavljevich, Ph.D., Professor of New York University,

Who Are the Slavs? is the only book dealing with the Slav as a whole and with reference to the characteristic traits of the specific Slavic tribes—Russian, Polish, Czecho-Slovak, and the South Slavic people.

THE WOMAN WHO WAITS — $2.50

By Frances Donovan

This is an account of an investigation of city restaurants and of the waitresses who are employed in them; it is a statement of facts. It has already called forth vigorous comment from a number of social workers by whom it has been read and has been pronounced by them a document of especial value to those engaged in social research.

The author gathered her information at first hand by working as a waitress in all sorts and conditions of eating placees.

THE SUICIDE PROBLEM IN THE UNITED STATES — $3.00

By Adolph D. Frenay-Dominicana

DOMINICANA says: "This work is a pioneer, but with none of the crudeness of the pioneer about it. Because of its thoroughness it will be of immense value to the doctor, sociologist, economist, philosopher and priest."

IMPORTANT NEW BOOKS

EVERYDAY LIFE IN THE NAVY — Illustrated $5.00

By Rear Admiral Albert S. Barker

"During most of his long and busy career, the late Admiral Barker kept diaries, and these he made the basis of this detailed and intimately personal story of 46 years in the navy, which he wrote after his retirement. It is an entertaining chronicle, written with a simplicity and modesty characteristic of its author, and imbued with that splendid spirit of patriotic service whch domnated his life.

"When Admiral Barker hauled down his flag and passed to the retired list in 1905 The Army and Navy Journal said among many other complimentry things, 'Aside from his exceptional ability, no more sincere and conscientious officer, no more courteous and kindly gentleman has ever worn the uniform of the United States Navy.'"—The Boston Herald

MY EXPERIENCES AS AN AVIATOR — Illustrated $3.00

By Captain Clifford

Captain Clifford, who has twenty-seven enemy planes to his credit, and four doubtful ones, has the distinction of winning his ace in the shortest time of any aviator in the royal air forces. He won it in ten days after his first flight over enemy territory.

THE MASTER PERSONALITY — $2.00

By Clifford W. Cheasley

What constitutes a Master Personality—Self Understanding—Obedience—Ambition—Industry—Imagination—Balance—Faith—Judgment—Impersonality.

SMALL SLAMS — Illustrated $1.00

By Mary C. Huguenin

"Something like Small Slams has long been desired by many players and needed by all," says E. V. Shepard, president of Shepard's Studios, New York, in his foreword to the book. "The 'small slams' given are good-natured ones that in some measure apply to each one of us. Only a hardened sinner or pachyderm can read the entire length of 'don'ts' without some twinges of conscience. The book will help reform many honest transgressors, and might well be sent with appropriate marked passages to the unrepentent. Each remark conjures before our mental vision well remembered faces, names and incidents. The book deserves a place in every card room."

THE MOSAIC OF LIFE, A Study of Human Development — $2.00

By Abram Glaser

The Development of Thought—The Written Expression of Human Reactions—Man's Religious Development—Man's Political Developmnt—The Satisfaction of Interests Under The Economic System—The Delimiting and Securing of Interests By Law—The Goal of Life.

BECOMING AN AMERICAN — $2.00

By Rev. Joseph Sullivan, D.D.

The book describes a childhood, spent in the little town of Dingle, Ireland, follows a self-educative career in Ireland, England and the United States; it explains what Americanism has meant to the author and has done for him and offers sensible experimental advice to those who are as he was—alien and seeking the privilege of American citizenship.

BIG THOUGHTS FOR LITTLE THINKERS — $1.50

By Ruth C. P. Stevenson

Here is a book which must appeal to every one interested in New Thought or any line of progressive metaphysical enquiry, because it shows very clearly what must inevitably be the logical purpose of life, when we accept the statement that "The Kingdom of Heaven is Within;" it aims to teach little children and students generally, that literally, all men are potentially Gods, and may be an intelligent study, and use of the powers of Mind draw upon the Cosmic Currents, so as to strengthen this Inner Nature of The I Am, and become Perfect even as The Father in Heaven is Perfect.

HEALTH RECORD — $1.00

By Roy P. Forbes, M.D.

This little book, as its name implies, is a health record of his observations of your child, but these observations are not always available to other physicians or to you. Hence, the purpose of this book is to give you and your child and other physicians data of value in the observations of the child either in health or during illness.

WIFE'S MIRROR — $2.00

By MARY LARRIMER

An absorbing series of intimate talks to women by a woman.

RICHARD G. BADGER—PUBLISHER—BOSTON

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

LIBERAL RELIGION — $2.00

By CLAUDE E. SAYRE, PH.D.—Author of "The Religion of Odd Fellowship"

In this startling new book Dr. Sayre considers the following questions: Is the Bible More Inspired than Other Books?—Is there a Hell and a Devil?—Religion and Science—Do You Want Truth or Tradition?—Do We Enjoy Intellectual Freedom in Religion?—Are the Church and its Ministry Doomed?—Do We Need Iconoclasts in Religion?—Is Prayer Ever Answered?

STARLIGHT IN THE DARK — $2.00

By CHRISTOPHER G. HAZARD, D.D.

This book succeeds in imparting and developing faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

JESUS IN OVERALLS — $2.00

By A. L. PICKENS

The author says: "The inspiration of some of the author's poems have come as a result of real overall work; other some arose from dress suit occasions. I believe I enjoyed the overalls more than the dress suit; to my acquaintances the reason will be obvious; I owned the overalls."

THE FUTURE UNROLLED — $2.00

By JOHN VUILLEUMIER

A fascinating study of the prophecies of Daniel and their fulfillment.

EVOLUTION AND GENESIS — $2.50

By KARL R. STOLZ, PH.D.

SCIENCE, EVOLUTION, RELIGION — $1.00

By E. T.

This book is no defence of religion. Religion does not need any defence. The author sets forth points bearing on science, evolution and religion from a technical point of view.

THE EVERYDAY PHILOSOPHY OF JESUS AND HIS BROTHER JAMES — $2.00

By ARTHUR BARBER

"I like your non-theological, non-controversial, non-technical approach to the subject. It is reasonable, human, appealing. It has distinct flavor of its own."

—Rev. Newman Matthews, Andover, Mass.

THE HOLY SPIRIT — $2.00

By B. P. ROBERTSON, D.D.

"I would encourage a wide study of this vital book on an important subject."

—L. R. Scarborough, D. D., President South Western Theological Seminary

THE EVOLUTION OF NEW TESTAMENT CHRISTOLOGY — $2.00

By CHARLES B. WILLIAMS, PH.D., D.D.,
Professor of New Testament Interpretation, Union University, Jackson, Tenn.

"Dr. Wililams' new book reveals an endless amount of painstaking research, a thorough knowledge of Greek, a critical analysis, in the light of modern scholarship and pulsates with warm spiritual teachings drawn from the Scriptures and his own Christian experience. This is an exceedingly valuable book and should be in the hands of every Christian worker."

—James L. McCreight, Ph.D., D.D., Vice President and Professor of Bible, Sterling College, Sterling Kansas.

THE REACH OF LOVE — $2.00

By L. E. BARTON

An inspiration alike to clergymen and laymen.

RICHARD G. BADGER—PUBLISHER—BOSTON

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

WHAT MANNER OF MAN — $2.00

By CHARLES R. COMBRINK

"A strong defense of the supernatural character of the Son of God. The author, stirred by the shallow infidelity of Bruce Barton has given us a series of addresses, showing conclusively that Jesus Christ is not only the Son of God, but God the Son.—Gospel Herald.

ROMAN EMPEROR WORSHIP — $2.00

By LOUIS MATTHEWS SWEET, S.T.D., Ph.D., Professor of Christian Theology and Apologetics, Bible Teachers' Training School

"The work is a scholarly one, makes many good points and is a rare contribution to the history of an obscure but important epoch."—Boston Transcript.

IMMORTALITY IN THE LIGHT OF MODERN THOUGHT — $2.00

By REV. F. C. CAPOZZI

"Our author has applied himself laboriously to the study of a theme always of interest. Wide reading in many departments has enabled him to assemble much pertinent material. His chief contributions to the literature of his subject in the light of modern thought are (a) the chapter on Evolution and Immortality and (b) the chapter on the Moral Character of the Soul, which contains a well-pointed protest against materialistic philosophy."
—American Church Monthly.

THE FOURTH DIMENSION AND THE BIBLE — $1.50

By WILLIAM A. GRANVILLE, Ph.D., President of Gettysburg College

The author points out the remarkable agreement which exists between numerous Bible passages and some of the concepts which follow quite naturally from the mathematical hypothesis of higher spaces.

INDUSTRIAL INFLUENCE ON THE PSYCHOLOGY OF JESUS — $2.00

By JESSE HICKMAN BOND, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Economics, University of North Dakota

A study of the origin, processes and results of psychological conflict in its ethical struggle.

RELIGION IN THE SCHOOL CURRICULUM — $1.00

By JOHN B. MEYER, Professor of Anthropology, University of Minnesota

This book is intended as an aid to teachers in connecting religion with the ordinary studies. Yet it is not to be used as a textbook, but to be read, digested, and used in such ways as one feels one can. Its indirect value as a stimulant to thought, may be quite as great as its direct worth.

PSYCHIC PHENOMENA

SPIRITUAL AMERICA AS SEEN FROM THE OTHER SIDE — $2.00

By HELEN WELLS

A few of the fascinating messages in this remarkable volume are: The Ananias of Today, by David Garrick; The Handwriting on the Wall, by a Follower of John Calvin; The Star of Bethlehem, by Roger Williams, and Comforting Illusions, by Ephraim Williams.

A PSYCHICAL EXPERIENCE — $1.50

By WILLIAM C. COMSTOCK

The author says: "It should not be beyond credence that the personalities who were on earth Voltaire, Sir Isaac Newton, Martin Luther, Hume, George Washington, John Milton, Montaigne, can talk to men on earth if others can. And this the writer asserts with as firm a belief as that he lives that those very personalities named have talked to him, and through him to men, for an avowed and definite purpose.

"Let me tell a plain, straightforward tale of how it came about."

THOUGHT FOR HELP, from Those Who Know Men's Need — $1.50

By WILLIAM C. COMSTOCK, Amanuensis

With a Foreword by Rev. Joseph A. Milburn, Pastor Plymouth Congregational Church, Chicago.

This one volume contains all Mr. Comstock's works: Thought for Help, Will Higher of God, Man's Life of Purpose and Man, the Life Free.

These works are not merely curiosities of psychical experience, to be glanced at and forgotten, but are actual transcriptions from spirits, in their own words, of the faith of those in the wider life that is freed from Earth, and of their wider view of man's life in its relation to its Maker and to the whole life of the immortal self.

BEST BOOKS ON SPIRIT PHENOMENA — $2.00

By HENRIETTA LOVI

The present outline has been compiled from the viewpoint of a library worker and a student of spirit survival, in an effort to indicate noteworthy and representative volumes in the English language dealing with that branch of psychical science concerned with proofs of continuity of life after physical death—with spirit communication—spirit manifestation—spirit phenomena.

HOW I KNOW THAT THE DEAD DO LIVE — $1.50

ANONYMOUS

Personal experiences with returns from the spirit world.

YE SHALL KNOW THE TRUTH — $2.00

By SEPHORA B. JENKINS

A discussion of the spirit world.

THE WORK AND OFFICE OF THE HOLY ANGELS — $ .75

ANONYMOUS

The Author says: "These brief chapters have been given to me by Archangel Uriel. They are not mine; they are his! Since men in old times have had Revelations, so they have come and can come again in these times. With all my heart I believe that in a wonderful manner they have been given to me."

PHILOSOPHY & ETHICS

AN INTRODUCTION TO PHILOSOPHY — *$1.75

By Holly Estil Cunningham, Professor of Philosophy, University of Oklahoma

"It does just what an introductory book in that department should do; that is, it begins with several very interesting chapters which are rather easy, and then proceeds to introduce the reader to the time-long problems of philosophy. The discussions are very clear."—Prof. W. L. Uhl, Northwestern University.

ETHICS IN OUTLINE — *$1.50

By M. W. Stryker, D.D., President Emeritus, Hamilton College

This much condensed book is meant to be the basis of college teaching in Ethics. It is crisp and clear-cut in definition. Especially does it consider the nature of Will and Conscience and the so-called Moral Sense theory.

THE SOURCE AND AIM OF HUMAN PROGRESS — $1.50

By Boris Sidis, M.D.

In this book Dr. Sidis shows the necessity of a humanistic, functional society, the sole aim of which is the happiness and cultivation of Man, in contradistinction to the organic, structural society which strives to build up the State at the expense of individuality and freedom.

TRANSCENDENTAL VALUES — $1.75

By R. P. Byers

The subject is a remote one but not inaccessible. If, historically, it has proven intractable to reason, the difficulty should be ascribed to the method used in dealing with it. For a new, a successful approach to Transcendental Values has been made by a reliance on Law rather than on Reason.

WALTER RAUSCHENBUSCH AND HIS CONTRIBUTION TO SOCIAL CHRISTIANITY — $2.00

By Anna M. Singer

A Brief Sketch of his Life--A Brief Characterization of his Major Books--A Historical Review of the Conceptions of the Kingdom of God to the Present Time—His Teachings Concerning Race Prejudice and Class Distinction—Personal Distribution of Wealth—A Review of the Present Situation in the Industrial World—Militarism, War and Conflict with Evil—The Church as a Social Factor of Salvation—Conclusion.

COMMUNITY ETHICS, An Outline Survey and Critique — $1.75

By Philip A. Robinson

Community Ethics presents a compact and lucid treatment of the larger outstanding features of community life. The community is considered in each of its several grades and aspects.

ETHICS OF ACHIEVEMENT — *$2.50

PATHOLOGY — $4.00

By W. T. Councilman, M.D., Shattuck Professor of Pathology, Harvard Medical School.

A manual for teachers and students.

SPASMOPHILIA — Illustrated $2.00

By Edward C. Wrightsman, M.D.

This work is the result of fifteen years' observation of spasmophilia. It is intended, primarily, for the general practitioner. It is he who is out in the broad field of activity, he who sees most things at their very source. Pediatricians recognize the frequency of spasmophelia, but many general practitioners, unless they have had special training, feel that it is a rather rare condition.

In 1911, the author spent a year in Vienna, where spasmophilia is endemic.

MEDICAL BOOKS

THE CURE OF PULMONARY TUBERCULOSIS BY REST AND EXERCISE

By HUGH M. KINGHORN, M.D. Illustrated $2.50

The development of rest and exercise therapy in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis is described from Brehmer to the present day. The great value of rest treatment is repeatedly emphasized and constant warning given against too much exercise.

PRACTICAL HELPS IN THE STUDY AND TREATMENT OF HEAD INJURIES

By ADOLPH M. HANSON, M.D. Illustrated $3.00

The writer has long felt that the presentation of head injuries, in an elementary and brief form, would be welcomed by the profession at large. The demand of a general practice do not permit of exhaustive study in special fields and the increased number of injuries to the head, due to the automobile and the great industrial activities renders it imperative that the general practitioner should be familiar with the essential facts relative to such injuries, in an elementary way, at least, in order to cope intelligently with this problem. Many lives that are now lost, may be saved by prompt and proper care.

EPIDEMIC ENCEPHALITIS Illustrated $3.00

By LEO M. CRAFTS, M.D.

The first complete volume on this disease since its first appearance some ten years ago.

A MANUAL OF PRACTICAL LABORATORY DIAGNOSIS Illustrated $1.75

By LEWIS WEBB HILL, M.D.

Although there are books aplenty on the subject of labratory diagnosis, the author deserves the thanks of the practitioners for having prepared a brief and concise manual that contains actually all those methods of examination, and only those, that are practical and that can be carried out by physicians with such apparatus as they are likely to possess or can acquire to advantage. It includes all that information that every one engaged in active practice wants.

MEDI-CULT Illustrated $1.50

By B. F. LORANCE, M.D.

"The author of this little book explains briefly the difference between the physician and the cultist and goes on with several apt illustrations to force home to the average man the validity of the established theories of disease."

—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal

MEDICAL QUOTATIONS Illustrated $2.50

By JOHN H. LINDSEY, M.D.

A collection of medical quotations from English prose that will please doctors and their patients.

MANUAL OF VITAL FUNCTION TESTING METHODS AND THEIR INTERPRETATION. Second Revised and Enlarged Edition. $2.00

By WILFRED M. BARTON, M.D.

The problem of investigating the various vital functions of the organism, especially those of the heart, liver, pancreas, kidneys and ductless glands, is giving practical treatment in this useful volume.

THERAPEUTIC INDEX AND PRESCRIPTION WRITING PRACTICE $2.00

By WILFRED M. BARTON, M.D.

The major portion of this invaluable book is taken up by the first part, which is a Therapeutic Index arranged alphabetically according to diseases. Finally an alphabetical list of the drugs themselves has been appended as a second part in which under each drug is given a list of the diseases or symptoms under which it is to be found in the Therapeutic Index.

DOC: FACTS, FABLES AND FOIBLES $2.00

By JOHN A. DILLON M.D.

A great deal of the contents of this book has appeared from time to time in the Kansas Medical Journal, under the nom de plume of Renig Ade. Other publications have seen fit to copy these stories from the above journal giving due credit. A number of friends, both in and out of the profession, have requested that they be issued in book form. I shall be satisfied if this publication meets the hospitable reception that has been accorded the individual stories. If this little volume brings a smile to the tired doctor or aids him to while away a dull hour, then it will have fulfilled its mission.

—The Author.

RANDOM TALKS BY AN M.D. $2.00

By M. W. PEARSON, M.D.

The book outlines and illustrates a practical up-to-date system of popular medical education. The essays 22 philosophical and religious subjects which it contains are no less interesting and timely. They are very broad in their scope, and written in the same lucid and forceful style which characterizes the book as a whole.

IMPORTANT FICTION

THE QUESTION OF DOLLY — $2.00

By Sara Lippincott

Dolly is a hot-headed little Southern beauty transplanted in the North, where she finds plenty of questions of her own to answer, to say nothing of making plenty of questions for others.

HICKS JAROU — $2.00

By Mrs. James C. Fifield

A remarkable story of a body manufactured by a scientist and the various spirits that chose to inhabit it.

GAELIC FOLK TALES — $2.00

By Mary Grant O'Sheridan

These charming stories all have a historical foundation.
"It should be on the list of supplementary reading."—The Chicago Daily News.

SPIKE — Illustrated $2.00

By Badger Clark, Author of "Sun and Saddle Leather"

"About the easiest book of this year's crop, to read, is Spike.
"Spike is an ordinary cowboy, impecunious, chivalrous, philosophic and original. Badger Clark takes rank as a genuine cowboy writer and a humorist; he doesn't do any four-flushing, for, as Spike would say, he knows the difference between a real and a hair-brand' "—Montana American.

WHO WAS IT? STORIES — Illustrated $1.50

By Julia H. Johnston

The chief characters in Miss Johnston's stories are unnamed, this detail being left for the children to supply. And with all eagerness they guess about Noah, Jonah, Joshua and others, attaching to themselves, before they know it, a precious fund of religious knowledge which will accompany them through life.

WHIRLING AROUND THE WORLD — Illustrated $2.50

By Lillian Sutton Pelee

"A book of travel which is unique. It is made up of twelve short stories, each of which is set in the countries visited during a trip around the world. No guide book or descriptive travel record could present such a vivid understanding of the hot-blooded Hawaiian half-breeds, for instance, as the story of Antone's love for the beautiful Chinese-Hawaiian girl, Orcella.

"The customs and superstitions which are still dominating influences among the natives—whatever their mixtures of blood or education may be, are presented vividly and effectively."—
—Walnut Park News

BEAK HOLLINS, A Story of a College Athlete — Illustrated $1.75

By John H. Clausen

For nearly a full year Beak Hollins of the Columbia track team and his classmate Ben Ferrisen had a real problem on their hands.

Of course, the problem contained a girl,—but there also was an unusual foot-race which complicated things considerably.

THE DISPUTED TITLE — $2.00

By Marietta Douglas

What more do you need for good reading than a disputed title and a modern bandit?

TIM AND JIM, A Modern Fad in Practical Operation — $2.00

By G. L. Young

Should it be thought that, Jim at times uses rather strong language, language often more forcible than elegant and more pointed than polite, it must be remembered that he was an earnest soul, talking under the impulse of strong convictions, under a sense of right and an urge of duty—and that he was talking to his cousin.

THE ORGAN LOFT — $2.00

By John Henry Van Dyke

"As a highly dramatic novel, this book will satisfy the reader looking for thrills, unless he is a sincere prohibitionist. But besides being a capital story, The Organ Loft has for its mission the exposure of the evils of America's greatest experiment in sumptuary laws." —St. Louis Post-Dispatch

THE FLASH — $2.00

By John Henry Van Dyke

Here are a thousand situations that set the nerves vibrating.

TRUE NATURE STORIES, FOR BOY SCOUTS AND OTHER BOYS — Illus. $2.00

By G. E. VERRILL

Thrilling stories of beasts and birds and snakes.
There is no "nature faking," for all the adventures really happened.

OUTDOOR BOOKS

THE FOUR-H TRAIL

Illustrated *$3.00

By William K. Kendrick, Assistant Director, in charge of Four-H Clubs, U. S. Department of Agriculture and College of Agriculture, West Virginia University, co-operating.

The Four-H-Trail is of the utmost value to all those who would help boys and girls. The book is full of practical suggestions and programs that will develop Head, Hand, Heart and Health, or the mental, social, religious and physical natures. Through all the club work as laid out in the book, the purpose is to train boys and girls to find work for which they are suited and to train them to get the most out of life in work or play.

MAN'S SPIRITUAL CONTACT WITH THE LANDSCAPE

Illustrated $2.50

By Stephen F. Hamblin

There is a chapter for each month of the year, dealing with the common aspects of Nature, showing how we may study, understand and love them.

THE NATURAL STYLE IN LANDSCAPE GARDENING

By Frank A. Waugh, Consulting Architect U. S. Forest Service

The Scientific American says: "The author offers us a clear-cut, workable outline of the technique of design; he would conserve and develop the native landscape and make it accessible and intelligible to all."

OUTDOOR THEATRES

Illustrated $3.00

By Frank A. Waugh, Author of "Natural Style in Landscape Gardening"

The Scientific American says: "The plates, sketches and plans show existing outdoor theatres, and Professor Waugh's happy exposition of the problems of design and use goes to the heart of the matter."

BIRD COMPANIONS

Illustrated $3.00

By Angelia Kumlien Main

The author says: In writing this book, I have tried not "to preach," but to let the birds speak for themselves, and so teach my readers to love them for their own sakes, not for their utility alone, but for their bright songs, their beauty of form and plumage, their grace, their powers of flight, their helplessness, their skill in nest building and for true loving care and protection of their young.

BEAUTY SPOTS OF NORTH DAKOTA

By Bertha R. Palmer, Supt. Public Instruction, North Dakota

This charming volume proves that North Dakota contains scenery as majestic, as colorful, as fantastic and grotesque, as restful and peaceful, as glorious and inspiring as there is in the world.

BENEATH THE SOUTHERN CROSS

Illustrated $3.00

By VanCampen Heilner

The book descibes in detail the magnificent cruise of the 47-foot motor boat Nepenthe II under the leadership of Van Campen Heilner, the famous writer and angler. Mr. Heilner has written the story of his adventures on a cruise which started from Atlantic City early in March and terminated at Trinidad in the West Indies some months later. The experiences which befell him and his crew were many and varied. You will be delighted with the descriptions of strange foreign countries. His boat was the smallest motor boat ever to undertake this voyage, and also his party explored islands which had never previously been visited by a motor boat.

IMPORTANT VERSE

SUN AND SADDLE LEATHER (Tenth Edition) — Illustrated $2.50

By Badger Clark

Generous has been the praise given Sun and Saddle Leather, but perhaps no criticism has summed up the work so satisfactorily as the comment of the old cow man, who said: "You can break me if there's a dead poem in the book. I read the hull of it. Who is this kid Clark, anyway? I don't know how he knowed, but he knows."

Poetry says: "Poems certain to please not only the old 'cow men,' but the most arrant tenderfoot who has never worn chaps or spurs."

Dr. W. T. Hornaday says: "Some of the Sun and Saddle Leather poems have taken hold of me with a grip that only imbecility can shake loose. I have seen many poems and verses come out of the wild portions of the West; but these are the best. They are real poetry."

RHYMES OF A RANCHER — Illustrated $1.50

By E. A. L. Griffin

Poems real as the Ranch Life they reflect: The Abandoned Stock Ranch—After the Sale—Buffalo Gap Fair—Camping in the Hills—Cattle Rustler's Soliloquy—Caught in a Blizzard—Cheyenne River—Christmas Day Philosophy—County Poor Farm—The Difference—"Dutchy" on Rural Telephones—Gasolitis—Gastronomic Memories—Haytime on the Ranch—I'd Like—Jury Duty.

THE DESERT: GOD'S CRUCIBLE — Illustrated $5.00

By Bruce W. McDaniel

"Pray tell me, friend, does the desert speak
When the red sun smoulders o'er Pinto Peak?
And what may one see in that blazing land
Of painted hills and panting sand?"

To those who are unfamiliar with our American desert, the marvelous illustrations of this most attractive volume will be a decided revelation. Those who know and love the desert will see that its many beauties have been done full justice.

SPLASHIN' SUNLIGHT AND SHADOWS — $2.00

By Earl W. Scott

Colorful poems of the old Southwest, full of splashing sunlight and shadows.

SONGS OF THE BUNCH GRASS ACRES — Illustrated $2.00

By Clell G. Gannon

"Lone Hills of the West you have heard my song
From the bunchgrass plains to the pine,
In the twilight hush or the painted dawn,
In the slanting rain—or the shine.

"You have heard my song on your topmost crest,
By the shore of your laughing rills,
You shall hear it, aye, till the singer rests
In the arms of your heart, dear hills."

SOME VERMONTERS — $2.00

By Walter R. Hard

"The book is decidedly worth while. It is a good book to read and a good book to re-read—a good book to keep handy on the center table for browsing; a good book to show to visitors. There is a wealth of human nature in it and more than a bit of human wisdom and philosophy, gay, sorrowful or sardonic. And it ends up on a note that may bring a bit of cheer to such of us as sometimes feel that we have hauled out our lives to little avail in the mud of the nigh front wheel:

"'Those who had the brains
To know brains when they saw them.
Those who were big enough
Not to amount to much.'"

—The Manchester Journal

NEW PLAYS

TEA AND LITTLE RICE CAKES AND OTHER PLAYS — $2.00

By Margaret Scott Oliver, Author of "The Turtle Dove"

Tea and Little Rice Cakes, a Chinese Fable—The King's Son, a Japanese "Let's Pretend" Story, in One Act—He, on Whom a Sandal Fell, a One Act Play Concerning the First Cinderella—The Lost Child, an American Indian Play—Hallie in High, a Comedy—Shadow and Substance, a Play in One Act.

THE GREAT ELIZABETH — $2.00

By Henry Hanby Hay

"'Tis God's Assize and England is the field,
Grave statesmen keep the lists, and keen to judge
Sit Popes, strong Captains, and annointed Kings, Against the shaking barriers, fiercely pressed
Are priests and Puritans, is hate for hate.
When Jesuits rally crying Mary Stuart,
The free church counters with Elizabeth,
O Queen gainst Queen—One absolute in grace,
And power to thrall, and yet she is betrayed,
And takes delight in her own fantasy,
The conquering Queen, her passion is her land,
All other virtues are the vassals of her will."

SONG O' THE SEA; A "Harvard 47" Play — $2.00

By Hinson Stiles

Huburt Osborne, assistant professor of drama at Yale, and author of "Song of Solomon" and "Shore Leave" has this to say of Mr. Stiles' play:

"Song of the Sea" is a study of hate, a hate which warps the mind and wrecks the lives of those who come in contact with it. Mr. Stiles knows his New England, the New England of O'Neil, with its hardness and fanatical beliefs. It is an interesting play and well worth reading."

THE FAIRIES — $1.50

By Mayce F. Seymour

This play is ideally adapted to the use of club women. The inanimate objects about the house all come to life and discuss how they are driving their owner to death, but later the fairies bring the play to a happy ending.

PLAYS WITH A PROLOGUE — $2.00

By Mary Larrimer

These six one-act plays have proved themselves successful in production. The first one, Sacrifice, is a miracle play with its setting in the Maine woods.

THE CLASS WAR IN HEAVEN — $1.75

By Luke

Would you be more assured that your life continues after death in a world that is now invisible? Would you like to conceive of that world as real; of life there as human, the logical continuation of life as we know it now? Then read this drama of human destiny in a future world.

SIX ONE ACT PLAYS — $2.00

By Edgar Morette

The plays are widely diversified. The first, a drama, The Short Cut, is set in a shabby boarding house in New York and the leading characters are two people at the end of their rope, a woman of the streets and a bank clerk who had used the bank funds. In a Swath is in the living room in a home in a Belgian village, when the German soldiers take possession. The Waif is an episode of the Reign of Terror. The others are comedies.

ROBERT E. LEE, A Play — $1.75

By Charles S. Farris

This play in five acts is a masterly presentation of General Lee.

INTERROGATION — $2.00

By Mary Brewster

"A play of New England, in four acts with a prologue. The first act opens on a Hollowe'en scene in a country home in which is brought out the fact that two sisters desire to marry the same young man.

"There is fine opportunity for character portrayal and many interesting and appealing situations."

JUDITH AND JANE

By ELEANORE MYERS JEWETT

This is the story of two very different girls who became friends. They began by being anything but friendly, and Jane who was "new," found life in school rather unpleasant. Strange that Judy who apparently had so much to make her happy, should be envious of Jane who had so little! Judy, however, was not so happy as might have been expected. As for Jane, troubles came her way thick and fast. But Jane found that trouble, met by a brave heart, wins friends, and friends mean more than anything else.

Bound in extra cloth with colored inlay. Four illustrations printed in two colors. Wrapper in three colors.

Size 5⅜ x 7⅝ inches. .....Net, $1.50

FEODORA

By ELEANORE MYERS JEWETT

Judith and Jane again figure as leading characters in this story, though the chief center of intense interest clusters about the mysterious yet lovable Feodora.

Feodora has a secret, in fact many secrets, around which revolve many of the exciting happenings narrated in this story.

The three girls are spending the summer at a girls' camp in northern Vermont. The competitive games with a neighboring camp and the adventures attending life in the open will hold your interest to the end.

Bound in extra cloth with cover stamped in gold and colored inlay.

Four illustrations printed in two colors, wrapper in four colors.

Size 5⅜ x 7⅝ inches. .....Net, $1.50

VIRGINIA LEE

By CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

Fourteen young pupils of the Junior High School form a Travel Club. Not the least factor in the success of the Club is the cleverness of its secretary, Virginia Lee. She it is whose plans and suggestions enable the various "committees" to function properly and lead the Club to triumphant climaxes.

As it is quite necessary that the Club have funds, the members decide to hold a rummage sale. It is interesting to read how the proceeds of this sale are used.

Virginia Lee's sweet disposition, sense of fair play and gift of real leadership are such as may be chosen as models by any girl.

Bound in extra cloth with colored inlay on cover. Four illustrations. Wrapper in four colors.

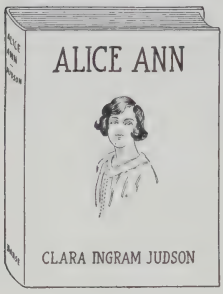
*ALICE ANN

By
CLARA INGRAM JUDSON



The many readers who have found delight in Mrs. Judson's books about little Mary Jane will find "Alice Ann" equally entertaining, wholesome, and amusing. You who are as yet unacquainted with this author's lively characters have a treat in store for you.

Of school sports, picnics, and ambitious plans, "Alice Ann" has not a dull moment, and the charming girl and her chums will soon become fast friends of yours.

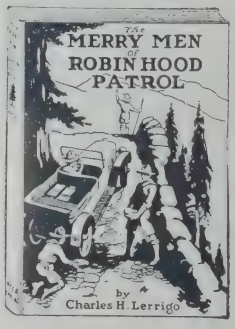
THE MERRY MEN OF ROBIN HOOD PATROL

By CHARLES H. LERRIGO



When Robin Hood Patrol started "out west" in search of the missing "Lord Pop" it numbered only four scouts, a Patrol Leader, and Peppermint. Mint was the dog. He was only vest-pocket size, but Wow! what a noise he could raise as a watchdog! Bill Frisk, who came from "out where the west begins," practically gave the Patrol the Royal 8, which turned out to be the best touring car ever made. The scouts go thru fire and water, not to mention a volcano, before they finally locate the Gold Mine of Robin Hood Patrol. And if they had not been guided by Da Na Yazzi, the Navajo, and if Bill Frisk had not been an ex-sheriff of Nye County who knew when to take up a gun and when to leave it alone, perhaps the Duke gang would have——you had better read the story.

Bound in extra cloth with title stamped in gold. Wrapper printed in three colors, Illustrated. Size 5⅜ x 7⅝ inches. .....Net, $1.50

THE TRAVELING BEARS

By SEYMOUR EATON

Teddy B and Teddy G are as nearly human as it is possible for bears to be. They love children and make playmates of them wherever they go. They never have an idle moment, and their adventures are amusing as well as instructive.

Snappy, exciting tales, with plenty of action in every chapter and a laugh on every page. A book that will be read as long as there are children to read it.

Bound in cloth with colored inlay. Pen and ink drawings on each page and four illustrations printed in four colors. Wrapper in four colors.

WELCOME BARBARA

By KATHLEEN COONEY

"Welcome Barbara" has the faculty of making people happy and bringing sunshine into their lives. She is full of cute expressions and the intrigue in which she involves the older folks and helps them to attain happiness is told in an admirable way in this story.

It is a book that can be read by Mothers and Fathers to the younger children and we know that they in turn will derive as much enjoyment out of it as the younger folks.

Bound in extra cloth with cover stamped in gold, and wrapper printed on art paper. Illustrated.

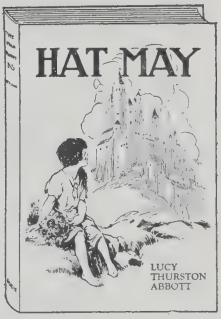
HAT MAY

An Enchanted Princess

By LUCY THURSTON ABBOTT

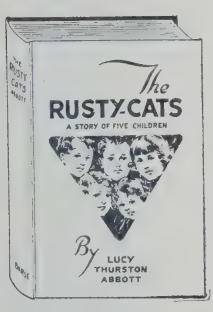


This charming story is concerned with the fortunes of a little girl whom a whim of Fate has placed in charge of a woman and her lame husband living on the New England coast—the Winkiepaw pair—and the woman, whom Hat May always looks upon as a cruel ogress of her imaginary fairy world, treats her very badly indeed.

The story covering Hat May's doings is everything that a book for girls between the ages of eight and fourteen should be. The characters are skillfully drawn and true to nature; also, while there is considerable pathos connected with the ill-treatment of Hat May; so too there is discovered in the telling an abundance of childish and delightful humor.

Bound in extra cloth, and wrapper printed in three colors. Illustrated.

Size 5⅜ x 7⅝ inches. . . . . .Net, $1.00



*THE RUSTY CATS

A story of Hat May and her friends.

By LUCY THURSTON ABBOTT

Summer has come again to Carey Hill bringing with it the "rusticators," or, as the Carey children are called, the "rusty-cats." With them comes happiness to Hat May the little enchanted princess, and hope of recovery to her little crippled friend, Hank. The mystic rites of The Seven Bloody Bones baffle prying Mrs. Winkiepaw who is forced to grant more freedom to her slave, Hat May. The success of Ariel's wonderful play, written especially for the Seven, buys a wheel-chair for Hank, and then when the summer is over, and life with the ogress becomes too hard to bear, Phin cleverly rescues Hat May and defeats the ill-tempered ogress. Can anyone guess the beautiful word which disenchants Hat May and takes her from her dreary and sordid existence to one of beauty and happiness?

*PEGGY AND JOAN

By
MRS. H. C. CRADOCK
Illustrated by
HONOR C. APPLETON

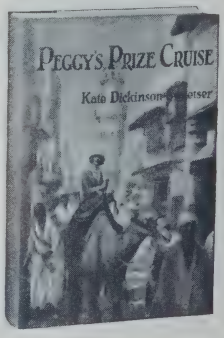
Little girls from five to ten years old will love this charming story about Peggy and Joan and Uncle Jack, the nice man who always had "secrets" tucked away in his mysterious pockets. He makes a magnificent doll-house for the two girls. With its planning, building, and pretty occupants this tale is concerned.

The book is beautifully illustrated in colors, and makes a lovely present for the youngsters.

Size 6¾ x 9¼ inches. Cloth. Boxed, $1.50

PEGGY'S PRIZE CRUISE

By KATE DICKINSON SWEETSER



The Orrville News offered as a prize a Mediterranean trip to the student, in the senior class of the Orrville High School, who would write a synopsis of a play with a historical theme best suited for a five reel screen play. Paul Day wins the prize and his play has a try-out with an all star amateur cast and Peggy Emmons is chosen to play the lead.

Great preparations are made for the cruise and at last the day of sailing arrives. Then ensue some exciting experiences for Peggy and Paul, for Peggy's family had also decided to take the trip, to Peggy's great joy. The tourists visit Madeira, Algiers, Constantinople, Cairo, Monte Carlo, etc. A good lively plot runs throughout the book, the travel information being always linked up with the action of the story.

Bound in extra cloth with colored inlay on cover and six illustrations. Wrapper in three colors.

*THE CAT, THE DOG, AND THE DORMOUSE

By ALICE HALL
Illustrated by
WARWICK REYNOLDS

The creatures whose adventures are picturesquely described in this book never cease to play their proper parts, and young readers will follow their exploits with a personal interest. Besides the first story, there are others about a cat of surpassing rarity, a limitless road leading to untold adventure, a remarkable cobbler's thread, and, among them, the fascinating tale of "Unshoe-the-Horse." All these are delightfully whimsical and entertaining. Beautiful illustrations. Wrapper in four colors.

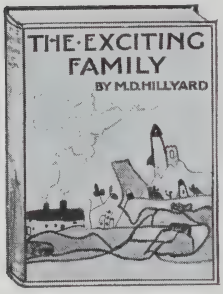
*THE EXCITING FAMILY



By
M. D. HILLYARD
(Mrs. E. M. Kelly)
Illustrated in Color by
AGNES and DORATHEA KOVALEVSKY

This is the story of an unusual family, the Brooms, who take a house in the forlorn village of Dullmudcombe and proceed to wake up the sleepy town. As they had extraordinary gifts—such as that which enables them to change a policeman into a remarkable shape—this is easily done. The illustrations of the book are by two Russian girls and are done with the happy abandon of true children. Wrapper in four colors.

Size 6¼ x 8 inches. Cloth, $2.00

FAIRY TALES FROM GRIMM

Edited and with a Critical Introduction

By

HAMILTON W. MABIE

The well-known critic Hamilton W. Mabie here selects and edits the twelve most characteristic tales from the famous classics of the Brothers Grimm. His introduction is a new and valuable feature, telling how the stories originated, how they grew and spread all over the world, and why they will be popular as long as there are children to read them. Illustrated by Ethel Franklin Betts.

Cloth. Size 8¾ x 11¼ inches

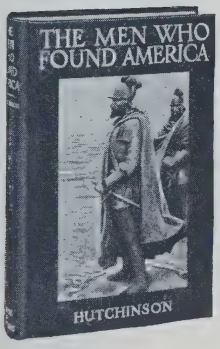
Text printed in two colors. $1.50

THE MEN WHO FOUND AMERICA

Library Edition

By

FREDERICK WINTHROP HUTCHINSON



In response to a popular demand from schools, teachers, and librarians, we are glad to announce a new edition of "The Men Who Found America."

Twelve stories for young readers, told with sympathy and charm, about the brave and daring men who discovered our continent. The author has succeeded admirably in making the true tales of the twelve adventurers as strange and fascinating as the fairy stories of romance. Colored frontispiece and wrapper; illustrated by Herbert Moore. We have every confidence in the quality, beauty, and popularity of this volume.

Size 5½ x 8⅛ inches. Cloth. $1.50

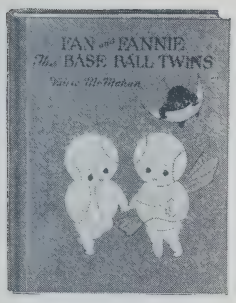
*FAN AND FANNIE THE BASEBALL TWINS

By
VALRIE McMAHAN

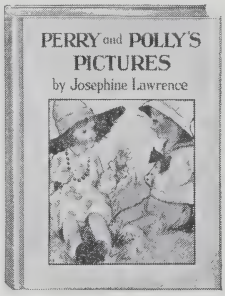


A new world of little people has been created through the medium of our national sport. Fan and Fannie, the Baseball Twins, here make their bow, accompanied by their faithful and fun-loving companion, little Ginger. Mother Glove and the Good Fairy lead these lovable children through the world, introducing them to the flowers and the birds and bees, the trees and all that lives. Dressed only in stitches and round as a ball, they romp through the fields and climb into trees, prying out the secrets of nature and learning to be kind and helpful to everyone and everything they meet. The author's wide knowledge of flower and animal life makes these books instructive as well as fascinating to young people of all ages. Sixteen illustrations, end papers and cover in four colors.

Size 6¼ x 8¼ inches. Boards. Boxed, $1.00

*PERRY AND POLLY'S PICTURES

By
JOSEPHINE LAWRENCE

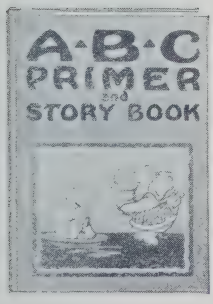


Haven't you always wanted to learn what was on the other side of a hill? Perry and Polly see the hill and climb it and down on the other side they find "The Paint Box." Not the kind of a paint box you use when you make pictures—dear no, not at all. This is a fascinating house. An artist lives in it with his two little daughters. Perry and Polly soon discover that children are a great help to Mr. Brenton who paints pictures. When they go to the seashore for a trip and find a darling baby with no one to love her, Perry and Polly find a way to make the pictures provide happiness for this lonely little one. Nicely illustrated with thirteen pictures in three colors. Wrapper in three colors.

Size 6¼ x 8¼ inches. Cloth. Boxed, $1.00

*A-B-C PRIMER AND STORY BOOK

By
KAY SWAN



A delightful "companion" for the little folks of pre-school age. It is designed from the standpoint of the young child—of his needs and his limitations. It teaches without being pedantic; leading the child by easy stages from the alphabet, through word building and simple sentence structure up to reading ability. The story is charmingly told in words that children use and printed from large readable type. The vivid coloring of the illustrations makes it a delightfully gay primary reader that is bound to leave a deep and abiding impression.

LITTLE FRIENDS IN FEATHERS

By

INEZ N. McFEE

A delightful book in text and picture telling just the things we want to know about our bird neighbors. Children will enjoy it as it is in story-telling, non-technical style; yet it is a book for adults as well. Beautiful color plates from the National Association of Audubon Societies, and many half-tone pictures. Jacket in full color.

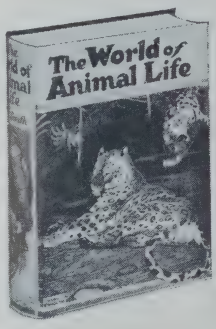
Size 6⅜ x 9¼ inches. Cloth

Profusely illustrated. $2.50

THE WORLD OF ANIMAL LIFE

By

FRED SMITH



All lovers of nature will appreciate this book. The author does not confine himself to any one particular branch of animal life and his stories describe the mammals, birds, reptiles, fish, insects, etc. This book is particularly adaptable for school and library purposes, inasmuch as it gives the student just the information he requires to write an essay. It is the most complete book of its kind ever published. Each book contains eight full-page colored illustrations and practically every page has a black and white drawing thereon. Bound in extra cloth with title stamped in gold and ink. Wrapper in colors. 424 pages.

Size 5¾ x 7⅞ inches. Cloth. $3.00

PETER PAN

Retold in Story Form From

J. M. BARRIE'S PLAY

Edited by

G. D. DRENNAN

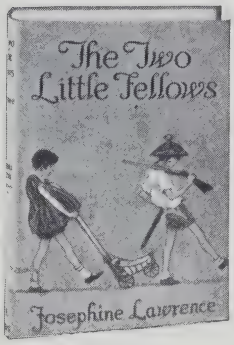
THE TWO LITTLE FELLOWS SERIES

By
JOSEPHINE LAWRENCE
(For Boys and Girls from 5 to 9)



The neighbors say "the two little Fellows" when they speak of Martin and Jean. That is because this small brother and sister are always together. You just have to think of them as a pair.

The Fellows family live in Garnet, a busy city, but the two little Fellows have a yard all their own in which to play, and a wonderful dog, who is very wise indeed, for a playmate. Pleasantly exciting things happen to Martin and Jean. Sometimes little troubles ruffle them, but in the main, this growing up day by day is very interesting and busy work. The two little Fellows think so and as you read about them in these books, you'll find you have made two new friends.

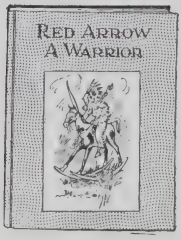
*THE TOYLAND SERIES

By
JOSEPHINE LAWRENCE
(For Boys and Girls from 4 to 8)



This series is recommended to all boys and girls who like secrets. They may learn, for instance, what dolls do when left to themselves. And what happens to a paper doll whose clothes go out of style. There are stories, too, about Mr. White who is a close friend to Santa Claus and took care of the gold pieces for him. Mr. White is so famous that he has someone named after him; "Mr. White Jr." who teaches a lonely lady how to find her lost happiness. As for Indians—well Indians can't live without at least one wild adventure a day and certainly these three Indians have almost as many exciting experiences as there are feathers in their head-dresses.

OPERA MINIATURE SERIES

By
CHARLOTTE LUND

Here is a series of handy little books, which will find an immediate welcome with all opera goers and music lovers generally. Each book is devoted to one opera and gives in tabloid form just the facts that one needs to know in regard to the work in question—who wrote the music and the book, when first produced, cast of characters, and other incidental facts relating to the presentation of the work. Ten minutes devoted to reading one of these books before going to an opera will enable the reader to follow the opera intelligently, no matter in what foreign tongue it may be rendered.

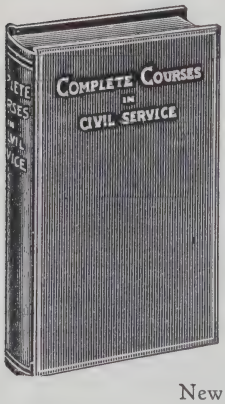
COMPLETE COURSES IN CIVIL SERVICE



By

J. W. CALLEY

In order to help those desiring to prepare for Civil Service Examinations, this invaluable book has been compiled by a U. S. Customs Officer who has made a special study of the different branches of Civil Service, and who is familiar with the needs and requirements of each. Matter relative to each subject is divided into lessons, almost identical in scope and matter with examinations given by the commission, several being exact copies.

*WHY NOT GROW YOUNG?

By
ROBERT W. SERVICE

Those of us who have followed Service through his red-blooded verses of "The Spell of The Yukon" and later visited the Paris underworld in "The Master of the Microbe" will hail with delight his latest effort.

Having arrived at the age of fifty-five years, Robert W. Service found himself to be in poor health. On consulting a number of prominent European physicians, he received various suggestions to regain his health.

In this book Mr. Service tells how this was done and in publishing it feels that others may profit by his experience.

In conjunction with Mr. Service's style of writing and the practical knowledge he imparts, we can confidently feel that another literary gem has been added to our library.

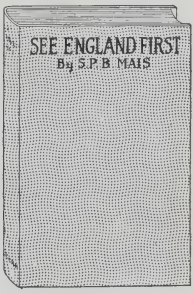
*SEE ENGLAND FIRST



By
S. P. B. MAIS

Those who are planning to visit England and its beautiful, sunny countrysides will find Mr. Mais's book as instructive as it is entertaining. All the inherent loveliness and charm of quaint British inns, long, winding roads, and picturesquely thatched cottages will return to the seasoned traveler who has found rest and peace in the various shires of England.

But Mr. Mais does not allow his love for pastoral England to run away with him. With consummate skill and keen discrimination, he describes the most interesting and important features of the ancient, rambling towns and cities. He peeps into out-of-the-way places and makes fascinating comment on the rare treasures in architecture and art which are part of Briton's history. His book is one which everyone should possess. Illustrated.

*BELLE OF BOHEMIA

The Memoirs of
BELLE LIVINGSTONE

This is the story of a woman who always did what she wanted without counting the cost—who laughed her way through triumphs and toastings and who still laughed when the turn of Fate's wheel left her lonely, destitute and childless.

Belle Livingstone—a merry girl asking the first man she met to marry her so that she could leave her home to go on the stage—a chorus girl unexpectedly inheriting a fortune—an American heiress in England living a fashionable, gay life—then suddenly bereft of her fortune, setting out to go round the world on her wits. Her story reads like a thrilling narrative from the Arabian Nights. Illustrated.

*TROPIC SHADOWS

Memories of the South Seas, Together With Reminiscences of the Author's Sea Meetings with Joseph Conrad
By A. SAFRONI-MIDDLETON
(Author of "A Vagabond's Odyssey," "Sailor and Beachcomber," "Sestrina," etc.

Glamorous, fascinating, and written wholly in the spirit of the South Seas, these reminiscences of an old traveler carry one far out to the tiny islands of palms, flaming birds, and gentle, peace-loving natives. As one reads along, the subtle influence of the tropics casts its spell, and before one's eyes the lazy scenes of the south seas rise in colorful profusion. Among vivid descriptions there are related countless true stories of thrilling adventure on the gleaming gems of the Pacific.

The Author, a hardy traveler and friend of Conrad's, says: "I still sit down here—on the broad shoulders of the Antipodes—patiently awaiting the 'Call of the Sea' and the steady tramp of solemn, silent men come to sail away—with me, their Captain—that we may go down together with the great tide, and sail beyond the dim horizon into the silent seas of romance, bound for Eldorado, the whereabouts of which I reveal to all who reach the end of this book." Illustrated.

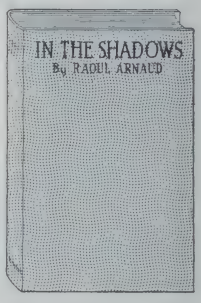
*IN THE SHADOWS



Three Heroines of the Revolution
By RAOUL ARNAUD

There are probably few people who are not acquainted with the name of the Marquis de La Fayette, the young French soldier who rendered such signal service to the Americans at the time of the War of Independence. There are still fewer who realize how he was cast out by the very people to whom he had brought liberty, the ill-treatment meted out to him, and the heroic efforts made by his devoted wife to help him and her own relatives at the same time, although she herself was thrown into prison.

The amazing fortitude and endurance of the French Aristocrats, and the great-heartedness of their womenfolk, are clearly illustrated in this book, whose author has relied on authentic documents for his facts. Illustrated.

*THE LIVING LINKS

By ETIENNE DUPONT

This is a true story of the stirring days of the French Revolution, told by an author who has relied on authentic facts to give life to his work. The escapades of the Royalists preferring to remain in their own country, despite their changed circumstances, and the bravery and resource exhibited by the King's Messengers, the plucky souls who carried the despatches from the conspirators to their countrymen in the Channel Islands and England, in a manner only equalled by the Jacobite agents of another and similar period, go to make up a narrative packed with romance and interest. INTERIOR DECORATING FOR EVERYBODY

LAURA THORNBOROUGH

"What shall we use or how many pieces shall we have?" is the question that invariably faces a young married couple when they start furnishing a home. This question is admirably answered by Jane Norton, who has experienced all these problems from the time she left her Southern home to come to New York where she first furnished one room which had to do as a combination of kitchenette, dining room, living room and bedroom. Later when she marries she has the experience in furnishing a small apartment, then a larger one and finally her own home.

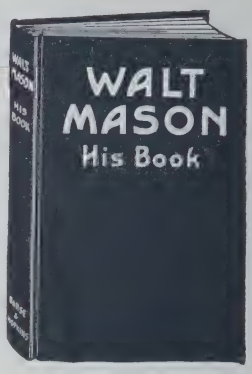
WALT MASON—HIS BOOK

With an Introduction
By
IRVIN S. COBB



Walt Mason's prose poetry is perhaps the most widely read of contemporary writers. William Allen White says: "How many millions of people are cheered year by year as they turn every day to those quaint verses! Here is a man doing a man's work in the world, making life brighter and more cheerful and more sensible in this vale of tears. Millions in money could do no more—if as much—as this man does at his day's work."

VEST POCKET ESSAYS

By
GEORGE FITCH

"Vest Pocket Essays" are short talks—about four hundred words each—on miscellaneous subjects, "From Hope to Hash," "From Cabbages to Kings." Fitch's humor is good-natured, yet there is a wealth of meaning behind this fun. It is above all things a philosophic humor, though he is never cynically smart, and when he takes certain institutions to task he does it in a kindly manner.

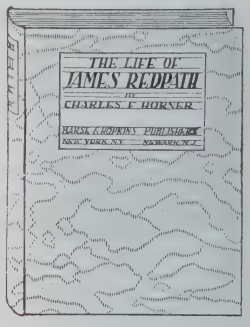
THE LIFE OF JAMES REDPATH

By
CHARLES F. HORNER



James Redpath, founder of the first Lyceum Bureau, was a great American and had a thrilling career. His name is permanently written into the history of the Civil War period and into the progress of this nation thru three decades. Mr. Horner has made considerable investigation apart from the records of Redpath, in the books of reference commonly found in libraries and has brought to light much important and interesting material about this romantic and radical American patriot.

It is both an education and an inspiration to know what James Redpath accomplished during his life-time.

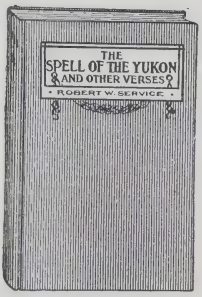
BOOKS BY ROBERT W. SERVICE

The amazing and increasing popularity of Robert W. Service's books can only be accounted for in the excellence of the poems themselves. They strike a universal chord in the heart of humanity. If you have not already met Service, do not lose another day. If you have, it's "up to you" to present him to some friend.

THE SPELL OF THE YUKON

And Other Verses. "Songs of a Sourdough."



Cloth

Service's first great book was originally called "Songs of a Sourdough," and is thus known to thousands of readers in Canada and England. In the United States it is even better known by the title "The Spell of the Yukon." It has already become a classic. Here are poems of irresistible truth and power which hold the reader enthralled.

The scene is the Yukon, and the characters are real men—men of flesh and blood who talk in direct and virile language, who have primal instincts and passions, who toil, sin, dream, accomplish and despair. Strong and outspoken are these poems—a man's message to men—yet fit for the reading of all, because they are true. This popular book is now published in two sizes and varied styles to suit every taste.

BALLADS OF A CHEECHAKO

By
ROBERT W. SERVICE

Do you know what a Cheechako is? If not, read this book and find out! Mr. Service makes the men of whom he writes in this companion book to "The Spell of the Yukon" live in a manner so true, so realistic, that the reader lives with them the free, broad life of fellowship of the campfire, of strife, of toil, of hardship. The keen wind of the Northland sweeps across its pages, and one rises refreshed, as from a tramp through the snows.

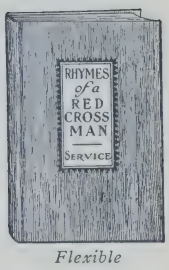
RHYMES OF A RED CROSS MAN

By

ROBERT W. SERVICE



Flexible

By all odds the most powerful and popular book of poems by a single author emanating from the Great War. Written amid the din and roar of battle, these vivid pen pictures show the sunny side of war. A writer in The Dial, voicing many other opinions, says:

"Detail after detail of life at the front takes its place in the various narratives, adding touches of excitement, pathos, terror, tenderness, or humor, and in the end imbuing this particular reader with a closer sense of life in the Great War than any correspondent, novelist, or poet has yet given him—making it so natural, straightforward, first-hand, vibrant, that if you are like me you will close the book with a painful silence in the ears that follows great sound and the flush in the head that comes from the sight of broken bodies and the squeeze in the throat that comes in the presense of honest human emotions. It is not a criticism from without, but a cry from within—dignifying even 'Tipperary.' We have been inquiring for the poetry of the War. In my judgment, here it is."

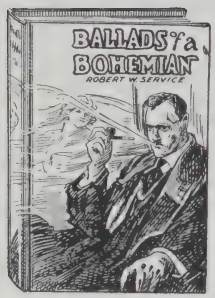
BALLADS OF A BOHEMIAN

By
ROBERT W. SERVICE



Cloth

This volume of verse is the largest that Service has thus far written. It is full of humor, of pathos, of tragedy, of passion, of sentiment, such as only Service can fully express. And because it is a human document by a master hand, its publication is an event of prime importance.

It is a panorama of life in four parts—Spring, Early Summer, Late Summer and Winter. Before our eyes pass a swift succession of vivid pictures—of a poor poet's garret, of the cafés, the absinthe drinkers, the boulevards, of the various queer neighbors—artists, little sewing girls, cocottes, grisettes—all the busy, jostling life of the Latin Quarter of Paris.

*THE MAN BRANDERS

By
FRANK C. ROBERTSON

"I am a fool" was what Jeff Singleton saw branded on the back of the ranch superintendent who had tried to fight the insidious band of cattle-rustlers. Keen and alert as he was, young Singleton faced a difficult task in tracing the mysterious activities of the cow-punchers who wanted to run the youthful manager out of the country. Bullets whizzed past his head, midnight prowlers kept him on the qui vive, and the terrible branders of men threatened to stamp those shameful eight letters on his body. But with beautiful Mattie Childs, "Bilious" Burket (who turned out to be not such a bluffer as people thought), and his own pluck and cleverness, Jeff succeeded in outwitting his enemies and solving the mystery surrounding his ranch, the "Cross and Anchor."

Those who have read Mr. Robertson's other books will know what a treat is in store for them. New readers will find the author a master in thrilling narration, unusual characterization, and amusing dialogue. His latest novel, "The Man Branders," is a book with a punch!

Christian History in its Three Great Periods

By Joseph Henry Allen

Three volumes; 12mo; about 300 pages per volume; $1.15 per volume, postpaid

Volume I., First Period, "Early Christianity," covering the Messiah, Saint Paul, the Arian Controversy, Monasticism, Christianity in the East, the Holy Roman Empire; Volume II., Second Period, "The Middle Age," comprehending the Ecclesiastical System, Feudal Society, the Religious Orders, Scholastic Theology, the Pagan Revival; Volume III., "Modern Phases," comprising the Protestant Reformation, Calvinism, English Rationalism, the German Critics, Speculative Theology. The point of view which the author presents claims a special interest and value, as vindicating for historical Christianity a significance often denied or overlooked in the current thought of the time. With chronological outlines and indexes.

Hebrew Men and Times

By Joseph Henry Allen

12mo; 471 pages; $1.15 postpaid

An outline of Hebrew history and literature which spares the details while giving the results of scholarship; that traces historical sequences and connections without being entangled in questions of mere erudition or theological polemics; that does not lose from sight the broad perspective of secular history, while recognizing the hand of "Providence as manifest in Israel."

Our Liberal Movement in Theology

By Joseph Henry Allen

12mo; 200 pages; $1.10 postpaid

A review of the history and antecedents of New England Unitarianism, interspersed with interesting personal reminiscences and ending with an appreciation of the tendencies of modern liberal theology. The following are the chapter titles: Antecedents, New England Unitarianism, Channing, Fifteen Years of Controversy, Theodore Parker, A Scientific Theology, The Religion of Humanity, the Gospel of Liberalism.

Sequel to "Our Liberal Movement"

By Joseph Henry Allen

12mo; 157 pages; 60 cents postpaid

A sketch in the first chapter of "The Old School and Its Work" and then chapters on "German Influence" and "Forty Years Later," followed by memories of Frederic Henry Hedge, James Freeman Clarke, William Greenleaf Eliot, Thomas Starr King, John Weiss, Frederick Newman Knapp, Thomas Hill, William Francis Allen, Samuel Longfellow, Edmund Burke Wilson, Octavius Brooks Frothingham, David Atkins Wasson.

Positive Religion

By Joseph Henry Allen

12mo; 259 pages; 90 cents postpaid

A collection of acute, reverent, and suggestive talks on some of the great themes of religion. The long habit of regarding religion as a thing of opinion, of emotion, or of ceremony, has tended greatly to blind men to it as an element in their own experience, or as a force, mighty and even passionate, in the world's affairs. And hence any word that recognizes first of all that positive quality in it,—independent of party, race, age or creed,—is a step towards the revival of it as a power, wholesome, invigorating, and inspiring, in the lives of men.

God and the Soul

By Richard A. Armstrong

12mo; 190 pages; $1.10 postpaid

A book that has met with remarkable commendation both in this country and abroad as one containing a singular insight into the spiritual life, and presenting the outlook of one who "believes that the religious element in man is primary and permanent; that God has direct messages for the human soul, and that the human soul has direct access to the living God,"—the standpoint being that "of one who heartily and without afterthought rejoices in every advance of knowledge in every field, and desires to attain in his thought no opinions whatever that clash with or are contradicted by the newer knowledge."

From Bondage to Liberty in Religion

By George T. Ashley

236 pages; $1.65 postpaid

The author describes briefly but graphically the processes and experiences through which he passed in his religious life, from the early experiences, thoughts and observations of his childhood, through the period of his school life, his ministry, his theological upheaval, his descent into the quagmires of Agnosticism, the reaction and final settlement of his disturbed soul in the liberty of a rational religious faith. It is the story of a real life, a living experience, written in a style that is at once gripping, thrilling, and fascinating as a novel from the first chapter to the last.

The Moods of Gwynn Myrick

With Other Poems

By George H. Badger

96 pages; $1.60 postpaid

A volume of rather whimsical, capricious and wayward verses, somewhat mystical and always lyric; largely, but by no means exclusively religious in tone, and much of it with a decidedly "humanistic" quality. "Mystical humanism" may properly characterize its prevailing mood.

A number of these poems were originally published in various periodicals under the pseudonym of "Gwynn Myrick," but quite as many are now published for the first time.

Daughters of the Puritans

By Seth Curtis Beach

12mo; 286 pages; $1.65 postpaid

Admirable biographical sketches of Catharine Maria Sedgwick, Mary Lovell Ware, Lydia Maria Child, Dorothea Lynde Dix, Sarah Margaret Fuller Ossoli, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and Louisa May Alcott. The delightful style of the author makes the perusal of the book a source of pleasure no less than of profit, for, as the Outlook has said, "the effect of this volume is that which is produced by the massing of —let us say, roses. These remarkable women have been assembled by an artistic hand in a resplendent galaxy."

Apples of Gold

A Book of Selected Verse

Edited by Clara Bancroft Beatley

12mo; 211 pages; $1.15 postpaid

Here may be found apples of golden verse gathered from some of the choicest gardens of poetry. Many of the selections are from poets like Lowell, Emerson, Longfellow, Tennyson, Bryant, Whittier, Shakespeare, Wordsworth and the Brownings; but there is also much material from a wider range, including present-day writers. The aim has been to gather under topical heads such as Progress, Nature, Duty, Truth, Freedom and Self-Control, twenty in all, elevating and inspiring verse, uniting poetic beauty and teaching power.

Treasures New and Old

A Memorial to James Freeman Clarke

Edited by Clara Bancroft Beatley

10mo; 154 pages; $1.15 postpaid

Celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of his birth. The program of the commemorative service at the Church of the Disciples is given in full, and all the spoken words of that occasion, including the prayer, Bible reading, tribute in verse of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the sermon of Dr. De Normandie and the tribute by Dr. Samuel A. Eliot; also the address by Rev. Francis G. Peabody at the Arlington Street Church. A separate chapter is given to the commemorative meeting of the Branch Alliance of the Church of the Disciples. The "Earlier Tributes," consist of the testimonies of John A. Andrew, Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Martineau, Edward Everett Hale, Phillips Brooks and others. The selected sermons comprise five most excellent discourses of Dr. Clarke.

The book is embellished with twelve full page illustrations, including a reproduction of the oil portrait of Dr. Clarke by William Morris Hunt.

The Ethics of Evolution

By James T. Bixby

12mo; 315 pages; $1.15 postpaid

So enlightening a book on its subject that it has been translated into Japanese because of its merits as an exposition of modern ethics. Of it Frances Power Cobbe said that it was "the soundest book on ethics issued for years." And the Boston Transcript: "An admirable philosophical treatise written with such simplicity of language, such singlemindedness and candor, that it will appeal to a large class outside the pale of critical analysis of ethics."

The New World and The New Thought

By James T. Bixby

12mo; 219 pages; $1.40 postpaid

"The New World" is the astonishing universe which modern science has disclosed, so immensely enlarged in duration and dimensions, so infinitely varied and complex and yet constantly dominated by universal laws, immutable order and omnipresent unity.

"The New Thought" of which the author writes is a forcible exposition of the remarkable changes in the ideas of modern thinkers as to the nature of man, the origin and government of the world, the character of God and his relation to nature and humanity, which have been initiated by these modern discoveries.

The Open Secret

or

Good the Final Goal

A Study of Life's Deeper Forces

By James T. Bixby

12mo; 242 pages; $1.50 postpaid

A searching study of the motive power which lies behind the mechanism of the universe, the Omnipotent and Omniscient Life which is guiding and controlling the world, not by chance or caprice, but in a far better way—by invariable laws. If the world is to progress as it should, we must go below the surface of material objects and recognize as the all-important thing the Life which is behind all and in all. The author seeks to show the rationality of his belief, not only by positive arguments, but also by refutation of the arguments which have been set forth by prominent philosophers and scientists holding different opinions regarding God and the problem of life.

The Gospel of Jesus

By Clayton R. Bowen

16mo; 235 pages; $1.10 postpaid

A brief presentation of the New Testament material concerning the life and teaching of Jesus. Nearly half of the book is given to the historical record as it may be reconstructed from the text of the Synoptic Gospels. In an appendix is the legendary material, namely, the stories of the infancy, of Jesus walking on the sea, of the feeding of the four thousand (a doublet), of the transfiguration, and of the resurrection. Concise but comprehensive notes discuss the text, section by section, interpreting narrative and teaching, and giving reasons for the rejection of variant forms of the tradition or of obviously secondary material. A detailed index of passages used or omitted enables one to turn at once to the place where any particular verse is considered in the notes.

The Life Superlative

By Stopford A. Brooke

12mo; 314 pages; $1.65 postpaid

A collection of extracts from the author's unpublished manuscripts and addresses, grouped under the headings of Religion and Conduct, Lessons by the Way, Social Problems, The Outlook Here and Hereafter, The Foundations of Life, and The City of the Soul. "There is a lucidity of thought and expression in all his books which is in itself a charm, apart altogether from the value of the thought expressed."

The Onward Cry

By Stopford A. Brooke

12mo; 385 pages; $1.90 postpaid

This volume of sermons by the author of "Jesus and Modern Thought" and "The Life Superlative," includes some of the best delivered by Mr. Brooke. Nothing of his more excellent in the way of garnered sermons has ever been issued. Some of the chapter titles are as follows: The Onward Cry, The Pattern on the Mount, the Expansion of Religion by Science, From Natural to Spiritual Religion, The Holidays of the Soul, The Earnest Expectation of the Creation, Find Me Out, The Dreamers, Illusion, One of the "Asides" of Jesus, The Eternal Life, The Pause Before Pentecost, Days of Judgment, the Patience of Job, Freedom from the Elements of the World, The Wise Virgins and Their Lamps, The Flowers of the Field.

Religion as a Personal Experience

By William Milton Brundage

12mo; 96 pages; 80 cents postpaid

In plain untechnical language, dealing with religion rather than theology, the author offers his readers a guide in the "way of the blessed life," and shares with them his own heart-experience. His book is full of a tender, gracious, reverent and loving spirit. Those who are in darkness or in doubt, those whom life has sorely wounded and left by the wayside, as well as those who have apprehended the hidden things of faith only through the intellect, will find here much to stir the heart, to brace the will and to bring the peace beyond understanding.

"Seven enlightening and pious sermons urging consecration, service, assurance of faith, transfiguration of life, worshipping and working together."—Hartford Courant.

Our Part in the World

By Ella Lyman Cabot

12mo; 204 pages; $1.00 postpaid

This work will quicken in young people the sense of personal responsibility for the moral welfare of the world. It will be a summons to enlistment in that army of the right-minded whose task it is to establish the Kingdom of God.

The Racial Conflict in Transylvania

By John M. Cabot

206 pages; $2.00 postpaid

The material of this book comes from the observations and the careful sifting of evidence presented in interviews with representative people in the province itself.

The author, without any preconceived notions tried to hear all sides in a sympathetic yet unprejudiced frame of mind. He has studied assiduously for over two years the abundant written material on this difficult subject, and this work was originally intended as his Oxford thesis.

The Supreme Reality

By Samuel R. Calthrop

195 pages; $1.35 postpaid

The former Pastor Emeritus of the May Memorial Church of Syracuse here sums up the supreme reality as the universe itself. The product of a ministry of 53 years, it is the expression of his faith, dedicated "To all who have longed to adore infinite love and right and truth; who have sought and have not yet found." It is written for plain men and women, in an effort "to show them that with the aid of science they can know much more about the universe than they now think possible, provided always that they are willing to trust their own common sense, when that speaks plainly and clearly."

"It is a message of cheer and hope from a man who has lived long and well, and who sees that the world advances and is growing better."—Utica Daily Press.

The Historical Jesus and the Theological Christ

By J. Estlin Carpenter

12mo; 231 pages; $1.40 postpaid

This volume by the renowned president of Manchester College, Oxford, is intended to give to those unacquainted with the details of historical study some insight into the results of modern investigation into the gospel-field, and some knowledge of the process by which the ecclesiastical conception of the person of Jesus Christ was slowly formed. The account of the historical Jesus is a splendid example of fearless, but sane and reverent criticism. The author is inspired with a profound sense of the religious import of Christianity, and of the ideal, if not the literal, meaning of Christian dogma. The summary of the results of modern historical research in the domain of Christology serves to emphasize the points of kinship between traditional Christianity and the doctrines of modern philosophy.

Letters to American Boys

By William H. Carruth

12mo; 96 pages; $1.10 postpaid

Letters written to boys on all sorts of manly subjects by an educator who is kindred in spirit and in complete sympathy with boyhood's enthusiasms. These letters, written in colloquial style, give incidentally much timely and wholesome advice. Boys will enter heartily into the spirit of honor, integrity, and fair play which is the distinguishing tone of these really interesting as well as helpful letters.

A Book of Poems

By John W. Chadwick

279 pages; $1.60 postpaid

Originally published almost thirty years ago, this book, now in its tenth edition, has been acquired in order that the present generation may have the opportunity to enjoy these inspiring poems. From cover to cover it is filled with rhythmic messages appropriate for the different seasons of the year and of the life of man. Probably the best known of these selections is the one entitled "Auld Lang Syne," but the whole collection is so full of sympathy, love and beauty that it seems almost unfair to select any special one for particular mention.

Cap'n Chadwick

By John W. Chadwick

16mo; 87 pages; 85 cents postpaid.
Vol. III of "True American Types"

It presents the humble but ennobling life story of a Marblehead skipper and shoemaker, revealing the method and spirit of one who, by turning his hand to more than one vocation in the course of summer and winter, secured, with serene courage, a comfortable maintenance for himself and family. The author is himself the son of the "Cap'n."

Autobiography and Diary

By Elizabeth P. Channing

12mo; 304 pages; $1.15 postpaid

A daily record of over thirty years in a long and active Christian life, the story of which "cannot fail to promote reverence for the deep and true things of the spirit and love for things high and holy, as exemplified by her own sweet and patient spirit." The book is a narrative of a full spiritual life.

Channing's Note-Book

Arranged by Grace Ellery Channing

12mo; 110 pages; $1.35 postpaid

The "Notes" here gathered from the unpublished manuscripts of William Ellery Channing are given without revision or change of any kind. This preservation of the material in its integrity, although resulting in the retention of the incomplete sentences and abrupt constructions of the original, reveals added vigor and freedom of expression and the entire absence of self-restraint, which brings one into closer touch with the characteristics of Channing's thought and character. The Notes are arranged in topics, under such headings as Society, Friendship, Fear, Duty, Inspiration, Woman, Life, Death, Destiny, Matter, Aspiration, Sensation, Memory.

Discourses and Essays

By William Ellery Channing

12mo; 416 pages; $1.25 postpaid

Owing to the bulk and small type of the one-volume edition of Channing's Works the most vital essays and sermons from it have been gleaned into this smaller, more open-paged volume of larger and more easily read type. These selections have been edited, with a brief biographical sketch, by W. Copeland Bowie. Its contents are grouped under three general heads: I. Controversial Theology; II. Social Questions; III. The Religious Life.

The Works of William Ellery Channing

8vo; 1060 pages; $1.50 postpaid

Complete in one volume, rearranged from the six-volume edition and including the twelve discourses comprising "The Perfect Life," the latter edited by William Henry Channing from his uncle's manuscripts. The ethical, social, and religious value of the writings of Channing lies in their persuasive appeal to the culture of the inner life, to the development of a sensitive spiritual consciousness, and to the contemplation of great moral and religious principles.

The Works of William Ellery Channing

With a biographical and critical introduction by

John W. Chadwick

Out of print until 1930

6 volumes; 8vo; about 400 pages per volume, cloth; $6.00 per set postpaid

This reprint of the original six-volume set of Channing's Works, which had been for a number of years out of print, was issued in order to give in the most complete and convenient form the convictions of this eloquent champion of religious and political freedom, of education and philanthropy, about the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, about the worth of human nature and the blessedness of human life, about the dignity of labor and the elevation of the working classes, about spiritual freedom and the mission of Christianity. These volumes are a storehouse of spiritual things, full of the truths which abide. This edition is noteworthy as having been prepared under the direct supervision of Channing himself, and is printed from the original plates. It is made of additional interest by a biographical and critical introduction by Rev. John W. Chadwick, and is fully indexed.

Life of William Ellery Channing

The Centenary Memorial Edition, with Portrait.
By his nephew, William Henry Channing

8vo; 719 pages; $1.45 postpaid

This volume contains a full account of Channing's life, describes his relation to many departments of public activity, traces the development of his mental and spiritual life, and includes many extracts from his public utterances and private correspondence. A book of much interest and profit concerning one of the foremost leaders in the development of religious thought in America. And, as one of his biographers says, "it is not extravagant to hope that on the social plane the progress of society for a long time to come will be the progressive embodiment of his spirit and the progressive realization of his particular ideas, hopes, and plans."

Who Are the Benefactors?

By Annie Lockhart Chesley

Introduction by
Samuel M. Crothers

120 pages; $1.25 postpaid

A series of human-interest sketches from the point of view of a social worker. The author maintains that while we are apt to think of those who need help only as beneficiaries they are in many cases really our benefactors.

The Makers of the Meadville Theological School 1844-1894

By Francis A. Christie

171 pages; $1.60 postpaid

This volume records the process by which the Meadville Theological School came into being and gives an insight into its history during its first half-century. This is accomplished by studying the character and mentality and typical thought of the men who, with sacrificial toil and spiritual courage, created a school of free inquiry under difficult conditions.

Essentials and Non-Essentials in Religion

By James Freeman Clarke

16mo; 148 pages; Cloth, 80 cents postpaid; Paper, 55 cents postpaid

A book full of admirable presentations of the vital principles of Christian faith. With their grace of style and clearness of diction, these lectures contain many helpful suggestions, especially for those disturbed by the transition from the old to the new religious thought. The subjects are: I. Faith and Belief: Essential Belief Concerning God. II. Christ and Christianity. III. The Bible. IV. The Church and Worship. V. Christian Experience. VI. The Future Life.

Manual of Unitarian Belief

(REVISED EDITION)

By James Freeman Clarke

108 pages; $1.00 postpaid

A revised and enlarged edition of Dr. Clarke's religious views set forth in his characteristic force and clearness. After each of the twenty lessons is a group of questions.

Orthodoxy: Its Truths and Errors

By James Freeman Clarke

12mo; 512 pages; Cloth, $1.15 postpaid

A fair, broad-minded presentation and examination of Orthodox doctrines from the Unitarian point of view. Although the writer's criticisms are acute, the spirit of the book is conciliatory and the method reasonable and just. In a style clear and forcible is presented much wholesome theological truth.

God's Wonder World

By Cora Stanwood Cobb

12mo; 364 pages; $1.35 postpaid

The purpose of this book is to accustom children of about nine years to regard the world in which they live as full of indications of God's wisdom and love. The religious aspects of nature are kept constantly in view. While telling in a thoroughly scientific way what happens in nature, it is primarily a book of religion.

The Message of Man

Edited by Stanton Coit

12mo; 340 pages. Flexible leather, $2.50 postpaid; Cloth, $2.00 postpaid

Probably the finest collection of ethical scriptures extant. Gathered from many sources they are, in scope, quality, and arrangement, as near a perfect expression of the concentrated thought of the world's greatest thinkers as it is possible to compress into a little pocket companion. Arranged in chapters by topics with an index of authors and editions, and with footnotes giving the exact source of each quotation, the book becomes not merely an inspiration in itself, but a guide to many of the finest thoughts in all literature. It has gone through numerous editions.

Augustus Conant
Illinois Pioneer and Preacher

By Robert Collyer

16mo; 100 pages; 85 cents postpaid.
Vol. II of "True American Types"

A setting forth of the simple but significant life of a true New Englander who went west in his early days to become an Illinois pioneer, later entering the ministry, and finally the Union army, where he met his death in the Civil War. It is the story of a sterling character struggling along unembittered amid often discouraging environments, and yet with frequent rays of sunshine that brought contentment and peace.

Clear Grit

By Robert Collyer
Edited by John Haynes Holmes

12mo; 328 pages; $1.90 postpaid

A volume of sermons, lectures and poems by this great seer, none of which have ever appeared in print. Running all through the volume one finds the expression of those qualities which endeared Mr. Collyer to all who knew him—his genial, sympathetic insight into the lives of his fellowmen, his love of the beautiful, whether in art or in nature, and his irresistible fund of humor. To anyone acquainted with Mr. Collyer this book will come as a fresh inspiration, while to those unfamiliar with his writings it will be found surprisingly enjoyable and stimulating.

Father Taylor

By Robert Collyer

12mo; 58 pages; $1.10 postpaid

An untutored son of nature, rugged of build, endowed with keen power of wit and repartee, scathing in his rebuke of everything low or mean, a father to his homeless sailor "boys," frank, outspoken, fearless, lovable always, with an emotional nature generous in all its impulses and set aflame in the cause of those to whom he devoted his life, who made of his Bethel a humble temple in which his audiences, of both the rough and the cultured, were alike moved to tears at will,—such was Father Taylor, the founder of the Seamen's Bethel in the port of Boston, whose unique story has been briefly told by an old friend, with a fund of incident and anecdote that well illustrates the peculiar genius and unusual personality of the man.

Some Memories

By Robert Collyer

12mo; 248 pages; $1.40 postpaid

Delightful reminiscences, rich in varied experience, with quiet but irrepressible veins of humor and tenderness,—memories "so interwoven with my life through the fifty years they touch the sunshine and shadows, the sorrows and the joy." Dr. Collyer was not always a preacher nor did he always live in America. Yet preaching was "in his blood," and America became more than a dream. And through the struggle and glory of it all glows the rugged strength of the man and his sturdy, tender, lovable character.

Thoughts for Daily Living

From the spoken and written words of Robert Collyer
Selected and arranged by Imogen Clark

12mo; 176 pages; $1.15 postpaid

The selections in this little volume are very real, very human, very inspiring. They give counsel, cheer, consolation, and—whether the times are dark or bright—the one truth they hold is that "God's in his heaven, all's right with the world." They are indeed thoughts for daily living: Mr. Collyer shows how the problem, common to us all, of making life fair may be solved, how burdens may be borne and sorrows in some measure lightened. He has the understanding heart and an optimism so cheery that despair and doubt cannot live in its presence. His English, too, is pure, vigorous, picturesque—the English of the good old writers in days not so hurried and slipshod as the ones we know. There is a poetic quality in the beautiful simplicity of his phrases that makes his prose a continual delight.

Myth, Magic and Morals

By F. C. Conybeare

8vo; 382 pages; $3.25 postpaid

A study of Christian origins, including a careful inquiry into who Jesus of Nazareth was, what his real aims and ideas were, what the means at his command for realizing them, and how the great institutions connected with his name originated and grew up. The author is a scholar of renown, with a wide range of knowledge in the byways of Christian literature, and an unrivalled acquaintance with the archaeology, ritual and social life of early Christianity, as it appears in the light of the results of the generally accepted leaders of historical research. The pages of this book are rich in illustrative material drawn from these sources.

Transylvania in 1922

Edited by Louis C. Cornish

Frontis. of Bishop Ferencz; 176 pages; Cloth, $1.00 postpaid; Paper, 50 cents postpaid

Little known in this country until recently, Transylvania is one of the richest districts in Europe, a broad and most fertile plain surrounded with beautiful mountains. On this broad expanse are rich cultivated fields, beautiful villages built around ancient churches and a few considerable cities, among them ancient Torda and Cluj-Kolozsvar. The latter, before the war, was famed for its University and other institutions. The life of the Transylvanian people is vividly told with amusing incident and narrative.

A commission was sent in the summer of 1922 to Transylvania by the American Unitarian Association and the American Committee on the Rights of Religious Minorities. Their report gives the facts.

The Religious Minorities in Transylvania

Being the Report of the recent Anglo-American Commission to Roumania compiled by Louis C. Cornish in collaboration with the other members.

174 pages; $1.00 postpaid

Protestants, Roman Catholics, and Jews are being oppressed and robbed in Transylvania, the cradle of religious liberty in Europe. Roumania promised to protect all minority rights, but she is failing to fulfill her promises. All who believe in liberty should read this stirring report submitted by four unbiased and competent observers, who saw the conditions and listened to the sympathetic pleadings of the suffering people. Read the evidence which this Commission submitted to the Roumanian Government and the Roumanian reply.

Charles W. Eliot's Talks to Parents and Young People

Edited by Edward H. Cotton

160 pages; $1.75 postpaid

This volume gives parents, teachers, and youth information which not only will explain life, but will reveal ways of living most worth while. No more helpful, informing and useful articles on child training, home responsibility and problems of youth have been written than these fifteen papers.

For half a century, as teacher in Harvard University, and its president, he directly associated with young men during the four important years of their manhood. It was then that he gave some of the wisest counsel for the conduct of life. His influence on the youth of America was greater, probably, than that of any other man. Today thousands of leading men attribute their position in business and the professions to ideals set them when students at Harvard.

Theodore Roosevelt, the American

By Edward H. Cotton

With Introduction by Corinne Roosevelt Robinson

English-Italian edition, 344 pages; $2.00 postpaid
English edition, 166 pages; $1.50 postpaid
Italian edition, 178 pages; $1.00 postpaid

This is a book for every American citizen. And, above all, it is one that should be put in the hands of our boys and girls that they may become more fully aware of their rich American heritage.

It is a biography after "Teddy's" own heart, a fascinating tale of struggle; of a fight to the finish against tremendous odds.

The introduction written by Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, better known as "Teddy's" sister, is one of the features of the book. Mrs. Robinson is deeply interested in the problems of our country's monstrous "melting pot," and she is "carrying on" in the spirit of her illustrious brother.

The Church of To-day

By Joseph H. Crooker

12mo; 177 pages; $1.10 postpaid

A clear-visioned, logically stated, and thoughtfully convincing presentation and solution of the problem of the modern church. The author points out how aroused religious sentiment should exert itself in renewed church life and activity. The book reviews the proper scope of the church's work, and urges the deserving claim of the church in a treatment of the subject that is serious, earnest, trenchant, and vital.

Religious Freedom in American Education

By Joseph H. Crooker

12mo; 216 pages; Cloth, $1.15 postpaid;
Paper, 35 cents postpaid

A thorough and painstaking research into the status of religious education in connection with our various institutions of learning. The religious motive in its relation to popular education is fully examined; and the present conditions and recent changes in religious instruction and freedom of worship in denominational institutions, normal schools, agricultural colleges, and State universities, receive special attention. All of this extremely suggestive material is brought to a practical close by a comprehensive array of conclusions and recommendations.

The Supremacy of Jesus

New and Enlarged Edition

By Joseph H. Crooker

12mo; 231 pages. Cloth, $1.40 postpaid;
Paper, 60 cents postpaid

There is nothing negative, uncertain or evasive in the treatment of the subject here given. Written from the vantage-ground of the best modern thought, this book fills a hitherto unoccupied place in liberal religious literature.

To the previous edition of this volume has been added nearly fifty pages of new matter dealing with three topics: I. Jesus and the Modern Myth-Makers. II. The Testimony of Paul to Jesus. III. Jesus More Than Any Other Christ-Ideal. This new matter has enhanced the already well recognized worth of this reverent, sympathetic and clear-sighted exposition of the essential elements in the life and example of the teacher of Nazareth, set forth in the light of the frankly accepted higher criticism.

The Winning of Religious Liberty

By Joseph H. Crooker

12mo; 284 pages; $1.60 postpaid

A brief and thrilling account of the purpose of the struggle for religious liberty and the great achievement of the Pilgrims in establishing complete separation of Church and State.

It is particularly fitting that, at this moment, when the future of civilization is at stake, the history of the development of one of these principles should have been written anew.

Prayers

By Samuel McChord Crothers

75 pages; $1.00 postpaid

This collection of prayers, selected and arranged by Mrs. Crothers published in their unstudied and unrevised form, is, as Dr. Peabody says, "an open door into the heart of Dr. Crothers."

Attractively printed and bound, this book makes a very appropriate gift.

The Understanding Heart

By Samuel M. Crothers

12mo; 187 pages; $1.15 postpaid

The conditions of modern society have resulted in new conceptions of literature, of morals, of religion, growing out of the necessity of continual readjustment. How may our ideals be adjusted to the actual conditions which we meet? How may our religious inheritance be harmonized with our fresh experiences? How may the institutions which have purely spiritual ends be adjusted to those which serve our material welfare? How may we at the same time live according to the rules of sound reason and according to the inspirations of religious faith? Such questions are here answered.

The First Church in Plymouth

By John Cuckson

117 pages; $1.25 postpaid

The history of 102 fugitives from religious oppression who came by the Mayflower to the New England shores to form a church universal. The summer of 1622 saw the erection of a fort "builte with good timber, both strong and comely, which was of good defence, made with a flatte rofe and batilments," which served them also for a meeting-house and was fitted accordingly for that use. Told with clearness and accuracy, this little book unfolds a bit of history as rich in characters and events, interesting, romantic and heroic, as any in the annals of our race.

The Public Ministry of Jesus

By Horace Davis

12mo; 36 pages; 60 cents postpaid

This is a layman's story, in simple, human terms, of the public life of Jesus, told with due regard to its historical setting. The life of the Prophet of Nazareth is very real to the author, and he has sought to make it as real to his readers. It is wholly free from technical phraseology or scholastic interpretations, being in truth a layman's presentation of Jesus' life as he derives it direct from the Gospel narratives themselves. The design of the book is to acquaint other laymen with the simplicity and dignity of this wonderful career, related from the point of view of one who is entirely unfettered by creed or dogma, and with the hope that the interest thus aroused may lead to further thought and study.

Works of Orville Dewey

8vo; 804 pages; $1.20 postpaid

The ripe thought and mature experience of one of the ablest minds which American Unitarianism has produced are contained in this volume. As a preacher of practical truth and the highest morality, with spiritual fervor and fine discrimination of motives and actions, his sermons are full of stimulating suggestions and wise counsel.

His lectures, when delivered, awakened great and wide interest; and they will be found not to have lost their pertinency and attractiveness to-day. The book also contains a short sketch of his life.

The Apostolic Age

By E. von Dobschutz

Translated by F. L. Pogson

12mo; 144 pages; $1.10 postpaid

The Apostolic Age remains one of the most important epochs in the life of the Christian Church. The chief reason which made it important was that everything was still in a state of transition and growth, while the spirit showed itself as a living force to a degree that may perhaps never be equalled again. It is just this combination of enthusiasm with the upgrowth and elaboration of the forms necessary to historical development which makes primitive Christianity so interesting, but at the same time renders its delineation so extraordinarily difficult.

Bergson and the Modern Spirit

By George R. Dodson, Ph. D.

304 pages; $1.75 postpaid

In Bergson Dr. Dodson sees the appearance of a new star of the first magnitude in the firmament of thought. The Bergsonian conception of evolution is expounded with a discussion of its necessary implications for ethics and religion. In the divinations of our great modern poets we find a confirmation of the vision of life which the philosopher has strained the resources of the most wonderful prose speech to express. Dr. Dodson shows that Bergson is not a man of the pragmatist temper, nor does he hold the theory of truth defended by James, Schiller and Dewey.

The Sympathy of Religions

By George R. Dodson, Ph. D.

339 pages; $1.35 postpaid

The title of this book reveals its spirit. The fundamental assumption is that back of all religions, is religion,—a universal striving for knowledge of God and desire to do the divine will. Instead of a catalogue of names, dates and articles of belief, there is a sufficient treatment of some of the non-Christian faiths to give a sympathetic understanding of them, and to show how the one Spirit makes itself felt under varying conditions. The use of this book should strengthen faith in the universal Providence, and at the same time make our own faith both clearer and more deeply appreciated. It is especially suited for use in the advanced classes of Sunday schools.

The Religion of a Gentleman

By Charles F. Dole

12mo; 219 pages; $1.05 postpaid

What young man would not choose for himself a religion which would permit of a large, normal, wholesome, active, satisfying life? It was the desire to help the youth of America to find this priceless possession which led the author in this book to relate some of his own experiences and to give expression to the thoughts that had brought to him intellectual freedom, joy and moral inspiration. Recommended as a gift book for college students and for all thinking young men.

The Spirit of Democracy

By Charles F. Dole

12mo; 435 pages; $1.10 postpaid

An exceptionally clear and comprehensive presentation of the history and growth of democracy, in which its principles are frankly discussed in the form of such every-day problems as war and militarism, the treatment of crime, taxation, immigration, labor unions, woman suffrage, etc. "Democracy," the author says, "is on trial in the world on a more colossal scale than ever before," and the working out of the experiment will depend upon the growth of the spirit of good will in the hearts of men. The abolition of slavery stands out pre-eminently among the achievements of the past as a foregleam of what may be accomplished along other lines, as men come to a better understanding of their relations to one another, a development which should receive impetus from a reading of this book.

The Theology of Civilization

By Charles F. Dole

12mo; 256 pages; 75 cents postpaid

Religion has progressed with the world—not from a childish religion to no religion at all, but to the religion of grown-up men, and no form of Christianity or theism can be so practical and workable as the religion which the twentieth century has brought to us. Its worth will be demonstrated in so far as it helps to solve the great social, economic and political problems of to-day. The author writes for busy men and women, expressing not his own thought alone but the treasured wisdom of ages, the inheritance of all who seek.

Jasper Douthit's Story

The Autobiography of a Pioneer

Illustrated. 12mo; 225 pages; $1.40 postpaid

The unique and dramatic life of a Unitarian preacher and reformer, told by himself with characteristic simplicity and unaffected modesty. Mr. Douthit's career as a lecturer, Temperance reformer, anti-slavery advocate and missionary preacher abounds in interesting and at times exciting episodes. The narrative leads as a climax to the establishment and struggle for survival of the Lithia Springs Chautauqua, the crowning work of all of Mr. Douthit's plans and dreams.

David Libbey

Penobscot Woodsman and River-Driver

By Fannie H. Eckstorm

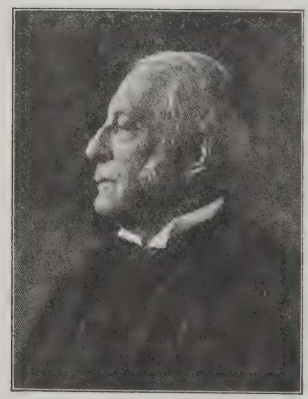
16mo; 110 pages; 85 cents postpaid. Vol. IV of "True American Types"

The narrative of the varied career of one of Maine's expert lumbermen, who was also a bold and skilful waterman and a great hunter. Until reading this book one would hardly realize the fund of knowledge, the fertility of resource, the ability for self-education and aesthetic culture to be associated with this true type, however much David Libbey himself might surpass the average of a class of men also distinguished for their honesty, courage, loyalty, versatility and singular ability to cope with emergencies.

Address to Young Men

By Charles W. Eliot

Single copies, 10 cents; 12 copies $1.00 postpaid; 100 copies, $8.00, including delivery



Although delivered to a class of college freshmen, the author leads his hearers beyond college days into a serious consideration of the successive stages of life for which one can be adequately prepared only by the exercise, far in advance, of careful thought and prudent restraint. In his simple, compelling style the conclusions of an unusually rich experience are here laid before those who, on the threshold of life, can hardly fail to realize the significance of the program so convincingly outlined.

Printed in two colors on buff Japan paper, this booklet of twenty pages (size 4x6 in.) will be found a model of attractiveness for presentation to young men.

Four American Leaders

By Charles W. Eliot

12mo; 126 pages; $1.10 postpaid

The study of history and biography of great men is an effective way by which to get a proper perspective of present men and events. Such a perspective can be obtained from this book, and these essays on Franklin, Washington, Channing, and Emerson, condensed in expression and broad in suggestiveness, summarize the influence of these great Americans in shaping the political, moral, and intellectual trend of the Republic and by their lives and writings in framing American ideals.

John Gilley
Maine Farmer and Fisherman

By Charles W. Eliot

16mo; 72 pages; $1.10 postpaid. Vol. I of "True American Types"

The brief record of a Maine farmer and fisherman, in whose simple, dignified, though obscure life is found that type of hardy character and rugged virtue in which lie the best hopes of the race.

The Road to Unity Among the Christian Churches

By Charles W. Eliot

16mo; 80 pages; $1.10 postpaid

This address predicts that if the divided churches would submerge their theoretical differences and emphasize their agreement in essentials, they would find the general temper of society favorable on their part to unite for the worship of God and the service of man.

William Greenleaf Eliot

By Charlotte C. Eliot

12mo; 376 pages; $1.85 postpaid

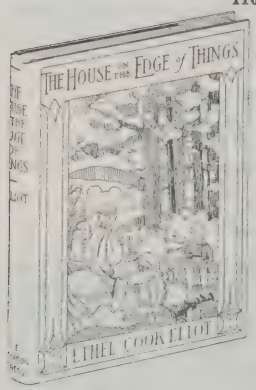
A narrative of over fifty years of labor in the interest of a higher civilization of religion, morality, and learning, which, although in the form of a personal memoir, incidentally relates to events of historical importance, and depicts life in the West during its formative period under conditions that will not recur.

The House on the Edge of Things

By Ethel Cook Eliot

Illustrated by Frances Eliot Fremont-Smith

110 pages; $2.00 postpaid



The fairy stories by this well-known author have a unique place in literature for children. Charming in style, they are wonderfully beautiful and rare in their understanding of the child's heart and mind. Gifted with an imagination, a love of nature, and an unusual understanding of children, the author carries them to fairyland, and has them play with the fairies of the rain, stars, wind and sea.

The line and color drawings by Frances Eliot Fremont-Smith admirably supplement the stories and make this a truly wonderful book for children.

The Unwrought Iron

By Frederick May Eliot

243 pages; $1.35 postpaid

Religion is here conceived as a personal experience, in which each generation receives as its heritage the results of past experiences, and works upon these results in three phases of religion—worship, thought and service. Thoroughly scientific in method and presentation it is at the same time deeply religious. The clear and forceful style impels the youthful reader to pursue the subjects eagerly; to think upon them clearly, to enter into a religious experience of his own and to embody the results in his daily life.

Heralds of a Liberal Faith

Edited by Samuel A. Eliot

Vol. I. The Prophets. Vol. II. The Pioneers.
Vol. III. The Preachers.

Temporarily out of print

8vo; 375 pages per vol.; $1.45 postpaid

Biographical sketches of leading Unitarian ministers from the origin of the Unitarian movement down to the beginning of the present century. The student of the Unitarian movement can find here the whole story of its origin and development. Complete biographies are given of all the leading ministers and the volumes are an unparalleled storehouse of information, anecdote and inspiration to all who are interested in the motives and achievements of the Unitarian cause and its leaders.

Unitarian Thought

By Ephraim Emerton

311 pages; $1.35 postpaid

To those who wish to know the fundamental beliefs of the Unitarians this book will prove most helpful and valuable.

"A book intended 'neither to excite controversy nor to settle it, but only to state fairly its own constructive propositions.' . . . Every reader will admit that the author has succeeded in doing what he set out to do. The result is a distinct service to clear thinking, whatever the impression may be as to the distinctive value of Unitarian thought or its satisfactoriness as an adequate interpretation of the world fact of Christianity itself."—Chicago Tribune.

Immortality and Other Essays

By Charles Carroll Everett

12mo; 280 pages; $1.55 postpaid

"With this book in hand we sit at the feet of a teacher of sweetness and light, who has much to teach us, but far more to confide in us, rather as a friend, too, than as a mere teacher. These are delightful spiritual conversations that dwell with us after we lay the book aside, and that surely incorporate themselves into and elevate our daily thought. The message they bring is broad and humanizing and healthfully simple, pointing out paths of an unostentatious faith and a daily creed without mystery."—Boston Transcript.

The Eternal Presence

By William Henry Fish, Jr.

200 pages; $1.15 postpaid

Reason proclaims a goal for thought. Religion finds it. The Eternal Presence means not the mind's idea of God, but the reality experienced by the soul. Faith is no mere belief in a metaphysical object presupposed by all quest of truth and goodness and beauty; it is the finding of the Blessed Reality in spiritual vision. The Eternal Presence thus glimpsed is the healing of sorrows and the spring of transcendent hopes.

How a Modern Atheist Found God

By G. A. Ferguson

16mo; 128 pages; 85 cents postpaid

This is the intimate revelation of the spiritual experience of a man who was at first devout in his orthodox faith, then began to doubt, and through his reading and study became an atheist, but finally found his way to a sure faith in God. The problems which he had to solve and the difficulties he had to overcome must be similar to those which are perplexing so many seekers after truth at the present time, when science and historical criticism are making such inroads on the orthodox forms of belief. The processes of his reasoning and the books which influenced his change of thought in his religious pilgrimage are set forth in the narrative.

Voices On the Highway of History

By Walter Fogg

About 800 pages; $3.75 postpaid

Publication date, Sept. 1, 1928

In plan and treatment, this work marks a distinctive departure in the field of compilation. More than one thousand historical utterances, drawn from all nations and from all ages down to the present day, are presented in the novel form of "prose pictures." The author has provided each with a descriptive setting which reflects, in a free and unhackneyed style but concisely, the attendant circumstances. There is the background of incident or situation, the color of the period, or the atmosphere of philosophical thought.

From a scene of battle the reader may pass to the studio of a great artist, the palace of an ancient emperor, the study of a well-known writer, or a hall of legislation. He follows the martyr to the scaffold or the stake, then turns to the more pleasant company of a noted wit or shares in the meditations of one of the world's profoundest savants.

There are hundreds of quotations which have never before been assembled between two covers; and scores of characters here figure for the first time in a book of this nature. They include, also, the authenticated words, so often incorrectly reported, of Colonel Lindbergh when he first stepped from his airplane in the first non-stop flight to Europe from the United States.

Freedom and the Churches

The Contributions of American Churches to Civil and Religious Liberty

By Various Authors

12mo; 115 pages; $1.10 postpaid

A series of ten papers by prominent representatives of as many denominations, setting forth succinctly the services rendered by their respective fellowships in promoting the cause of freedom in religion and the political order. The following well-known writers take part in the symposium:

Prof. Walter Rauschenbush (Baptist).
Prof. Williston Walker (Congregationalist).
Dr. O. E. Janney (Friend).
Dr. H. G. Enelow (Jew).
Dr. Lewis M. Lounsbury (Methodist).

Dr. Paul M. Strayer (Presbyterian).
Dr. Wm. Elliot Griffis (Reformed).
Dr. L. Walter Mason (Unitarian).
Dr. Isaac M. Atwood (Universalist).
Edwin D. Mead (Religious Radical).

The little volume, which has been edited by Dr. C. W. Wendte, will be found to be a stimulating and valuable contribution to the history of freedom in America.

Freedom and Truth

Modern Views of Unitarian Christianity

By Various Authors

352 pages; $2.00 postpaid

A series of essays on modern views of Unitarian Christianity by prominent representatives of the English and American churches. The contents are well indicated by the following chapters: "Three Stages of Unitarian Theology," by James Martineau; "Unitarian Christianity in the Twentieth Century," by Sidney H. Mellone; "The Idea of God," by George R. Dodson; "The Old Testament," by Robert T. Herford; "The Historical Jesus," by Clayton R. Bowen; "The Value and Significance of Jesus," by Henry Gow; "The Christian Way of Life in New England," by William W. Fenn; "The Spirit of Unitarian Philanthropy," by William G. Tarrant; "The Unitarian Movement," by Francis A. Christie.

Transcendentalism in New England

By Octavius B. Frothingham

8vo; 395 pages; Paper, 60 cents postpaid

This is not a critical or philosophical account of Transcendentalism in New England, but a plain history which presents the subject with the smallest possible admixture of discussion either in defence or opposition. The history of the movement is traced from its beginning in Kant and sufficient references are given for the direction of those who wish to better acquaint themselves with the philosophy.

Our Heritage of Faith

By Paul Revere Frothingham

40 pages; 60 cents postpaid

A sermon preached at Sanders Theatre, Cambridge, Massachusetts, May 10, 1925, in celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of the foundation of the American Unitarian Association.

Twenty-Five Years

80 pages; 75 cents postpaid

An attractive brochure, with a frontispiece of Dr. Paul Revere Frothingham, containing the order of service and addresses delivered at the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate at Arlington Street Church, Boston.

We Believe

By Paul Revere Frothingham

16mo; 117 pages; $1.00 postpaid

A cultured, intellectual, helpful discourse on the five points in liberal Christianity. The author brings illuminating material out of the best thought and experience of recent years to make the five points vital. A confident promise that the doctrine of the brotherhood of man will eventually prove the white beacon light that will lead the world to lasting peace. Every page rings with hope, with comfort and with truth.

The House Beautiful

By William C. Gannett

60 pages; 85 cents postpaid

This most attractive little book describes in a most inspiring manner how to make a home beautiful. For what is a house if it cannot be called a home?

"Slowly the new home grows holy as the deepening wedding thus goes on; holy, for the making of two souls—two yet one—is going on in it. . . . Business, sorrows, joys, temptations, failures, victories, ideals, are all shared in it. . . . The supreme beauty is attained when both realize that the inmost secret of true marriage is—to love the ideals better than each other."

The Little Child at the Breakfast Table

By William C. Gannett

16mo; 81 pages; 85 cents postpaid

In many homes to-day there exists an unsatisfied desire for some simple means by which the members of the household may obtain a brief inspiration for the work of the busy day through contact with more enduring and uplifting currents of thought than may be found in the morning paper or the day's toil—a means of inculcating into the lives of impressionable and growing children that spirit of quiet reverence and worship of the divine ideal, which alone can guide them aright through the paths of life. We believe that there are many parents vaguely longing for some kind of "household altar" adapted to our own time and feeling, and accordingly we are glad to have the opportunity of offering this volume to the public.

The Story of the New Testament

By Edgar J. Goodspeed

12mo; 162 pages; $1.10 postpaid

The purpose of this book is to acquaint readers with the contents of the New Testament, to show how these writings came into existence and how they obtained the unforeseen dignity of sacred Scripture. At the same time the effort is made to show the intimate connection of the New Testament documents with the people among whom they appeared, so that these Christians may be made real to the reader, as they lived, felt, thought, and suffered during those tragic years.

"Great Affirmations" Series

A Unitarian library of paper-covered books

The purpose of this library is to furnish some of the most notable of the older books published by the American Unitarian Association at nominal prices that scarcely more than cover the cost of paper, presswork and binding. In some cases the price is even less than cost. In this way it is felt that these important books may have a wider circulation and more extensive reading than would otherwise be possible.

The list of titles is as follows:

Pillars of the Temple, by Minot J. Savage. 12mo. 226 pages. 60 cents postpaid. See page 54.

Some Ethical Phases of the Labor Question, by Carroll D. Wright. 12mo. 207 pages. 35 cents postpaid. See page 67.

The Supremacy of Jesus, by Joseph Henry Crooker. 12mo. 186 pages. 60 cents postpaid. See page 18.

Pioneers of Religious Liberty, by Various Authors. 8vo. 396 pages. 60 cents postpaid. See page 52.

Tides of the Spirit, by James Martineau. 12mo. 198 pages. 35 cents postpaid. See page 46.

Transcendentalism in New England, by Octavius B. Frothingham. 8vo. 395 pages. 60 cents postpaid. See page 30.

Orthodoxy: Its Truths and Errors, by James Freeman Clarke. 12 mo. 512 pages. 65 cents postpaid. See page 13.

Religious Freedom in American Education, by Joseph H. Crooker. 12mo. 216 pages. 35 cents postpaid. See page 18.

Ralph Waldo Emerson

(WITH TWO EARLY ESSAYS OF EMERSON)

By Edward Everett Hale

Paper; 16mo; 135 pages; 85 cents postpaid

A little book of affectionate reminiscences and grateful appreciation of the Concord philosopher presenting the strong, simple, practical, every-day side of Emerson's character. To the charm of the style is added the freshness of personal experience. The latter half of the volume consists of two early essays by Emerson, written when a college undergraduate, and not included in his collected work.

The Hills of God

By Miles Hanson

256 pages; $2.00 postpaid

These sermons of every-day interest, illuminated by wise comment and apt illustration, reveal the author's deep concern for the personal religion of his hearers. The author has had a varied experience of human life. He has suffered and he has rejoiced. He has toiled and he has played. He comes close to the interests of his people, and this volume reveals a deep sympathy and understanding.

Behold a Sower!

By M. Louise C. Hastings

224 pages; $1.65 postpaid

A book of selections from various authors to be used in the home or the school-room. In verse and prose the reader becomes familiar with such writers as Charles Gordon Ames, Phillips Brooks, John W. Chadwick, James Freeman Clarke and many character-building authors of the past and present.

The Readings are arranged week by week for one year, with a special subject such as The Power of Little Things, Dreams and Ideals, Work, Courage, accorded each week. A short Bible quotation gives the keynote to each day's reading. A book of 224 pages, well bound in gray green cloth, "Behold a Sower!" will prove one of the most interesting of books.

Reason in Religion

By Frederic H. Hedge

12mo; 458 pages; Cloth, $1.40 postpaid;
Paper, 85 cents postpaid

A book seeking to show the necessary place which reason must hold in religious thought, since the cause of reason is the cause of religion, and should enter into the true construction of the faith of the church, if its "doctrinal fabrics" are to withstand assault. Throughout the volume is given a wholesome amount of positive religious truth.

The Jewish Religion in the Time of Jesus

By G. Hollmann

12mo; 148 pages; $1.10 postpaid

The author has sought to make concisely available the present state of investigation in his subject, as it is exhibited especially in the great works of Schurer and Bousset. "Considering the uncertainty and obscurity in which, in spite of all the labors of the last ten years, later Judaism is still involved, I have aimed to bring out sharply and clearly the decisive and fundamental lines. I have intentionally dealt somewhat more fully with the Jewish apocalyptic, because it is least known to the lay reader and because it is on this ground that so many preconditions for understanding the thought-world of Jesus are to be found."

Religion for To-day

By John Haynes Holmes

347 pages; $1.65 postpaid

"Religion for To-day" forecasts the stupendous "new order" in no uncertain language. The reader may not agree in detail with its prophetic conclusions; but that it states in language which is forceful, adequate and convincing, the inevitable changes that are taking place to-day and the necessities of religion in the impending future no one can deny. It is not a negative and iconoclastic book. Nowhere does it condemn past expressions of religion in an unsympathetic spirit. It is an earnest, truthful and eloquent discussion of changes that are as inevitable as they are vital. Best of all, the book is, itself, an illustration of religion in action.

The Apostles' Creed

By Archibald Hopkins

12mo; 207 pages; 75 cents postpaid

A thoroughly clear and discriminating examination of the Apostles' Creed, clause by clause. The special treatment in this volume is that of a layman applying principles of common sense and of clear, logical, untechnical processes of thought to the problems involved.

The Thought of God in Hymns and Poems

THREE SERIES IN ONE

By Frederick L. Hosmer and William C. Gannett

18mo; 352 pages; $1.50 postpaid

A volume of devotional verse, the beauty and devoutness of which has for years commended it to all religious minds. "These volumes contain the most important original contributions to liberal Hymnology since the books of Longfellow and Johnson."

The first two series have been out of print for some years, but in response to the persistent demand, they have been reprinted, unabridged, together with a new series, all of which are now published in one volume and offered to lovers of beautiful lyrics.

The Shepherd's Question

By Burt Estes Howard

12mo; 62 pages; 90 cents postpaid

Here is a volume which, in the rhythmic language of the heart and with the prophetic note of the spirit, compels the reader to agree with its author that "the idea of immortality is not the product of labored reason, for man has not toiled to it up the long stairway of logic," but that "it is planted as an instinct at the very foundation of his being."

The Test

By Burt Estes Howard

12mo; 130 pages; $1.35 postpaid

Vivid descriptions of historical scenes, apt illustrations from literature and mythology, rhapsodies of Nature-mysticism, daring phrases and clear argument, all are woven into these essays. The book is a mirror of that simple gospel which Jesus taught and lived, and which the writer describes as "full of the open air of the hills, and the breath of the sea, and the freedom of children."

Hymn and Tune Book

With Services—Cloth, $1.45; Leather, $1.80

Without Services—Cloth, $1.25; Leather, $1.65

The Hymn and Tune Book is offered to churches, schools and colleges in the confident belief that it meets the needs of to-day's spirit of worship better than any other available hymn book. This book contains 546 hymns of which more than one-half are taken from earlier books and represent the best of the older hymnology. With these are a large number of new hymns breathing the modern spirit of religion. In the collection about 100 are for special occasions, with twenty-five more adapted for children and young people. The book also contains a small but excellent selection of choral responses and ascriptions, together with standard chants suitable for choir use.

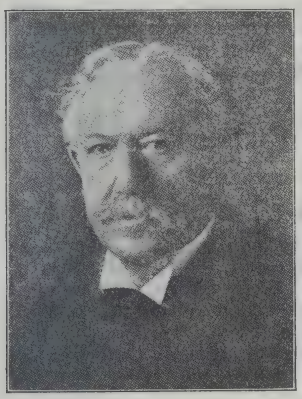
Prayers

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

120 pages; $1.50 postpaid

The book gives us a spiritual glimpse into the mind and heart of this great and lovable champion of religious tolerance. The soul of Jenkin Lloyd Jones moves among us still in these aspirations and meditations, which are the essence of true prayer. This book can not fail to furnish courage, comfort and inspiration to all of us in our varied walks of life.—The Christian Leader.

America's Conquest of Europe



By David Starr Jordan

85 cents postpaid

America's conquest will be by the ideals of internationalism and democracy, marking the coming of universal peace. Because of her peculiar inherent fitness for the task and the position which she holds, she can, if she will, bring about the feeling of true brotherhood among all the powers of the earth. The book also contains an address delivered in Ghent, entitled "World Peace and the Treaty of Ghent."

The Call of the Nation

By David Starr Jordan

$1.10 postpaid

A plea for "taking politics out of politics," with salient comments on Conservation, Direct Primaries, Public Utilities, National Sanitation, and other vital topics.

The Call of the Twentieth Century

By David Starr Jordan

$1.10 postpaid

Society would be done a service if this brief volume, so full of wisdom and inspiration, of sane counsel and rare insight, could find its way into the minds and hearts of all American youth.

College and the Man

By David Starr Jordan

$1.10 postpaid

Into an exposition of the value of college training, associations and ideals, is woven sound counsel upon fundamental principles of character and conduct that might well inspire young men who must be content with self-education.

The Heredity of Richard Roe

By David Starr Jordan

$1.25 postpaid

Richard Roe, a familiar figure in legal practice, serves as a lay figure of heredity, and in tracing his career some of the leading facts and principles of Eugenics are brought under notice. The purpose of the study of Eugenics is to know the kind of ancestors that we should pick for the next generation. A broader knowledge of this immensely important subject will lead to better men.

The Higher Sacrifice

By David Starr Jordan

90 cents postpaid

An appeal to college-trained youth to forego selfish or personal ambitions, and to devote their intelligent, money-getting power to the higher service of the common good, although they thereby sacrifice many opportunities for satisfying legitimate tastes and inclinations which their cultured outlook on life would enable them to appreciate and enjoy.

The Human Harvest

By David Starr Jordan

$1.10 postpaid

"A study of the decay of races through the survival of the unfit." A tremendous problem, involving the nation's and the race's future, is dealt with in a powerful, uncompromising, and convincing way that merits the attention of every serious student of present-day conditions and tendencies.

The Innumerable Company

By David Starr Jordan

60 cents postpaid

The account of an imaginary journey illustrating the diversity of paths into which differences of opinion in matters of religious doctrine lead searchers after truth, portrayed in rare sympathy of spirit and keenness of insight.

Life's Enthusiasms

By David Starr Jordan

90 cents postpaid

A little volume full of the high thoughts that give rise to noble and lasting impulses from the idealistic visions which animate youth to the steadfast purposes which guide maturer age.

The Religion of a Sensible American

By David Starr Jordan

$1.10 postpaid

The practical working religion of a leader and teacher of youth in a great university, as set forth by the President of that university, who intimately knew him and his influence.

The Story of a Good Woman

By David Starr Jordan

$1.00 postpaid

It is the story, as the author states early in his narrative, of "the six dark years from eighteen ninety-three to eighteen ninety-nine, those days in which the future of a university hung by a single thread, but that thread the greatest thing in the world—the love of a good woman."

The Strength of Being Clean

By David Starr Jordan

$1.35 postpaid

A brilliant White Cross address, showing the folly of the quest for unearned happiness, and treating of certain popular vices with reserve but with power.

Ulrich Von Hutten

By David Starr Jordan

85 cents postpaid

A venturesome, free-born spirit of the time of the Protestant Reformation, who took a valiant part in spreading the flame of religious and intellectual freedom.

Unseen Empire

A Study of the Plight of Nations that do not pay their debts

By David Starr Jordan

$1.35 postpaid

Dr. Jordan shows that civilized nations are all in their degree under the domination of a power stronger than kings or parliaments, more lasting than armies or navies, the unseen Empire of Finance. He further shows that this mastery is not now in the hands of individual men, however powerful, but that it has passed over into an impersonal Empire of Debt. Many of the essential statements which Dr. Jordan makes have been verified by leading bankers both in this country and abroad. There is an "unseen empire" that can to a certain, and perhaps to a large, degree sway the destinies of nations, and the method, if not the exact extent of it, is told in this highly informing and suggestive volume.

War and the Breed

By David Starr Jordan

12mo; 265 pages; $1.60 postpaid

One of the arguments advanced in favor of war is that great conflicts are necessary in the great world-scheme as "clearing storms for the population," just as a great plague in congested districts plays its part in natural selection. The author of War and the Breed opposes this assertion, bringing to strengthen his opinion a striking array of facts, showing that war reverses the process of natural selection and fails to promote the "survival of the fittest."

The men chosen for the armies are the flower of the nation, and the fathers of future generations are not those, therefore, who have been strong enough to escape the ravages of disease, but those who were physically unfit for the army or fortunate enough to escape death in battle.

Note—This set of sixteen volumes is particularly attractive for gift purposes. The price of the complete set is $16.

Ethical Aspects of Evolution

By J. C. Kimball

420 pages; $1.40 postpaid

A collection of lectures dealing with the relation of evolution to some of the ethical problems which the world has been trying to solve; together with six sermons. The author writes from a knowledge gained by years of careful study and experience and the book interests one, not only because of the vital importance of the subject which he discusses, but also because it reveals the man behind it all, with his sympathy for mankind, his independence of thought and—not the least—his fund of humor.

The Romance of Evolution

By J. C. Kimball

325 pages; $1.40 postpaid

While the title of this volume might be considered at first to be somewhat paradoxical, the author is convinced that evolution is vastly more romantic and beautiful than the fanciful and outworn theories of the past, that truth is infinitely stranger than fiction, that the phenomena of the universe, when revealed by the light of evolution, seem more wonderful than when seen in the unreal light of tradition and conjecture. The treatment of the subject is scholarly, revealing a wealth of intimate knowledge, and at the same time is of such a nature as to make the book appeal to the average reader.

Joshua James, Life-Saver

By Sumner I. Kimball

16mo; 102 pages; 85 cents postpaid. Vol. VI of "True American Types"

One of the finest types of American manhood is to be found in the crews of the United States Life-Saving Service. For quiet devotion to duty and unpretentious heroism the thrilling annals of the Service are unsurpassed. The subject of this sketch for sixty years gave himself unreservedly to this noble form of the world's work, and thereby became probably the best known life-saver in the world.

Great Companions

Compiled by Robert French Leavens

632 pages; $2.50 postpaid

"Great Companions" is a book of selections of prose and verse on the meaning and conduct of life, gathered from great writings of all recorded time. This "big little book," with 632 pages of text, 371 passages varying in length from a single sentence to several pages, with ample indexes, is printed in clear legible type and, because on India Bible paper, it is contained within a pocket edition. The editing has been done with scrupulous care to present only authentic data and texts.

The book is in three divisions: Man in the Universe, The Conduct of Life, The Commonwealth, each with its sub-topics and each selection with its separate title. Brief prefatory and footnotes accompany the quotations.

"Great Companions" has been enthusiastically received by the public, and has been highly commended and recommended by leading educators and by many other distinguished men and women.

The Touch of Nature

By Augustus M. Lord

Illustrated. 12mo; 152 pages; $1.15 postpaid

A delightful book for young or old, containing thirteen "little tales of great peoples." One travels with the author from the Flowery Kingdom of the Eastern seas to the green shore of the Emerald Isle, from the frigid air of the Norseland to the balmy breezes of sun-bathed Italy, and to the majestic forests of the American Indian. Although entertaining in a very real way, the book serves as well to give suggestive ideas concerning the manners, customs and characteristics of different peoples.

Self-Training for Motherhood

By Sophia Lovejoy

Paper; 16mo; 160 pages; 85 cents postpaid

Rarely has so much material of practical helpfulness been given briefly and interestingly upon the training of children. The volume written intimately as by an older, experienced friend to a young mother abounds in delightful suggestions as to the best ways of guiding the young from early childhood to maturer years. The book may well extend its influence beyond the mother in the home to the many mother associations connected with women's clubs, schools and churches.

A Study of the Christian Sects

By William H. Lyon, D. D.

Revised by John Malick

257 pages; $2.00 postpaid

A just and sympathetic account of the history and doctrines of the various religious bodies, setting forth the agreements and differences among them. The various chapters have been submitted to officials or prominent members of the sects under consideration, and in every case the suggested corrections have been made. It is an authentic presentation of the tenets of the various faiths. To those who desire the salient facts about their own church and to those who desire to learn about the doctrines of other churches, this book will prove of distinct value.

The Liberal Gospel

AS SET FORTH IN THE WRITINGS OF WILLIAM ELLERY CHANNING

Edited by Charles H. Lyttle, Th. D.

257 pages; $2.00 postpaid

This volume consists of one hundred and eighty-four selected passages from both the "Works" and the "Life of Channing." Dr. Lyttle has made his selection with intelligent care and an infallible instinct for the best of Channing's spirit. The extracts are prefaced with a brilliant Introduction, followed by an adequate Bibliography.

The Faith of the Incarnation

By Clay MacCauley

12mo; 429 pages; $1.60 postpaid

For people who want conscientiously to know the historical value of Christianity and who desire to understand how that faith has persisted through the centuries, this elucidating volume is heartily recommended. It is the personal experience of the author, gained through many years of ministry over American churches, both of the orthodox and the liberal faith, together with a long and faithful service as representative of the American Unitarian Association in Japan, where our cause under his hands has gained large influence and an enviable standing. The book has been printed in Japan, but feeling that many persons in this country would be interested in it we are glad to add it to our list, as an important contribution to modern religious thought and larger Christian fellowship.

The Marriage Service

White leather; 16mo; $1.55 postpaid

The form of ceremony in general use in the Unitarian churches. Attractively printed in two colors on Japanese vellum. Bound in white limp leather, stamped in gold, with special marriage certificate inserted. Each book encased in a white box. Particularly fitting as a wedding gift from the minister to the bride.

Endeavors After the Christian Life

By James Martineau

12mo; 449 pages; $1.25 postpaid

Strong, calm, strengthening discourses, which treat not of subjects whose interest is critical or speculative, but of the simplest truths and aspirations of the human heart; not of matters which lose interest with the changing aspects of theology, but of those fundamental principles of the religious life which profoundly affect human conduct.

Studies of Christianity

By James Martineau

12mo; 494 pages; $1.10 postpaid

It is indeed what its sub-title indicates, a volume of "Timely Thoughts for Religious Thinkers." "Take this volume for all in all, it is the product of a bold, independent and original mind; from the beginning to the end it throbs with life, is suggestive in almost every sentence, opens wide visions of thought on questions that concern the sublimest interests of the soul, and deals with them in a manner worthy of their sublimity."

Tides of the Spirit

By James Martineau

12mo; 198 pages; Paper, 35 cents postpaid

Made up of selections from the religious and devotional writings of Martineau, this little volume is in the nature of a manual of devout thought and rational piety, marked by passages combining clear moral vision and fine spiritual judgment, together with remarkable beauty of expression. The editor, Albert Lazenby, was a pupil of Martineau, and his critical exposition of the writings of his great teacher, as illustrated in the selected passages, forms a fitting introduction.

The Influence of Emerson

By Edwin D. Mead

12mo; 304 pages; $1.35 postpaid

Emerson's philosophy is here studied largely in its relation to modern scientific and ethical problems. Emerson anticipated in a multitude of ways the distinctive position of modern science, as Tyndall and so many other scientific leaders have strikingly testified. This is brought out with clearness and force in the first portion of the book. Nowhere perhaps is Emerson's thought more distinctly revealed than in relation to two of his great religious and literary friends, Theodore Parker and Carlyle, with whom he shows such affinities and such contrasts; with this topic the last two chapters deal.

The Art of Married Life

By George S. Merriam

16mo; Flexible leather, $1.25 postpaid;
Paper, 45 cents postpaid

The opportunities, privileges, joys, duties and mutual obligations of married life presented in a most persuasive and compelling way. Eminently fitted as a gift to newly married people, and for use by ministers for this purpose, it can be had with a marriage certificate bound in facing the title page (at no extra charge). The booklet is printed in red and black throughout and is exceptionally attractive.

In two bindings: white ooze flexible calf with ripple silk paper lining, and cover stamping in gold, boxed; also paper covers, stamped in ink, and enclosed in an envelope to match.

For the Benefit of My Creditors

By Hinckley G. Mitchell
With Foreword by Dallas Lore Sharp

Frontis. 8vo; 336 pages; $2.25 postpaid

The autobiography of the distinguished professor in Boston University School of Theology with all the important letters, and documents in the famous "heresy" case.

The story of Professor Mitchell's life records the incidents of his early boyhood, the period spent in Wesleyan University, the years of theological study in Boston and those spent abroad in post-graduate work. That section of the book, however, that recounts the experience of storm and stress where the author was denounced as a heretic, will hold the reader in alternating moods of pity for the victim and indignation toward those who persecuted him.

"..... Every minister in Methodism should purchase and read FOR THE BENEFIT OF MY CREDITORS, not simply for its biographical interest, but because the Mitchell case affords an instance of the tragic outcome of theological intolerance and doctrinal narrowness." Zion's Herald (Methodist).

Minister's Handbook

2 volumes; about 100 pages per volume; Leather $1.60 per volume

The product of a competent committee of the Unitarian fellowship, containing material essential to every minister in the conduct of his work. The arrangement is most modern, while in fullest sympathy with all that has proved best by established usage. Volume II presents a choice selection of poems from a vast field of material.

Sources of Faith and Hope

By Herbert H. Mott

150 pages; 85 cents postpaid

This book gives straight answers to the questions which a thoughtful and reverent young person would ask, had such a person never heard of a church or its teachings. The human soul, what reason have we for believing in its existence? What are the relations between the soul and the body? Why should the soul of a human being recognize any direct and personal relation with God? What are the eternal laws of right conduct? Why should this life be considered preliminary to a continued spiritual consciousness?

Such questions are met frankly, wisely and sympathetically. The book is written in the language that a wise father would use if instructing his own son—simple, concise and free from all mystifying technicalities.

Peter and Paul and Their Friends

By Helen Nicolay

290 pages; $1.25 postpaid

An interesting study, by an author of acknowledged ability, of the lines of the early Apostles, told in such an intimate manner that these New Testament characters become real people.

New Pilgrimages of the Spirit

168 pages; $1.65 postpaid

The proceedings and representative papers of the interesting Pilgrim Tercentenary Meeting of the International Congress of Religious Liberals which was held in Boston in the fall of 1920.

The Order of Evening Worship in the Meeting House on Star Island

$1.50 postpaid

The new edition of the Star Island Service Book has lost none of the attractive features of the original. The book, artistically printed in two colors, catches something of the illusive charm of the islands so dear to all Unitarians. There can be a no more fitting memento of happy hours spent at the Summer Meetings, nor a more suitable gift to some friend who is unable to attend.

Prayers

By Theodore Parker

12mo; 218 pages; $1.10 postpaid

"It is in the very spirit of devotion, the gentle or the martial, that these prayers were conceived and uttered. Like so many of his predecessors in the New England pulpit, Theodore Parker was 'mighty in prayer.' It was the natural language of his soul."—From the Memoir which F. B. Sanborn contributes to the volume. The Preface is by Louisa M. Alcott.

Views of Religion

By Theodore Parker

8vo; 466 pages; $1.15 postpaid

"A living book which will stimulate thought, kindle aspiration, quicken languid powers of devotion, and strengthen men in their belief in God, in their love of humanity, and in their hope of eternal life." The selections have been confined to Parker's religious affirmations, in which the warmth of heart and the devoutness of spirit of the man are best revealed. Parker believed with all his soul and strength in God, duty, and immortality. To him God was personal Friend, universal Father, whose worship filled his mind and heart.

The Works of Theodore Parker

Centenary Edition

15 volumes; 8vo; about 400 pages per volume; $1.15 per vol. postpaid

To one who is acquainted with the present drift in theology and knows the ever-broadening and rationalizing tendencies of modern religious thought, Theodore Parker spoke the truth when he affirmed, "The religion which I preach will be the religion of enlightened men for the next thousand years." In partial fulfilment of this prophecy it is to be noted that his writings have been translated into various modern languages and the vernaculars of India. It may safely be affirmed that he is the American theologian best known to the religious world in Europe to-day, and is more widely influential than any other on its religious thought and life.

In further realization of Parker's vision of future service the present complete and definitive edition of his writings is issued, having been made possible by the generous interest of a former supporter and friend of the great preacher, the late John C. Haynes of Boston, who thus desired to express his admiration and gratitude for the inspirer of his early manhood. No such valuable and authentic collection has been possible until now. The present edition aims to supply the existing need for a full, inexpensive and final collection of his writings, and it is hoped that it will create renewed interest in the utterances of this great preacher of personal religion and social reform, causing his word to go forth with undiminished inspiring and formative power to this and succeeding generations.

A complete index will be found in the last volume. The titles and editors of the volumes are as follows:

Volume I. A Discourse of Matters Pertaining to Religion. Edited by Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

The Creed of Epictetus

By Ulysses G. B. Pierce

268 pages; $1.50 postpaid

The author calls attention to the eminently practical character of the mind of Epictetus. He used homely and vivid figures of speech, clothing his thoughts in simple language. His are "the words of one who speaks in the open and whose concern is for the throngs in the highway of life." Those who have limited their reading of Epictetus to the Manual are unfortunate, for there are vast and varied stores of wisdom contained in the Discourses. In his arrangement he puts before the reader the best and most inspiring thought of Epictetus. Arrian, who recorded the sayings of Epictetus, was more faithful in his recording than he was skillful in arranging the Discourses of his teacher. The author has eliminated and systematized the messages. His aim was not to gather a volume of selections, but to organize and present the thoughts of Epictetus in such a way that they will be connected. He ignores Arrian's division of the material into the Discourses and the Manual, and his arrangement of the Discourses in books and chapters, but resolves the entire subject matter into its thought elements. The labor has been great, and readers of Epictetus will appreciate what he has done.

The Soul of the Bible

Edited by Ulysses G. B. Pierce

12mo; 544 pages; Cloth, $1.65 postpaid. Flexible leather, full gilt edges, narrow margins reducing the size to a 16mo, $2.50 postpaid

Selected passages from the Old and the New Testaments and the Apocrypha arranged as synthetic readings in Biblical order. Each reading is a literary unit, dealing with but one subject, and calculated to make a definite religious impression. In each selection the whole Bible is drawn upon as needed to develop the subject. Isolated passages are brought into natural relation with the larger thought of which they are generic parts, thus utilizing many short passages of great beauty and power which would otherwise be neglected because of their fragmentary character. The readings are presented in true literary form, prose and poetry being properly distinguished. The book is provided with a list of the readings suitable for various occasions, an index of topics, and a general index. The selections are representative of what is best in the Bible, and the method of selection is such as to reveal "the soul of the Bible," not as selections merely, but as scripture readings admirably adapted for use in church, school and home.

Pioneers of Religious Liberty in America

By Various Authors

8vo; 396 pages; Cloth, $1.65 postpaid; Paper, 60 cents postpaid

The well-known contributors to this volume set forth some of the great principles through which religious freedom in this country was achieved, and the connection with these principles of the great men who advocated them and gave them their enduring power. These eleven champions of religious freedom were truly pioneers in the work in which they became so conspicuous, and the significance of our present freedom of religious thought is made clear by this account of the inception and growth of the religious principles which constitute so valued a part of our religious heritage.

Proceedings of the American Unitarian Historical Society

Volume I—Part I and Part II

Part I, 56 pages; Part II, —— pages; $1.00 each, postpaid

Although the Unitarian Historical Society has had an active existence for a quarter of a century its Proceedings have hitherto not been printed.

Part I contains a complete report of the meeting of 1925 with the addresses by William Wallace Fenn, and Kenneth B. Murdock, together with a list of the addresses delivered from 1901-1925.

Part II—

The Democratic Ideal

By Milton Reed

12mo; 55 pages; 80 cents postpaid

A calm, rational, dispassionate survey of the democratic method of government, with an indication of those respects in which the American people are not living up to their highest principles, but pointing out in a reasonable spirit the simple truths needing recognition to hold us true in our course of apparently triumphant democracy. The author idealizes the American spirit and American traditions, and looks beyond the temporary expediencies of these over-feverish days for the ultimate attainment of our noble destiny as a great nation.

The Sea of Faith

By Milton Reed

12mo; 111 pages; 90 cents postpaid

Faith rationalized and humanized as an essential part of man is ever seeking modification and fresh expression, but always tending toward the moral and spiritual perfection of man. The religious instinct which manifests itself in faith in the things which are not seen is one of the most profoundly interesting phenomena in the evolution of human thought, and the author of this little volume traces for us the many phases of religious faith and points out its proper place as a moral force in the life and action of our own times. The historic review furnishes an excellent perspective for adequately surveying the present religious landscape.

Roumania Ten Years After

By a deputation from the American Committee on the Rights of Religious Minorities

143 pages; $1.50 postpaid

This book reveals what four representative Americans and one Frenchman saw during a visit to Roumania, which took them into every quarter of the greater kingdom established by the Peace Treaties. It surveys the political and economic background and gives an account of the political situation under the so-called Liberal Party. The condition of the minority peoples—Russian, Austrian, Hungarian, German, Jewish, and others is set forth as evidenced in the various institutions of their cultural life. The facts as set forth are in the interest of no prejudice and are handled with justice and fairness to all concerned.

Living in Earnest

By Charles E. St. John

99 pages; 85 cents postpaid

This book is a collection of daily readings selected from the sermons and writings of the late Rev. Charles E. St. John. Compiled with great care by Mrs. St. John it will prove a most delightful and absorbing book for old and young alike. It would be difficult to find a more interesting collection of readings for each day of the year, and to the invalid or person confined indoors will prove a source of comfort and courage. This volume is especially suited as a gift book.

The Religion of the Dawn

By Charles E. St. John

16mo; 87 pages; Paper, 35 cents postpaid

This small book states in brief compass, as the religious convictions of a working Unitarian minister, the ideals and points of view which seem to him the most helpful to human life. The author finds in the thought of a God who is infinitely more than the universal man, and of a soul that is more than its body and therefore immortal, a standard upon which religion must forever rest. In the final chapter the author refers to the social evils of the present time, and maintains that the deepest work the church can do towards correcting them is to strive more earnestly to give all men the courage and character that spring from a knowledge and obedience to truth. The motives of love, hope, and passion for truth must be aroused in men's hearts, and it must be done with a fresh intensity of appeal to man's intelligence. This work offers the straight path toward justice upon the earth.

The Passing and the Permanent in Religion

By Minot J. Savage

16mo; 163 pages; $1.00 postpaid

The author was among the first to appreciate the religious significance of the advance of modern science, and boldly to ally religion and science in providing a satisfactory religious interpretation of life to the modern man. He speaks to the mind and heart of the great public. He brings the greatest themes within the grasp of the average man.

This title has been out of print for a number of years, but is now offered in an inexpensive edition.

Pillars of the Temple

By Minot J. Savage

12mo; 226 pages; Paper, 60 cents postpaid

This volume deals with the cardinal points of religious belief from the author's Unitarian point of view, and goes far to clear up confused popular ideas about these truths. The pillars upon which this temple is reared are sturdy columns of rational religious conceptions which devoutly concern the development of the higher life. There are chapters on "God," "Christ," "Heaven," "Hell," "The Bible," "Inspiration," "Salvation," and "The Church."

A Century of Unitarianism in the National Capital

By Jennie W. Scudder

Issued under the Auspices of the Laymen's League Chapter of All Souls Church, Washington, D. C.

A brief but complete history of the Unitarian movement in Washington, D. C., with interesting side lights on the early struggle. It also reveals the sterling character and distinguished positions of the clergy and laity affiliated with this organization from the days of its foundation.

Services For Congregational Worship

(For use with the Hymn Book without Services)

Cloth, 60 cents; Leather, $1.10

The Book of Services for Congregational Worship for use in Liberal Churches contains five services for the five Sundays of each month, and also services for Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving, a Patriotic Service, a Service of Commemoration, and a Communion Service. The order of service is the form already familiar in many churches. It has had a natural growth, and is apparently best suited to modern requirements. There are also in the Service Book a number of carefully selected Prayers and Collects and a new arrangement of Responsive Readings from the Psalms, which it is confidently believed is one of the best ever compiled for general use.

The Nativity And The Consecration of Sir Galahad

By Eugene Rodman Shippen and Elizabeth Blount Shippen
Foreword by Percy MacKaye

Illustrated; 44 pages; $1.60 postpaid

These symbolic services were arranged expressly for presentation in the church. Seven full-page photographic illustrations and complete instructions for the simple setting, costuming and music are included in this volume. Three copies—one for the Director, one for "The Voice" and one for the Organist—are all that are required.

Sketches of Some Historic Churches of Greater Boston

By Various Authors

12mo; 150 pages; $1.60 postpaid

A decidedly interesting and remarkably complete story of the development of Unitarianism out of the hard, conservative Puritanism of early New England, as reflected in the history of twelve churches in Boston and vicinity.

Erick and Sally

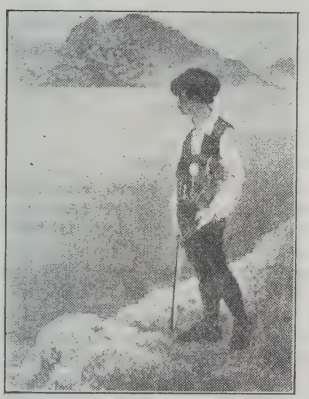
By Johanna Spyri
Translated by Helene H. Boll

Illustrated in colors; 12mo;
173 pages; $1.50 postpaid

Written by the author of "Heidi" for children of ten to fourteen years it possesses a real plot and mystery in which the little aristocrat stands the test of lonesomeness and wins friends that stand by him until his astonished grandfather takes him to his heart. Both "The Story of Rico" and "Erick and Sally" are charming and safe. They will both help in the difficult task of inculcating a right spirit in the early years of adolescence.

The Story of Rico

By Johanna Spyri



Translated by Helene H. Boll

Illustrated in colors; 12mo;
163 pages; $1.50 postpaid

A book, which is wholesome and has interest and charm, written by the author of "Heidi", for children of the adolescent period. It unfolds the story of a little Italian orphan violinist who wanders from the mountain heights of Switzerland to a beautiful lake in Italy, where, to his amazement, he finds that he is the legal heir to an extensive estate.

Captain Thomas A. Scott
Master Diver

By F. Hopkinson Smith

16mo; 76 pages; $1.10 postpaid. Vol. V of "True American Types"

Captain Scott, the head of the Scott Wrecking Company until his death, was a deep-sea worker and wrecker who had the reputation as a diver of going under water deeper and staying longer than any other man. Captain Scott is the original of Captain Joe in "Caleb West, Master Diver." At least two of the events here narrated would seem incredible from the pen of a less veracious biographer. Such heroism deserves this permanent record.

Social Ideals of a Free Church

By Various Authors

12mo; 150 pages; Cloth, $1.15 postpaid; Paper, 60 cents postpaid

Twelve papers of great interest and value to all students of social problems in their relation to the church by

Francis G. Peabody
Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer
Frederick Almy
Dr. Charles P. Putnam
Samuel M. Crothers
Elmer S. Forbes
Mrs. Annie L. Chesley
Edgar S. Wiers
James O. Fagan
Charles F. Dole
Paul R. Frothingham
Edwin A. Rumball

Edited by Elmer S. Forbes, Secretary of the Department of Community Service.

A remarkable combination of mature and progressive theory and successful practice. Indispensable for one seeking to keep pace with the best efforts in this great field.

Sons of the Puritans

By Various Authors

Illustrated. 12mo; 244 pages; $1.65 postpaid

The eleven men whose careers are here described were all efficient servants of the public welfare. They were successful men of affairs, yet in their various callings and professions they were dominated by ideals of private honor and public serviceableness which made their careers different from those of men who seek selfish ends. To read the record of these lives is to have our eyes and thoughts lifted to the heights of honor. To each of the following a chapter is given: George Frisbie Hoar, Morrill Wyman, Horace Gray, Charles Franklin Dunbar, Phillips Brooks, Francis Channing Barlow, Henry Sturgis Russell, Roger Wolcott, William Eustis Russell, Charles Eliot, and William Henry Baldwin, Jr.

The Story of the Isles of Shoals

By Louis C. Cornish

35 pages; 50 cents postpaid

Popular demand has necessitated this new revised edition of the address delivered by Dr. Cornish upon the occasion of the Twentieth Anniversary of the Unitarian Summer Meetings, together with a brief account of the ten years from 1916 to 1926. Unitarians everywhere will be interested in this significant story of the islands. The new version in its more attractive form will delight those who are familiar with the booklet in its original, and will make an excellent gift book for a Unitarian friend.

From the Gospel to the Creeds

By William L. Sullivan

12mo; 212 pages; $1.10 postpaid

The author sketches the growth of Christianity, from the time when the Beatitudes were sufficient to the time when the creeds were obligatory, showing how doctrines and practices not found in the original Gospel became incorporated with it, with unfortunate results. This work will aid careful students, in an age of creed-questioning and religious unrest to rediscover Jesus' teaching, and to find therein spiritual insight and reassurance.

The Priest

By William L. Sullivan

12mo; 269 pages; $1.35 postpaid

A strong appeal for what may be called, in a large sense, religion rather than art; for a faithful reproduction of a profound spiritual struggle rather than for the technical perfection of the narrative that describes it. To those who are interested in the deeper side of life, in this profounder region of reality, this contribution to the literature of a great movement will be found most acceptable.

Because Men Are Not Stones

By J. T. Sunderland

164 pages; $1.50 postpaid

Every thinking man and woman in this age of science must, at all times, but particularly in moments of tragedy and despair, ask the question:—Is there a God? Does he know and does he care? What is the answer? Can it be answered affirmatively? The author believes that it can. His answer is not of dogmas and theologies but is the response of the whole rational, ethical and spiritual nature of man.

This is a book of vital religion dealing with the most living experiences and faiths that man can know. It is for minds that dare to think, for hearts that long for a better world and souls that cry out for a God that is not dead. It is an appeal to an age starving for a living religion.

The Origin and Character of the Bible

By J. T. Sunderland

12mo; 322 pages; $1.65 postpaid

This book, an enlarged and revised edition of "The Bible: Its Origin, Growth, and Character," and brought up to date in every way, embodies the results of the latest investigations along these lines. With illustrative tables, lists of the best books for reading and study, and several entirely new chapters, it sets forth the facts forcibly, in the light of large knowledge, yet in an eminently candid, catholic, and reverent spirit. At once scholarly and popular, it is probably the best exposition of the new view of the Bible yet published.

Evolution and Religion

By J. T. Sunderland

12mo. 162 pages; Cloth, $1.65 postpaid

This book meets the wants of those who find themselves compelled to believe in the truth of the doctrine of evolution, but who are anxiously asking the question, Does it not disturb the foundations of Christianity? There are chapters on the Evolution of the World, of Man, of Religion; on Pain and Evil, Immortality, the Bible, Jesus, and Christianity in the light of Evolution. The effect of modern knowledge of evolutionary processes upon our intellectual, moral, and religious conceptions is explained. Rational application of accepted facts of science is made to the world of religious ideas, and the necessary modification in the old conception of things clearly pointed out.

"Theological Translation Library"

From the German

The purpose of this library is to afford in careful, accurate and authorized translations some of the most important works of the liberal German scholars and professors of world reputation. These books incorporate the results of the latest and ablest researches in biblical and Christian sources, written in the strongest light which the most recent study and exploration furnish.

The volumes so far issued are as follows:

The Jewish Religion in the Time of Jesus, by G. Hollmann. 12mo. 148 pages. $1.10 postpaid. See page 34.

The Apostolic Age, by E. von Dobschutz. 12mo. 144 pages. $1.10 postpaid. See page 21.

Christ: The Beginnings of Dogma, by Johannes Weiss. 12mo. 160 pages. Cloth, $1.35 postpaid. Paper, 85 cents postpaid. See page 64.

A Minister of God

By John Hamilton Thom

Edited with a Memoir by V. D. Davis.

12mo; 216 pages; $1.10 postpaid

This volume of selections from the occasional sermons and addresses of the author is one notable, as are all of his other books, for its spiritual insight. Professor L. P. Jacks, editor of the Hibbert Journal, writes in part as follows: "His published writings convey the simple utterance of a man of God. As such they will long survive their author, and long continue to touch the deepest springs of human life. The sermons of Mr. Thom form a lasting storehouse of the bread of life. They are the expression of a soul manifestly impelled to utterance by the power of the spirit. If, as some say, Time has a secret for sifting out and preserving the true grain of human speech, then surely the work of this man is a permanent addition to the spiritual treasury of the race."

A Free Catholic Church

By J. M. Lloyd Thomas

12mo; 116 pages; 90 cents postpaid

A plea for the universal church by the submergence of dogmatism in theological thought and the recognition of a common, natural, and earnest spirit of reverence, worship, and service. The author dwells only on essentials, and relegates non-essentials to their proper place. The result is a sketch of the common ground on which all sincere, Christian people can worship.

"True American Types" Series

A unique series of books of which the aim is to "set forth in separate little volumes short sketches of the sterling American manhood which travels along the bypaths of life rather than in the highways of fame."

The list of titles is as follows:

Vol. I. John Gilley, Maine Farmer and Fisherman, by Charles W. Eliot. 16mo. 72 pages. $1.10 postpaid. See page 25.

Vol. 11. Augustus Conant, Illinois Pioneer and Preacher, by Robert Collyer. 16mo. 94 pages. 85 cents postpaid. See page 14.

Vol. III. Cap'n Chadwick, Marblehead Skipper and Shoemaker, by John W. Chadwick. 16mo. 87 pages. 85 cents postpaid. See page 9.

Vol. IV. David Libbey, Penobscot Woodsman and River Driver, by Fannie H. Eckstorm. 16mo. 110 pages. 85 cents postpaid. See page 24.

Set of six volumes, complete, $5.00 postage paid.

The Unitarian Faith

set forth in fifty

Unitarian Hymns

60 pages: 85 cents postpaid

This collection of hymns has been selected from the large number written in the past one hundred years by men and women, all of whom have been known as Unitarians. The list of authors contains the names of fifteen Unitarian ministers, ten laymen, and three laywomen.

The multitudes who sing these hymns are usually quite unaware of their Unitarian origin, and are ignorant of the faith from which the writers drew their inspiration.

It is a hymnology of the Spirit, the song of those who have a cheerful interpretation of life.

Heroic Lives

By Albert R. Vail and Emily McClellan Vail

354 pages; $1.10 postpaid

A course of study based on the biographies of men and women eminent in history. Old and New Testament heroes, leaders of other great religions, heroes of thought and life, are chosen. The course opens to its readers the idea of religion as a universal endowment of humanity.

Twenty Years of Life

By Thomas Van Ness

12mo; 205 pages; $1.15 postpaid

These sermons have been selected by congregational vote,—one for every year during Mr. Van Ness's ministry, 1892-1912, at the Second Church, Boston, when on Copley Square. As a frontispiece is printed an excellent reproduction of its historic pulpit. The sermons themselves immediately impress the reader with their frequent evidences of the preacher's enthusiasm for humanity. The style is lucid and incisive, and the messages to which these sermons give voice are brave, vigorous and suggestive. Covering, as they do a period of twenty years, they reflect the religious thought which obtained during the closing years of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth. Being selected by congregational vote, the sermons reveal the especial interests of their time by showing not simply what subjects were uppermost in the preacher's mind, but what topics received the general approval of his hearers. They are valuable, therefore, in a historical sense, aside from the spiritual messages which they convey.

The Religion of New England

By Thomas Van Ness

205 pages; $1.60 postpaid

An unusual presentation, in a clear and concise way, of what has been happening, religiously, in New England since its early settlement by the Pilgrims and Puritans.

The author, during his long residence in Boston, has been fortunate in meeting and knowing personally most of those of whom he writes who, during the latter part of the 19th Century, figured prominently in contributing to what he calls "New England Religion." Among the more prominent of these are Ralph Waldo Emerson, Edward Everett Hale, Julia Ward Howe, and Mary Baker Eddy.

Sermons

By James Walker

8vo; 416 pages; $1.50 postpaid

These sermons were for the most part delivered in the college chapel to the students of Harvard University. A man of keen intellectual powers and great strength of character, Dr. Walker preached with deep conviction and abounding sympathy. Clearness of thought, force of logic, attractiveness of rhetoric, richness of diction, were all combined in making plain his convictions of right and duty.

Christ: The Beginnings of Dogma

By Johannes Weiss

12mo; 160 pages; Cloth, $1.35 postpaid; Paper, 85 cents postpaid

In this latest addition to the "Theological Translation Library" from the German, the celebrated professor and scholar of Heidelberg deals with the problem of the development of the dogma of the deity of Jesus Christ, and especially with the events of its earlier stages as found in the New Testament, tracing the different steps in the evolution of belief away from the simple humanity of Jesus toward his deification. And so the idea of Jesus being the "Christ" is the beginning of dogma in the early church.

The book is a study in evolution and in criticism. It is an excellent example of research into the language and limits of thought to be found in the New Testament scriptures. The author is here the man of science using his microscope; he is comparable to the chemist analyzing and synthesizing what he finds, and to real effect, for the labor ends in illuminating discovery.

At Christmas Time

By Charles W. Wendte

Illustrated; 12mo; 136 pages; 85 cents postpaid

The eight fascinating tales comprising this book, which have for their background the breadth of our continent and glimpses of Europe, are drawn from the varied personal experiences of the writer in his nearly fifty years of public service at home and abroad.

This inexpensive book is especially fitting as a Christmas gift.

Thomas Starr King, Patriot and Preacher

By Charles W. Wendte

5 Illustrations; 8vo; 344 pages; $3.25 postpaid

In the dark days of the Civil War, when the cause of the Union hung in the balance in California, this gifted preacher, popular lecturer and nature writer, by his political genius, his marvelous oratory, and utter devotion to country and humanity, became the saviour of California and shamed into obscurity the firmly-rooted attempt to form a separate Pacific Coast Republic. It was he who headed the movement to raise a million and a half dollars for the United States Sanitary Commission, the Red Cross of that day. In 1864, in his fortieth year, utterly exhausted, he paid the full sacrifice for the privilege of serving the twin causes of undivided Union and equal rights of all men, white and black, to which he was so devoted.

The people of California have treasured the memory of this great leader and recently their State Legislature voted an appropriation to place a marble effigy of Starr King in the National Hall of Fame, as one of the two representative heroes of Californian history.

The Wider Fellowship

By Charles W. Wendte

483 pages, Vol. I; 696 pages, Vol. II; $10.00 per set postpaid, sold separately at $5.50 per volume, postpaid
There are 200 illustrations in these two volumes

Dr. Wendte has told his life story simply and fully, and incidentally has been very kind and appreciative of the men he has met, most of them persons of character and historic importance. His trips to Europe, the men he met, the friendships he formed, the movements he went through or formed a part of, are not only interesting but valuable.

It is no mere biography or selection of facts. It is a story of three-score years of vital life, individual and denominational, and as full of interest as any novel. It is history and romance, and a gratifying record of progress in religious thought and feeling.

Dramatic Services of Worship

By Isabel K. Whiting

With Foreword by Samuel M. Crothers

220 pages; $2.00 postpaid

This book of ten Dramatic Services has been arranged for the training of youth in the experience of worship. The traditional church days and times of special religious significance have been chosen for commemoration. Important episodes in Bible history and literature, and memorial records of devoted spiritual leaders have been set in dramatic form within the ritual of a religious service. Complete instructions are furnished for the simple settings, costuming, and music.

From Desert to Temple

By Eleanor Wood Whitman

Illustrated; 304 pages; $1.25 postpaid

The Old Testament story is set forth so graphically that the Hebrew people seem to live again, and the Biblical writings actually throb with human interest. The approach is vital rather than literary and especial attention is given to the life, work and influence of the Great Hebrew prophets.

Our Unitarian Heritage

By Earl Morse Wilbur

496 pages; $2.00 postpaid

This book traces the work of the Spirit of Truth through the Christian centuries, culminating in the Unitarian movement in America. The purpose is to acquaint Unitarian young people with their rich religious inheritance, and to summon them to such breadth of view and fervency of devotion as shall befit those so richly endowed.

Talks to Young People on Ethics

By Clarence Hall Wilson and Edwin Fairley

224 pages; $1.00 postpaid

The fundamental assumption of this book is that young people intend to do what is right and are willing to take chances in carrying out a worthy life program. Here is no appeal to "play safe," but a challenge to think, choose, act, and take the consequences. It is the virile life rather than cloistered virtue that is commended. Chapters treating such topics as The Battle of Life, The Grand Adventure, Courage, Liberty and Mastery, and, for the climax Getting Square with the World, indicate the character of the discussion. The body of the book is by Dr. Clarence Hall Wilson. The Questions, Problems, and Suggestions for Reading, which follow each chapter, make the book of inestimable value and constitute a new and significant step forward, by the successful introduction of the case method in teaching religion and morals. These have been prepared by Rev. Edwin Fairley, New York Secretary of the Department of Religious Education.

The Little Red Wonder Book

By Lewis G. Wilson

Illustrated. 16mo; 64 pages; 55 cents postpaid

"A Faith Book of Religion for Little Children," with entertaining pictures and jolly thumb-nail sketches. The brief chapters are arranged in the form of intimate and simple questions and answers intended to bring the teacher and the small tot into a mutual and close understanding, and to teach the child through its personal relationships the beauty and value of religion. Attractively bound in decorated red covers.

Some Ethical Phases of the Labor Question

By Carroll D. Wright

12mo; 207 pages; Cloth, $1.15 postpaid; Paper, 35 cents postpaid

An important book written from the ethical point of view by a former U. S. Commissioner of Labor, who until his death was the leading authority in this country on industrial problems and labor conditions. The contending forces of modern industrialism will result in a candid examination, to quote the author, "into the treatment of the uses of wealth, as well as its accumulations, distribution, and exchange, and incited discussion upon the relations of labor and capital on an ethical basis, combining with the old question the old school always asks, 'Will it pay?' another and higher query, 'Is it right?'"

The Spikenard and Other Sermons

By Stopford A. Brooke

138 pages; $1.35 postpaid

These sermons have been printed from the manuscripts left by Dr. Brooke upon his death. They are uncompromisingly veracious attempts to show the power and beauty, in life and thought, of a non-miraculous Christianity.

The First Three Gospels

By J. Estlin Carpenter

418 pages; $1.10 postpaid

Whoever would try to know and understand Jesus must study the Synoptic Gospels with care and diligence, and especially in their relations to the Fourth Gospel. The Fourth Evangelist, for instance, sought to combine two widely separate ideas, that of the Jewish Messiah and the Greek Word. In the synoptic narratives, however, are there any traces of like processes? Are their stories genuine deposits of trustworthy tradition? Or do they, too, betray the influence of the beliefs and hopes of their narrators? This is the inquiry to which this volume is devoted, and although difficult and by no means altogether positive in its conclusions, it is surely well worth the time and effort spent in the study.

Life in Palestine When Jesus Lived

By J. Estlin Carpenter

184 pages; $1.10 postpaid

It does not require to read more than half-a-dozen pages to feel that our attention is not likely to flag during the rest of the volume. The country, people, government, and religion are all discussed in turn—nothing hurried or curtailed, every sub-division given its due share and the result is a whole upon which the author may fairly be congratulated.

Story of an Old Meeting House

By J. M. Connell

Imported publication

125 pages; $1.60 postpaid

This absorbing story is of more than local interest; for it is typical of the history of nearly two hundred old Meeting Houses in the United Kingdom. It will help Unitarian readers to a more intimate knowledge of their spiritual ancestry, and to a clearer understanding of the causes which brought about the change of doctrine from Calvinism to the Unitarianism of Liberal Christianity that is now preached in their pulpits.

The book is beautifully illustrated with five pen drawings by Edmund H. New.

Fundamentals of Unitarian Faith

By Frederick M. Eliot

87 pages; $1.00 net

In this book of Mr. Eliot's we have five sermons dealing with the following subjects:—1, Unitarian Faith in Human Nature; 2, Unitarian Faith in God; 3, Unitarian Faith in Leadership; 4, The Unitarian Conception of Prayer; 5, Unitarian Faith in Action. These are sermons which were preached by him in Unity Church, St. Paul, Minnesota, October, 1926.

Unitarian Thought

By Ephraim Emerton

311 pages; $1.35 postpaid

To those who wish to know the fundamental beliefs of the Unitarians this book will prove most helpful and valuable.

"A book intended 'neither to excite controversy nor to settle it, but only to state fairly its own constructive propositions.' . . . Every reader will admit that the author has succeeded in doing what he set out to do. The result is a distinct service to clear thinking, whatever the impression may be as to the distinctive value of Unitarian thought or its satisfactoriness as an adequate interpretation of the world fact of Christianity itself."—Chicago Tribune.

Modern Religious Verse and Prose

An Anthology

By Fred Merrifield

471 pages; $3.50 net

These selections are chosen from the best modern poets, essayists, novelists, and dramatists. They cover the entire range of human emotions from hope to despair and from the spirit of calm confidence in the divine order of things to the spirit of adventurous faith in the limitless powers of man.

The Place of Judaism Among the Religions of the World

By Claude G. Montefiore

61 pages; $1.35 postpaid

A distinct contribution to a true understanding of the aims and hopes animating Jewish hearts throughout England and America. One would have to go a long way to find a more admirably succinct and altogether illuminating statement of the present mission of Judaism as it is conceived by its own best teachers and leaders.

Humanist Sermons

Edited by Curtis W. Reese

262 pages; $2.50 net

The religious world in our time is in a state of disturbance and upheaval such as it has not known since the age of the Protestant Reformation. It is not too much to say that Protestantism is breaking up today, just as Catholicism was breaking up in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. Great movements of unrest are everywhere abroad.

Within the liberal churches of America there is a religious movement which has come to be known as Humanism. The present volume is a collection of sermons which have been used in the regular course of parish preaching by Humanist ministers.

A Far Journey

By Abraham Mitrie Rihbany

352 pages; $3.15 postpaid

Some twenty years ago a young Syrian landed at New York, with nine cents in his pocket, to seek his fortune in the New World. To-day he is pastor of one of the most famous churches of America. In "A Far Journey" he tells the story of his life, a story stranger and more interesting than a novel. The story of his childhood glows with that strange mixture of Oriental imagery and Christian faith so characteristic of the Holy Land. In his journey to America the lad crossed a gap of twenty centuries, and henceforth the record is of intellectual growth and spiritual adventure. As a revelation of what America can offer to her adopted children, this book will be a splendid inspiration to every reader.

Seven Days With God

By Abraham Mitrie Rihbany

254 pages; $2.65 postpaid

In these days of spiritual questioning and unrest this book will bring hope and inspiration to thousands of readers, for Dr. Rihbany shows that notwithstanding all the noise and din of our machinery, the things which give us real hold on life and make it seem worth while are the spiritual realities. Therefore our real "business" is with God, even if we may not always know it. This world is not divided between God and Caesar. The life of the soul is a unity; it is either loyal to God or not loyal.

The Syrian Christ

By Abraham Mitrie Rihbany

436 pages; $3.15 postpaid

There is unusual significance in this study and interpretation of Jesus Christ by a Syrian who came to America a penniless immigrant and who now occupies the pulpit made famous by James Freeman Clarke. Conditions of life in the Orient have changed but little since the days of Jesus, and the author's own experience has enabled him to illuminate from a new angle the life and teachings of Christ and to reproduce for Western readers the original atmosphere of the Bible. Written in a simple and reverential manner, without technicalities or doctrinal appeal, it is distinctly a volume for the home library as well as the minister's study.

Wise Men from the East and from the West

By Abraham Mitrie Rihbany

301 pages; $2.50 postpaid

A notable interpretation of the East to the West. The author explains the Eastern type of mind, analyzes the religious, industrial, and social differences, considers the reasons for the present revolt of the East against European domination, and points out the remedies for present conditions. A Syrian by birth, now one of America's leading clergymen, the author thoroughly understands the viewpoint both of the Orient and of the Occident, and his book deserves the widest attention here and abroad.

The Living Word

THE BIBLE ABRIDGED

By Henry Hallam Saunderson

727 pages; $3.25 postpaid

Those passages from the Old and New Testament, having the most beauty and spiritual value, are woven together into chapters of convenient length for reading in the church service or in the home. The value of the book is enhanced by its three full indexes.

The Power of An Endless Life

By Henry Hallam Saunderson

114 pages; $1.10 postpaid

Faith in immortality is here presented from a new viewpoint. The central idea is that only a conviction of immortality can dignify and purify human life.

Some Timeless Messages of the Christian Faith

By Frederic W. Smith

179 pages; $1.60 postpaid

This book contains a series of sermons preached by Rev. Frederic W. Smith, the Unitarian pastor at Newburgh, New York, during the past year. Very seldom does one have the opportunity of reading such a delightful collection of inspirational and religious talks. The Authority of Jesus, The Twentieth Century Christian, and The World Mission of America are among the topics discussed. The book is dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Annie Delano Hitch and contains an appreciation of her life of Christian service.

Week Day Sermons in King's Chapel

BY VARIOUS AUTHORS

Edited with Introduction by Harold E. B. Speight, D.D.

184 pages; $1.85 postpaid

These sermons were delivered to a week-day congregation from the oldest pulpit in the United States by some of the country's ablest preachers, of various denominations, and by two visitors from Canada and Great Britain, Principal Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, and Dr. L. P. Jacks of Oxford. The emphasis throughout is upon a simple gospel adequate to meet universal needs. This volume is a shining example of the way that representative leaders of many denominational affiliations, who approach theological questions from different viewpoints, can and do find and express a real religious unity when they are ministering to the spiritual needs of men and women in the midst of the work and worry of the business day.

Letters to His Holiness

By William L. Sullivan

280 pages; $1.60 postpaid

These letters are not intended to create a sensation, but to prepare for a future, which, in moments of enthusiasm, seems near at hand. They have a twofold purpose. On the one hand, our author wants to make the Curia feel its enormous responsibility, and on the other hand, to educate both priest and layman for the work of reconstruction. This book is both educational and constructive. It attacks nothing that Truth itself and Progress are not attacking—and it has something to offer for all that it takes away. Every word of it is written in sincerity, and many words of it were written in feelings which, if possible, are deeper still.

Progressive Christianity

By William A. Vrooman

377 pages; $2.65 postpaid

In its survey of the most important religious topics, "Progressive Christianity" presents a graphic summary of Romanist, Fundamentalist, Modernist and Unitarian views largely in the language of their own respective spokesmen. Its method is expository and historical rather than controversial, but the author makes no effort to conceal the fact that he is a liberal.

EDITORIAL FROM THE NEW YORK WORLD,
MONDAY, JULY 9, 1928.

AMONG writers of to-day one detects a desperate striving for what, in the lack of a better word, could be called gusto. Once it was an authentic part of the national literature. In the writings of Bret Harte, Mark Twain and Jack London you will find it on every page. There was a touch of the fabulous about what these men wrote, for the reason, no doubt, that there was a touch of the fabulous about the world that they wrote about. But that world, it hardly needs saying, has to a large degree passed. The old frontier days are no more, the old swashbuckling streak has gone out of American manhood. We have become civilized. It is extremely painful, then, to watch a number of the writers of this generation as they hammer hard on their typewriters, striking the exclamation point at the end of every other sentence, in an effort to capture the old glow. It is not there. And when it is lugged in, so to speak, in a false synthetic version, the effect is much like having your tea sweetened with saccharine.

There comes to hand, however, a piece in which it comes to life again with all its preposterous charm. This is a piece called "Shanty Irish," by Jim Tully. . . . . Of course, it has nothing to do with the neat world we live in now. It is about the good old days, the days of Tully's boyhood, when he lived with his mother, his father, his brothers and sisters, and his dog Monk, in a little cabin in the Ohio woods. The leading character in it is Old Hughie, Tully's grandfather, an Irish peddler who exchanged wit for drinks. When he gets to Hughie, Tully abandons the bitterness, the tediously belligerent mood that marks most of his work, and does simple justice to his subject. The result is this thing that we have just been talking about, this quality of the fabulous, all the more irresistible because it is strange to Tully and he does nothing to force it. Hughie's big scene is where he engages in a drinking bout with a stranger, a gentleman who lost his own leg in the battle of Bull Run, and who is now taking up a collection to buy a wooden one. The issue is joined over the relative merits of beer and whiskey. A thin sort of issue for a fabulous yarn? Read it and see. This thing soars up into the vaulted blue; it will be away over your head as you read it; it was, one imagines, away over the head of Tully. It is, we submit, literature. In it, for a moment, the national letters have a glorious reversion to the roaring vigor of yore.

Shanty Irish

by JIM TULLY

THE story of two families who came from Ireland to America during the Great Famine of 1846. With its tales of brawls and battles, of drinking contests, of the author's uncle who served thirteen years in the Ohio Penitentiary and died a banker under an assumed name in Canada, SHANTY IRISH has all the imagery, the realism, the virile characterization of BEGGARS OF LIFE. While this earlier book was an autobiography only of Jim Tully's hobo days, the memories of his childhood, his family, and their friends, so tenderly portrayed in SHANTY IRISH bring out all the wistfulness and sardonic wit of his Irish ancestry. Tully has written a direct, vivid study of certain types of peasants adjusting themselves to America.

Boston

by UPTON SINCLAIR

THIS novel, inspired by the heat and fury of the Sacco and Vanzetti case, paints a vivid picture of present-day New England civilization. So close to life has Mr. Sinclair kept, that all classes of society from Italian laborers and anarchist agitators to bankers, judges and governors will imagine themselves portrayed on this great canvas. A narrative full of drama and social contrast, ending in a heartbreaking climax and written in the usual brilliant and daring style of the author of "OIL!"

12mo, cloth, 400 pages. $2.50

(To be published in September)

For a complete list of Upton Sinclair's other books see index page 43.

"The decision to write this novel was taken at nine-fiteen P.M. (Pacific Coast time), August 22nd, 1927: the occason being a receipt of a telephone message to the effect that Sacco and Vanzetti were dead. It seemed to the writer that the world would want to know the truth about this case; and his judgment proved correct, because there began a flood of cablegrams and letters from five continents asking him to do the very thing he had decided upon.

"The story of business and high finance which parallels the Sacco-Vanzetti case throughout the book is a section of contemporary Boston history. But the persons who play parts in this melodrama of banking are fictional. . . . An honest effort has been made to portray a complex community exactly as it is. The story has no hero but the truth, and its heroines are two women, one old and the other young, who are ardently seeking the truth."

From the Preface to Boston

Armed With Madness

by MARY BUTTS

"THE STORY of five Englishmen and one girl during a week's life . . . what goes on becomes exciting and unpredictable. Aldous Huxley and William Blake walking hand in hand, with what results one can perhaps imagine."

—The New York Times.

"MISS BUTTS etches events and persons with delicate hair lines, leaving the active mind the process of filling in the color and heft. So that reading her book is a delicious exercise, as if one experienced mind as an actual mechanism within his own body."

—Elizabeth Madox Roberts.

The Rise and Fall of Rogoff

by MORRIS MARKS and JACOB GINSBERG

THE authors of this unusual novel are widely known men in business circles. They draw their story from the life of a typical New York merchant who arose from the darkness and repression of old Russia through the zenith of power as one of the great industrial factors of America, to his downfall. It is felt that every merchant, professional man, banker and credit man, in fact, all connected with the business world, will find in this novel truth and entertainment.

The Rejected Messiah

by SALOMON POLIAKOV

THE REJECTED MESSIAH is an interpretive novel based on the life of the most famous of the false or pseudo Messiahs, Sabbatai Zevy. Against a vivid background of the Near East during the days of Mohammed IV, Poliakov has created a rich and sympathetic picture of this romantic character.

In many ways the book is more than a romance; it is a defense of Sabbatai Zevy. For though he has formerly been treated as a brilliant and picturesque charlatan, Poliakov has painted him as a great leader of men, a man who possessed something of the divine. Thus we see Sabbatai rise to the zenith of popularity, and we see his romantic love affair with a beautiful young prostitute whom he believes was destined to be his wife; we see the days of his great trial, and his tragic downfall.

Written with simplicity and directness the book has all the qualities of profoundly philosophic drama. In many respects Poliakov's handling of the theme resembles that of George Moore's interpretation of Christ in the BROOK KERITH.

Poliakov is a Russian, the author of several plays which have been widely translated and produced in Europe, notably by the company of the dramatist Pirandello, in Rome last year.

12mo, cloth, 288 pages. $2.50.

Men Atwhiles are Sober

by STEPHEN RAUSHENBUSH

HERE men and women move and meet across the thin frontier which divides great scarring emotion from the comfortable witty land of sophistication in which people are not hurt.

This is no story of overdelicate surfaces, nor of people tired, ineffectual and unimportant. Lathrop Baker, with his genius for punishment, with his simultaneous love for his girl and his wife, ranges impetuously and brutally between intimacies, unable to protect the two women or himself from deception and pain. His drunken ecstasy and dream bring him up short, dead sober, his heaven for all time behind him. From there he goes on, humbly trying to undo the harm he has caused, plunging forward brilliant and lost.

A penetrating story of the romantic temperament seeking life in its most unfavorable climate, the present age.

The Cardinal's Mistress

by BENITO MUSSOLINI

A YOUTHFUL romance by Benito Mussolini, Dictator of Italy. The novel is written with a fervid passion of a young Italian viewing life and love in the early years of maturity. It is a romantic tale of the licentious Renaissance, when moral standards were very different from now. Proud princes and lovely courtesans, noisy demagogues and sly conspirators, pass through the pages of the story, whose plot is spun amid the romantic setting of the Trentine Alps.

The title is that given to the volume by the author himself. The narrative is richly colored and pulsating with the energy characteristic of the Duce. While the book is above all a daring and impassioned story of love and intrigue in Seventeenth Century Italy, many will find in it unconscious self-revelations of the man who is perhaps the most hotly debated figure in contemporary Europe.

At the time of writing the author was but twenty-six years old and was an extreme free-thinker in regard to religion and morals.

THORNTON WILDER

Author of

The Cabala

and

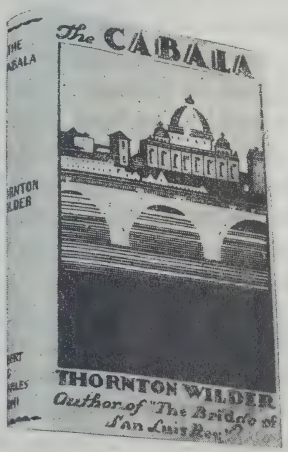
The Bridge of San Luis Rey

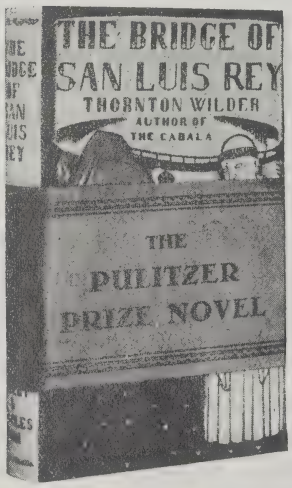
HIS THIRD NOVEL

The Woman of Andros

WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE FALL OF 1929

The Two Most Discussed Books of the Decade





The style, the scene, the point of view of the Cabala is very much under the Aldous Huxley manner. This is not cited as a fault. To write something like Huxley is a considerable achievement. But to write the "Bridge" is better.

Heywood Broun

A vivid and very personal experience. We recommend that when you have finished the "Bridge" you search out the Cabala and read that too.

Vanity Fair

IN NOVEMBER, THERE WILL BE PUBLISHED A NEW EDITION OF EACH OF THESE BOOKS, LIMITED TO 950 COPIES EACH. THEY WILL BE DESIGNED BY A WELL-KNOWN TYPOGRAPHER, AS YET UNDECIDED, AND PRINTED ON ALL-RAG, WATERMARKED PAPER. The Cabala WILL CONTAIN MANY REVISIONS BY MR. WILDER.

The price of each volume will be $25.00.

A Research in Marriage

by Dr. G. V. HAMILTON
Director of the Division of Psychological Research, Bureau of Social Hygiene, Inc., New York, N. Y.
(Scientific Edition)

DOCTOR G. V. Hamilton, an eminent psychiatrist who has been doing a research in marriage under a special grant, presents here the results of his much-discussed study of two hundred married men and women of New York. During the four years given to the work each of the hundred wives and the hundred husbands was given an intimate, detailed personal examination. Material of very wide range has thus been gathered together under the critical method of scientific research. This volume contains the whole body of statistics thus gathered and the accompanying text and interpretation have been made readable for others than physicians. The material is obviously of the greatest interest to other professionals—lawyers, clergymen, educators, sociologists, psychologists, etc.
The sale of this volume is restricted to the following: Members of the American Medical Assn., the American Psychiatric Assn., the American Psychological Assn., the American Sociological Soc., and the American Philosophical Soc., and to Christian and Jewish clergymen, officials of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., practicing lawyers, jurists, and biologists.

A Research in Marriage

by Dr. G. V. HAMILTON
Director of the Division of Psychological Research, Bureau of Social Hygiene, Inc., New York, N. Y.
(General Edition)

THIS condensation and interpretation of the findings of Dr. G. V. Hamilton's study of two hundred married men and women is offered to the general public. Here in these two volumes is presented for the first time extensive, frank, and intimate testimony on marriage from normal men and women examined under controlled scientific conditions.

8vo, cloth, 352 pages. $5.00.

(To be published in September)

The Life and Private History of Emily Jane Brontë

by ROMER WILSON

EMILY BRONTE is doubly fortunate in her latest biographer, for Miss Romer Wilson (whose novel THE DEATH OF SOCIETY, it will be remembered, won the Hawthornden Prize) is not only a particularly vigorous writer, but she has made use of much hitherto untouched evidence for her book, which will shed an entirely new light upon the authoress of WUTHERING HEIGHTS, and which will include illustrations of exceptional interest. It will be not only a contribution to serious biography but a really readable book. No other account of Emily Brontë is quite so full or has such distinction.

8vo, cloth, 429 pages. Illustrated. $4.00.

POETRY

Now the Sky, and Other Poems

by MARK VAN DOREN

THE author's third volume of poems, succeeding SPRING THUNDER (out of print) and 7 P.M. It represents a distinct advance in power and a welcome extension in range, the subjects having more to do with man and less to do with pure nature. The title poem has appeared in a number of anthologies, and most of the others will be known to readers of the Dial, the New Republic, the American Caravan, the Nation, Scribner's, and Books of the New York Herald-Tribune.

12mo, boards, 160 pages. $2.00.

Anthology of World

Edited by MARK VAN DOREN

HERE for the first time the poetry of the world is made accessible to English readers. The publishers are confident that this volume will win immediate recognition as an editorial achievement of the highest order. Hitherto, to those not possessing knowledge of the original languages, the lyric beauty of most of the world's literatures has been a closed treasure house. Except for scattered selections in odd volumes, English readers have been unable to obtain an adequate survey of the lyric genius of any country.

Now this volume brings together the full chronological anthologies of the poetry of China, Japan, India, Persia, Arabia, the Hebrews, Egypt, Greece, Italy, Spain, France, Germany, Scandinavia, Russia, Great Britain and America. No translations have been included unless they seemed to the editor beautiful poems in their English renderings. The emphasis has been placed upon the quality of the translations and the translators, and the list of the latter is almost a list of the best English and American poets.

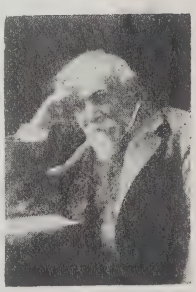
A few of the authors included are: Li Po, Hitomaro, Kalidasa, Omar Khayyam, Hafiz, Sappho, Euripides, Horace, Dante, Calderon, Villon, Baudelaire, Goethe, Heine and Ibsen, while the English, Irish and American section constitutes an original anthology in itself. Some of the translators are: Arthur Waley, E. Powys Mathers, Symonds, Rossetti, E. A. Robinson, Gilbert Murray, Swinburne, William Cowper, Dryden, Milton, A. E. Housman, Louis Untermeyer, Santayana, and some hitherto unpublished translations by William Ellery Leonard, Max Eastman, Allen Tate, et. al.



This volume must take its place among the standard anthologies as indispensable to every library and poetry lover.

Small octavo, cloth (gold stamping), 1,500 pages. $4.00.

Adventures of An African Slaver

by CAPTAIN CANOT

Edited with an introduction by Malcolm Cowley. Illustrated and book design by Miguel Covarrubias.

ADVENTURES OF AN AFRICAN SLAVER is a true story of slaving on the Guinea Coast, of slave-smuggling in the Caribbean, and of piracy, mutinies, and sea-fights in the Middle Passage.

It deals with a time at which the slave trade had already been outlawed and when slavers received the same swift punishment as pirates. Under the whip of danger, the picturesqueness and cruelty which had always characterized the trade were incredibly magnified and the Guinea Coast became the theatre of such adventures as the world has rarely seen.

Young soldiers and sailors, robbed of a profession by the ending of the Napoleonic wars, enlisted by hundreds in this desperate profession. Their love of danger helped to make it possible. In return, it satisfied their thirst for the unknown; it led them, over new horizons, towards battles, disease, strange lands, strange women, long cruises over forbidden waters, rivers of champagne, rum, brandy, and, at the end of the voyage, a last magnificent carouse on the paseo of Havana.

Captain Theodore Canot was a leader among these men. He was French by birth and American by adoption, but his real character was that of an Italian condittiero, born four centuries out of his time. Like his great prototype, he was suave, ambitious, politic and unforgiving. He had many vices and few weaknesses. His feelings usually repressed, burst forth in terrible rages, and the natives called him Mr. Gunpowder.

From piracy to slaving, from a French prison to the quarterdeck of an American brig, from Manhattan to the highlands of Futa Jallon, he went seeking money and danger. Finally, at the end of his dark career, sitting like Trader Horn before a scribe, he told his exploits to the journalist Brantz Mayer, who, in a bombastic and picturesque style, has preserved the memory of this admiral of fortune.

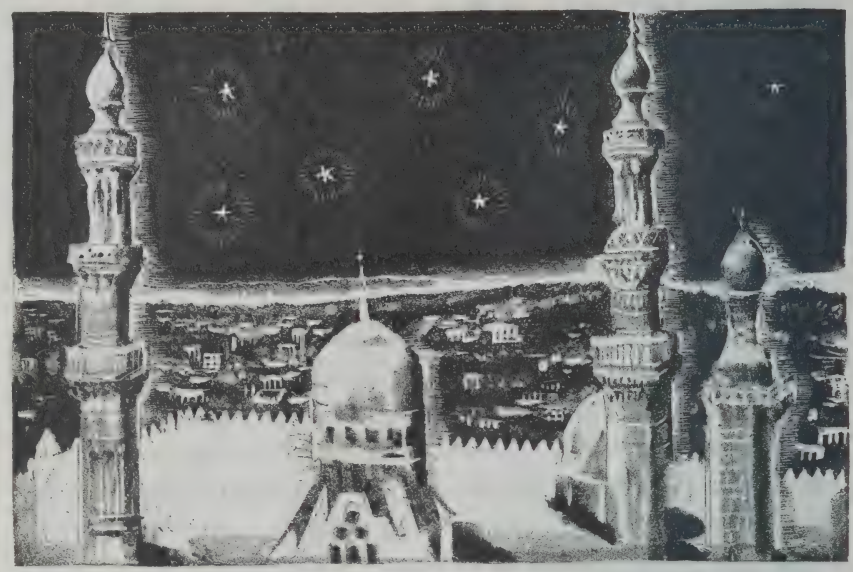
Baron Munchausen

Introduction by THOMAS SECCOMBE

OF the fantastically mendacious type of literature, "Munchausen" was the modern original, and remains the classical example. The adaptability of such a species of composition to local and topical uses might well be considered prejudicial to its chances of obtaining a permanent place in literature. Yet "Munchausen" has undoubtedly achieved such a place. The Baron's notoriety is universal, his character proverbial, and his name as familiar as that of Gulliver or Robinson Crusoe. Munchausen's travels have obtained such world-wide fame, that the story of their origin possesses a general and historic interest apart from whatever of obscurity or of curiosity it may have to recommend it.

8vo, cloth, 299 pages. Illustrated. $4.00.



An Indian Journey

by WALDEMAR BONSELS

THERE are two classes of travelers. The first class is made up of persons who go to a foreign country to wonder why it is so different from their own; the second, of persons who go to understand the differences. It is to the second class that Waldemar Bonsels, author of AN INDIAN JOURNEY, belongs.

He remains, indeed, an European throughout his journey, never really losing himself in the welter of life through which he moves. But he writes as a naturalist, a poet, and a philosopher. As naturalist he faithfully describes the scene and its inhabitants—earth and sky, plants, animals and men. As poet he goes beyond mere description, touching whatever he writes about with a color which does not falsify the thing itself but only indicates the mood which it has aroused in him. As philosopher he seeks to find a meaning in all these unfamiliar phenomena; seeks, that is, to bring them together in coherent patterns which can be grasped by the reason. And in addition he has filled his book with vivid details which by readers who are neither naturalists, nor poets, nor philosophers may be looked at almost as if this were a book of pictures.

India has been the subject of a great deal of discussion among American readers during the past year, but it is impossible to exhaust the interest which may be taken in a civilization which is at once so ancient and so primitive. To all that has been published on the subject, AN INDIAN JOURNEY adds something as fresh as it is substantial.

The first reviews of An Indian Journey

"From the first page this book possesses the fascination of a fine work of art. From start to finish it is a complete pleasure. Bonsels is both a part of India and the thoughtful European, conscious of his own inherited racial wisdom, even of his prejudices. A book such as this is not met with once a year."

—Bruce Gould in the N. Y. Evening Post.

"A fine piece of work. Every line of it rings with authenticity. His book is worth many Mother Indias for those who wish to understand a little of a strange people in a distant land through the eyes of a sympathetic and unselfrighteous observer."

CREATIVE ART

A Magazine of Fine and Applied Art

Edited by LEE SIMONSON

CREATIVE ART is the world's leading journal of modern arts and crafts. For over thirty years a section of this publication has appeared in England under the title of THE STUDIO.

CREATIVE ART is international in character, representing the best work that is being done in every important country in the world. It reproduces, month by month, the best of the world's contemporary art. It takes Art as a whole within its province. Painting and the graphic arts are strongly represented, but no craft is overlooked which tends to bring some element of beauty into the surroundings of everyday life. It is a mirror not only of the "Fine Arts," but also of the latest developments in the "Applied Arts." Emphasis however, is placed on the work of the important American artists and craftsmen. With the advent of Lee Simonson as editor, a new note in policy was struck. Mr. Simonson was determined to burst the bubble of superstition that floated about the artist, branding him an inarticulate being, incapable of discussing his art intelligently. Quoting from his editorial in the May issue of CREATIVE ART: "As a matter of fact, the best painters invariably have the best minds and a sure critical sense. It is only unintelligent men who paint badly."

With this thesis in mind, he has planned a series of articles to be written by the foremost American Moderns. Each issue of the magazine will have the leading article devoted to a painter or sculptor written by that painter or sculptor himself. Criticism of his work by an outsider will follow by way of a postscript. The series was brilliantly begun in May by Rockwell Kent, and was followed by Marsden Hartley in June, and Vincent Canadé in July. Burchfield, Lachaise, Robinson, Marin and Rivera follow.

With Lee Simonson as editor, the artists, architects, interior decorators and lay readers of its pages are assured of authoritative and distinguished comment on the development of present day work from a man distinguished and known internationally in these and other fields.

CREATIVE ART deals alike with the man of genius and the subject of interest. It has thus established a claim to be the historian of what is most beautiful and permanent in modern art. It is kept and bound because it is a perpetual source of pleasure and a reliable chronicle of fact. For those who appreciate beauty in life, CREATIVE ART is a unique and indispensable publication.

75 cents a copy. $7.50 a year.

Decorative Art

"CREATIVE ART" YEAR BOOK

AN annual review of all that pertains to the erection, furnishing and decoration of the modern home. Indispensable to all persons of taste and discrimination. Invaluable to those about to furnish or to build. The illustrations include architectural exteriors and interiors, furniture, pottery and glass, metal work, gardens, and garden ornaments, etc.

DECORATIVE ART, 1928—The famous CREATIVE ART year book, containing several hundred illustrations, including color plates and photogravures of the year's achievements in interior decorations. It includes a special illustrated article on the Architect and Middle Class Housing, by S. T. Ramsey, F.R.I.B.A.

Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

The Life and Work of Edgar Degas

by J. B. MANSON

AN illustrated account of one of the greatest painters of modern times, unequalled in his rendering of the drama of sport and the stage. Mr. Manson of the Tate Gallery provides a commentary, bibliography and list of principal works. There are seventy-two full-page, double-tone illustrations, eight in color, and frontispiece in hand-printed photogravure. Limited edition, medium 4to, boxed. $17.50

The Water-Colour Drawings of John Sell Cotman

by A. P. OPPE

A GREAT master and teacher. Cotman was, indeed, a teacher in actual practice for a large part of his life, and in spite of adverse circumstances his name now stands high. This book, with its twenty-four colored reproductions, shows the reason. Here is a "Cotman room" in the most convenient form, and Mr. Oppé is a cicerone who knows how to display its treasures. $4.00.

Art of the British Empire Overseas

A REVIEW of the work of the leading artists in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Over 100 illustrations, mostly full-page plates. Cloth, $4.00.

Modern Gardens, British and Foreign

NO one with a feeling for the care of the garden can afford to be without this volume. It gives particular attention to questions of design and lay-out in conjunction with horticulture. The illustrations have been selected with a view to helping the garden lover in search of new ideas. They comprise a magnificent series of photographs, many of them specially taken for this volume, showing the most significant developments at home and abroad. Plans in many cases are included. Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy and Sweden, the United States and Japan are represented. An expert commentary is contributed by Mr. Percy Cane, the well-known garden architect. 180 Monotone illustrations. 8 color plates. Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

Yachts and Yachting

by B. HECKSTALL-SMITH

A BOOK with an irresistible appeal for all yachtsmen and lovers of pleasure sailing. The author traces the development of yachting from its beginning, and the theme is carried out by a magnificent series of illustrations of various periods, twenty-four of which are in color. Limited edition of 1,000 numbered copies. Medium, Quarto. Buckram. $22.50.

The Highway and its Vehicles

by HILAIRE BELLOC

MR. HILAIRE BELLOC, in his own inimitable way, traces the development of the road from the beaten track to the motor road of to-day, and with reasoned argument presents its future development. The 130 illustrations (twenty-four in color) form a pictorial record of European road travel and road vehicles from mediæval times until Victorian days. There are only 1,250 numbered copies, and the work will not be reprinted. Medium Quarto. Buckram. $22.50.

Old English Sporting Books

by RALPH NEVILL

THE library of sporting books in English is probably ten times greater than that in any other language, but many of the early editions of sporting classics, with their sumptuous illustrations, are now unobtainable. This volume gives a complete survey of the finest works, and reproduces over a hundred of the plates (twenty-four in color). Invaluable to collectors. Limited edition of 1,500 numbered copies. Royal Quarto. Buckram. $22.50.

Old Naval Prints: Their Artists and Engravers

by Commander CHARLES N. ROBINSON, R.N.

STILL a few copies remain of this fine volume, written by an expert, and illustrated with about a hundred plates, twenty-four of them in colors. Many rare prints are reproduced; the subject is one which appeals to sea-going nations, and the technical skill of the artists is of a very high order. Limited edition of 1,500 numbered copies. Royal Quarto. Buckram. $22.50.

Venice, Past and Present

THE magic city of the Adriatic is here depicted by the brushes of such famous artists of the past as the Bellinis, Buardi, Longhai and Canaletto, and of such eminent moderns as Turner, Corot, Bonington, Monet, Brangwyn, Whistler and Sargent. Mr. Selwyn Brinton describes the growth and progress of the city, her artistic life. Her periods of triumph and decay. About 130 illustrations, several in color.

Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

Rome, Past and Present

A COMPANION volume, illustrating in the same way the development of the city's appearance, as seen through the eyes of the most famous and interesting artists, old and new. Mr. William Gaunt gives a description of Rome, summarizing the changes and developments that have contributed to make the city so fascinating to the traveler and so important to the historian, the student of art, and the archælogist.

Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

Londoners: Then and Now

A PICTORIAL history of social life and customs in London during the past 200 years, with an authoritative review by Malcolm C. Salaman. Over 100 illustrations, including several plates in colors. Cloth, $4.00.

Adventures by Sea, from Art of Old Time

by BASIL LUBBOCK

SLAVERS, buccaneers, privateersmen, smugglers, whalers, merchant-adventurers—all depicted in the most spirited fashion by master hands. And a breezy Introduction by that well-known sea writer Basil Lubbock. Even this is not all! For there are three new sonnets by a famous poet, John Masefield. Only a few copies remain. Limited edition of 1,750 numbered copies. Royal Quarto. Buckram. $22.50.

The Etchings of Frank Brangwyn, R.A.

Catalogue Raisonné by WILLIAM GAUNT

BY arrangement with Mr. Brangwyn and the Publishers of his etchings (The Fine Art Society), Creative Art have here produced a most important work, which comprises a catalogue raisonné of Mr. Brangwyn's etchings to date, with an illustration identifying each of the plates described, of which there are over 300. Limited edition, handsomely bound. Medium quarto. $15.00.

Thomas Rowlandson: His Drawings and Water-Colours

by A. P. OPPE

DRAWING with the pen and the brush has had few finer exponents in England in the social and satirical vein than Rowlandson. His achievement is illustrated here with about 100 plates, sixteen of which are in color. The book is uniform in appearance with that quoted above, and is marked by the same completeness and authoritative character. Limited to 200 numbered copies. $35.00.

Contemporary Figure Painters

A COMPARATIVE survey of the world situation in this supreme branch of art, giving twenty-four color reproductions of works of the outstanding painters of different countries, together with a critical Introduction by Mr. A. L. Baldry. Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

GREAT PERIODS IN ART SERIES

A SERIES of volumes, each devoted to a great artistic period of the past. Each written by an acknowledged expert, and treated from the viewpoint of its human relation to our own time. Each volume contains about 80 reproductions illustrating the author's thesis. Size, 8¼ in. by 6¼ in. Cloth gilt.

VOL. I.

The Art of Greece

VOL. IV.

French Art in the XIX Century

by GABRIEL MOUREY

THE Nineteenth Century has been termed the most important period of the Fine Arts in France. The French spirit then found a fully developed expression, just as Italy reached its highest point at the time of the Renaissance. This development is explained in the text of M. Gabriel Mourey and illustrated by numerous reproductions of work by the great masters of the period. Others in preparation. $4.00.

VOL. V.

English Art in the XVIIIth Century

by C. REGINALD GRUNDY, Editor of the "Connoisseur"

Ready in September. $4.00.

Flemish Painting Before the XVIIIth Century

by SIR PAUL LAMBOTE, K.B.E.

A SURVEY of the changes through which Flemish Painting passed from the 14th to the 17th century, illustrated with 72 monotone plates and 8 plates in color. (This is the Special Autumn 1927 Number of CREATIVE ART.)

Cloth, $4.00. Wrapper, $3.00.

Thomas Girtin's Water-Colours

by RANDALL DAVIES

IN this volume are displayed some hundred examples of the artist's work, including sixteen mounted plates in colors, with a critical commentary from the pen of a well-qualified critic. Edition de Luxe. Limited to 200 numbered copies only. Hand-made paper. Vellum. Imperial quarto 15 in. by 11 in. $35.00.

The Gardens of Japan

by JIRO HARADA

THE Special Spring 1928 Number of CREATIVE ART, including six color plates, about a hundred illustrations in photogravure and a hundred in half-tone, together with diagrams in the text. Companion volume to MODERN GARDENS, BRITISH AND FOREIGN, by Percy S. Crane.

Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

Design in the Theatre

by GEORGE SHERINGHAM and JAMES LAVER with contributions by Gordon Craig, Nigel Playfair and Charles B. Cochran

THIS Special Winter 1927 number of CREATIVE ART shows in 120 photogravure and colour plates the amazing achievements of state designers in America and Europe. Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

The Book of Kells

Commentary by SIR EDWARD SULLIVAN, Bart.

THIS is a Second Edition, made necessary by the fascination of the subject and its treatment. For artists, and particularly for designers, The Book of Kells has proved a fruitful source of inspiration; indeed, to all interested in art in any form this masterpiece of illuminated manuscript is a household word. There are forty-nine illustrations in colors of the most beautiful and important pages, and many of the wonderful initials, and a commentary by one of the chief authorities on Celtic history. The new edition will be invaluable to students. $10.00.

The New Book-Illustration in France

by LEON PICHON

BOOK-ILLUSTRATION in France has of late taken on a new life so vigorous that it has called for a Special Number with a wealth of plates to do it justice. The new applications of lithography, etching, photographic and color processes—and, above all, of wood engraving—are fully dealt with by a master printer and publisher. Cloth, $4.00. Wrappers, $3.00.

DICKEY BYRD

By ELIZABETH WOODRUFF

Dickey Byrd is an everyday sort of a little chap with an extremely vivid imagination, who is greatly devoted to his toy menagerie, the elephant, camel, giraffe, and some wooden soldiers.

Around these lovable characters of toyland the author has woven fanciful stories which will appeal to every little boy and girl, who will see in them reflections of their own little world of toys.

With the aid of kind fairies and mischievous elves, the toys are brought to life and with them Dickey Byrd and his faithful dog, Freckles, have a rollicking good time through the pages of this unique story book.

There are six full page color illustrations by Gustaf Tenggren and twelve full page and numerous other "spot" decorations throughout the book by Carl Emil Wehde. Printed in large easy-to-read type on fine rag paper. Wrapper printed in four colors.

Size 9 x 12. Price, $3.00

PATCHES: A Wyoming Cow Pony

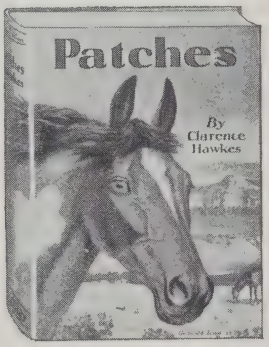
By CLARENCE HAWKES
Illustrated by Griswold Tyng

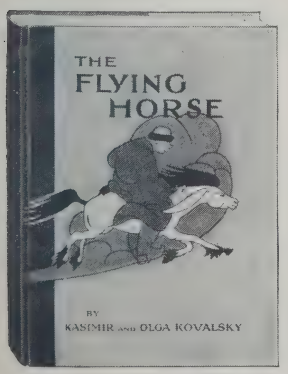
PATCHES is a mustang—a broncho or a cayuse—as you will—but most of all he is a lovable horse—a courageous horse—and of almost human intelligence.

In his Introduction, Mr. Hawkes has painted in word pictures, of which he is a master, an educational background vividly descriptive of the origin and development of the cattle industry in the Middle West, emphasizing the romantic period in its progress, against which this story is written.

Popular large size, 7 x 9½, with remarkably fine full page illustrations, and many smaller pictures interspersed throughout the text. Printed on excellent paper, and splendidly bound, "Patches" is a "Quality" production—a book to own and treasure.

Price, $2.50





THE FLYING HORSE

By KASIMIR AND OLGA KOVALSKY
Illustrated by Wanda Petrunkevitch

The colorful imagination of the Russian artist finds vivid expression in this fascinating exotic folk story of "the little hunchbacked horse, who could fly above mountains, rivers and seas, yet having no wings at all."

Delightful text and glowing pictures tell and visualize the story.

Size 7½ x 10½. Price, $1.75

MISS ANGELINA ADORABLE

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Illustrated by Janet Laura Scott

Discontented with dull home conditions, Angelina, "the adorable doll," and her little mistress, seek adventure in a deserted house. Here they meet "Clocky," the restless time-keeper, and with the brown hen, the lame chicken, Pete, the dog, and Susy, the cow, they seek Utopia in a nearby field. Radiant color and charming text lead the reader joyously on to the end of the story.

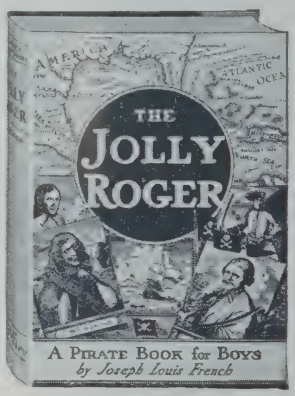
Size 5⅝ x 8½. Price, $1.50

THE JOLLY ROGER

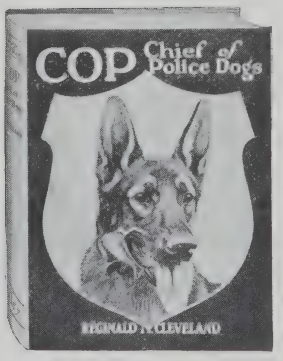
By JOSEPH LEWIS FRENCH
Illustrated with reproductions of rare old prints and modern decorations

A compilation of unusual and little known pirate stories, portraying life on the high seas in the early 18th century, including the true story of Philip Ashton, a Salem fisherman captured by pirates and marooned on a desolate island for sixteen months, and eight other thrilling tales of The Spanish Main and The Seven Seas. The best collection of pirate stories printed in years—in a book of beautiful format. A valuable contribution to Literary Americana.

Price, $2.50



COP: CHIEF OF POLICE DOGS



By REGINALD M. CLEVELAND
Illustrated by Paul Bransom

Perfect type of the breed, Cop, embodies every noble quality of the finest example of his strain. He courses through the pages of this, his life's story, with an interest, a dash and a thrill that holds you enthralled and enchanted.

Thoroughbred is his ancestry and his heritage is courage, sagacity, resourcefulness and loyalty, all of which are exemplified throughout his learning Puppy days, on through his care of the flocks and the cattle, and culminating in the manifestation of a humanlike intelligence and the unparalleled courage that enables him to rescue his mistress from a very dangerous situation.

The illustrations by Paul Bransom are masterpieces of fine animal painting. Price, $2.50

POEMS FOR THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

Compiled by JOSEPHINE BOUTON
Introduction by Carolyn S. Bailey

A book for the appreciation of children, not one whose pages the adult will have to interpret and adapt in order to form a taste for poetry in the early years. Each poem included is short and its subject matter is that of childhood. The child will learn the verses naturally and make them a part of his life because he loves them.

They are classified and grouped under fourteen subject headings covering a wide range of child interests, and representing the work of best known poets, from Shakespeare to Walter De La Mare. Price, $1.75

LONG LEGS, BIG MOUTH, BURNING EYES

By OLGA KOVALSKY and BRENDA PUTNAM
Illustrated by Rhoda Chase and Albert Cugat

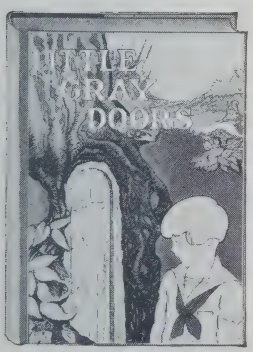
Long Legs, Big Mouth and Burning Eyes, "three musketeers" of Russian fairyland come forth to meet the boys and girls of America, in a book of beautiful making and many colors. In old Russia days, the children of the Czar listened with delight to the adventures of this unique trio, and one little girl, by the name of Olga Kovalsky, was so impressed by them and other dream-world characters that when she grew up she brought these charming fairy people with her to America and had Brenda Putnam, the famous sculptress, translate their stories into English, to bring pleasure to the boys and girls of her adopted land.

In this book Mme. Kovalsky tells many of these delightful tales each of which Rhoda Chase has pictured in the true style and brilliancy of Russian art. Albert Cugat furnishes the beautiful cover onlays and attractive end-papers.

Beautifully Boxed, Price, $2.00

LITTLE GRAY DOORS

By ALEXANDRINA WOODS
Illustrated by The Phillips



Doors that open to the land of enchantment and happiness invite the reader to enter and enjoy these five cheerful and effervescing stories for younger boys and girls. "Little Gray Doors" tells the story of the boy who would not wash his hands; "The Mirror" of the lad who learned to be good by seeing his faults reflected in a looking glass; "The Magic Needle" of the little girl who wandered into Fairyland; "Paternoster" the story of a little boy who learned the lesson of nature from the insects; "The Fairy Glen" of Betty, the little girl who dreamed of the shepherd boy and his China shepherdess.

There is a broad range of creative subject matter and background to each of these stories which Alexandrina Woods has accumulated through years of teaching under Canadian methods. The Phillips have caught the cheerful spirit of the text in their seventy colorful illustrations.

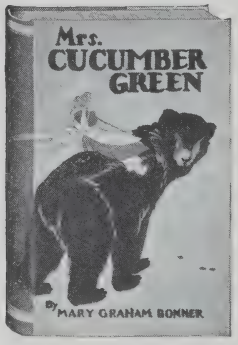
MRS. CUCUMBER GREEN



By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Illustrated in color by Janet Laura Scott

The story has to do with a little girl—a very real little girl—and her family of dolls and toys who reside back of her bed in what is known as four Green Lane. There is Mr. Gerken, the wooden butcher, and Mr. Ottaway, the wooden grocer and they provide the best of nourishing food for her doll children whom she loves so devotedly. Above all there is Alice Gustava Ariel Star Jewel Bright Carol Carmen Cucumber Green, called Allie Baa for short—her beloved rag doll, the most understanding, sympathetic, loving rag doll in the world.

As pictured by Janet Laura Scott, the illustrations are a tribute to beautiful color conception. Price, $1.50

PUSSY PURR-MEW

By GUY WINFREY

Illustrated in color by Louise Tessin

This is a story which might have for its "hero" the kitten of any child so faithfully portrayed is the career of Pussy Purr-mew, who in relating his many adventures, philosophies on life from a cat's outlook on the universe and association with children and grown-ups. This is a charming story and one to bring real joy to childish readers.

The illustrations by Louise Tessin, in her characteristic soft-blend colors, are a delight to the eye.

In attractive box. Price, Boxed, $1.50

BUNNY BEARSKIN

By GUY WINFREY

Illustrated by Louise Tessin

The whimsical tale of the bunny who would go swimming in the ice cold water. Shivering, shaking, he scurries into Mr. Bear's back-yard and there, on the line hangs Mr. Bear's extra skin. What would you have done? Well, Bunny did appropriate the bear's skin and scampered away with it, and then and there began a series of adventures such as never before happened to a rabbit.

Guy Winfrey brings many a laugh to his youthful audience in this rollicking tale, and Louise Tessin's soft delicate illustrations—fifty of them—depict all the prominent incidents of Bunny's brief but exciting experience.

BOOKS BY HOMER B. HULBERT

OMJEE, THE WIZARD

KOREAN FOLK TALES

Illustrated by Hildegard Lupprian

Korea—land of mystery and superstition where facts of life are stranger than fiction of the white man, and imagination finds truth in occult phantasies—presents a background for fanciful tales, unrivaled by any other section of the world.

It is from the folk stories of such a country retold by its people for many generations, that Mr. Hulbert has gathered the material for his book of "Omjee the Wizard," and this he has done by personal contract with Korean peasants, having lived among them for several years.

In "Omjee" are incorporated the best and most inspirational of all Korean folk tales and legends, told for boys and girls in a language which they can understand and appreciate. The illustrations and marginal decorations in color on every page convey an artistic and pleasing visualization of the fantastic characters of the stories.

"Omjee the Wizard" is a beautiful story book for young readers, and a valuable addition to racial literature. Size 7¼ x 9⅝. Price $1.50

THE FACE IN THE MIST

Illustrated by Henry Hintermeister

A story of romance and adventure for boys and girls and older folks who still react to the thrill of youth. The scene is laid in the Far East and the islands of the Pacific. The leading characters are a young American Naval Officer, an Irish seaman, and the ever present American boy. The action covers the quest of this trio in search of a mysterious cryptogram which reveals the secret of a treasure horde hidden from the Mongolian tribes that swept over the isles of the China Sea in the sixteenth century. Mystery, thrills and action combine to make this a book of intensely gripping, readable quality.

BOOKS BY CLARENCE HAWKES

REDCOAT, THE PHANTOM FOX

By CLARENCE HAWKES

Illustrated by Charles Livingston Bull

Farmers, made desperate by his ravages on their chicken coops, set traps and lie in wait for him; the Fox Club holds special hunts to effect his capture or death, but Redcoat, with uncanny cleverness eludes them all and continues his depredations. He is finally trapped by a clever ruse on the part of Bud Holcombe, a farmer boy, and sold to the keeper of a famous Silver Fox farm. But the wire enclosure which held other foxes securely, was no barrier to the clever Redcoat. One morning he was missing, and with him went Blue Lady the prize of the silver fox brood. As told by Clarence Hawkes, Redcoat's story is a masterpiece of animal fiction.

SILVERSHEENE

Illustrated by Charles Livingston Bull

In the midnight stillness the wolf-cry calls the half-breed back to the wild. Silversheene the mighty is stolen from the domestic hearth to become a member of a dog team in frozen Alaska. His adventures with friend and foe and his final meeting with his old master Dick, added to the thrilling Alaska Sweepstakes, make of this latest work of Mr. Hawkes his finest contribution to animal literature. Price, $1.50

THE WHITE CZAR

Illustrated by Charles Livingston Bull

From the frozen wastes of Labrador come the hardy characters of this thrilling narrative—Eiseeyou, little Oumauk, Tukshu, and Tunkine, the Eskimos; Omingmong, the wild musk ox; Niksuk, the seal; and Whitie, the bear, who was to become the White Czar of the great North, are the principals. The exciting events on ice floe, in open water, and in that world old city of Quebec, hold the fascinated interest of the reader. Price, $1.25

PEP

THE STORY OF A BRAVE DOG

Illustrated by William Van Dresser

Every lover of dogs will treasure this book. Pep, a blue ribbon bull terrier, follows his master to France and plays his part in the great struggle. While some of the scenes are laid along the battle line, it is not a war tale, but a human interest story of a faithful and intelligent dog. Price, $0.85

PAL O' MINE

KING OF THE TURF

Illustrated by Charles Livingston Bull

In the blue-grass of Old Kentucky, with its stately mansions, formal manners, and old-world customs, is foaled the thoroughbred Pal O' Mine. Trained by his young master in the fox-hunt, he develops into an entry for the Derby. He must win to save the old ancestral estate—he does, and in such a thrilling manner as only Mr. Hawkes can depict.

The dark clouds of internecine strife roll over North and South. Torn between conflicting emotions Halsey Eaton and his mount enter the Ohio Cavalry. The escapades and adventures of this band of free-raiders give Pal O' Mine and Halsey their opportunity to share in the saving of the Union. Price, $1.50

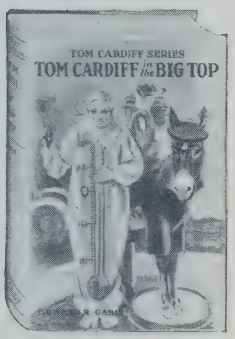
BOOKS BY HOWARD R. GARIS

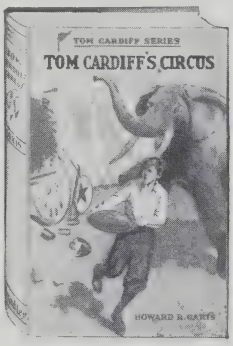
TOM CARDIFF IN THE BIG TOP



By HOWARD R. GARIS
Illustrated by W. B. King

Tom's prowess with the bow and arrow obtained for him a place in the sideshow, as related in "Tom Cardiff's Circus," but his ambition to get into the "big top" developed steadily into a determination which could not be restrained. Through the winter months he creates a clown act, employing a trick dog and donkey, and with the coming of spring and circus time, is rewarded by a place in the main tent show. Exciting experiences with a jealous associate who seeks to "queer" Tom's act, adventures with an unruly python, an elephant stampede, and the finding and exploiting of the famous Cardiff Giant, enliven Tom's progressive career, and add thrills to the story. Price, $1.50

TOM CARDIFF'S CIRCUS

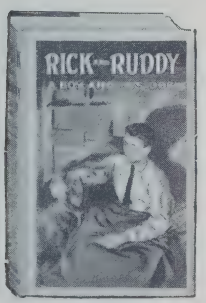


Illustrated by W. B. King

The crunch of wagons, the din and shout of the mid-way, and the brilliant coloring of the big top call the abused orphan lad to the life in the open. Raised in the environment of a New York State Indian Reservation Tom finds that the achievements taught him by the friendly redskins in his boyhood stand him in good stead for a life of action under the big canvas. Realistic illustrations add to the interest of the story. Price, $1.50

THE RICK AND RUDDY BOOKS

Rick, the boy, and Ruddy, the dog, will find a warm spot in the heart of every boy and girl. Their adventures as told by Mr. Garis are such as any real boy and his faithful dog might experience, adding the interest of realism to the entertainment of well told tales. There are five titles in the series, all illustrated by well known artists.



RICK AND RUDDY
A BOY AND HIS DOG

Illustrated by John Goss

Cast up by the sea from a wrecked ship off the Jersey coast an Irish setter pup is found by a coast guard, who carries him to the home of Rick Dalton, a twelve-year-old boy who longs to own a dog. Rick finds his heart's desire realized in the shipwrecked puppy whom he names "Ruddy", and boy and dog become constant companions. Many are the good times that these two have together, hiking, hunting, swimming, doing those things that are a part of every normal boy's life; and where danger threatens, Ruddy proves his worth in no uncertain manner. A clean-cut story, of absorbing interest for boys and girls. Price, $1.50

RICK AND RUDDY IN CAMP

Illustrated by Milo Winter

Rick and Ruddy go camping with a Boy Scout troop and experience new adventures in field and forest, where Ruddy's canine instinct often proves superior to the woodcraft knowledge of his masters. Price, $1.50

RICK AND RUDDY AFLOAT

Illustrated by W. B. King

A cruise with Uncle Tod upon the motorboat Sally brings to Rick and Ruddy many mysterious and interesting experiences. The brass bound box with its glistening contents, the strange fat Indian, sly Nick Slithers, the false attack, Rick and Ruddy's journey in the night over the foaming waters during an electrical storm, are only a few of the thrills that come from the exciting narrative. Price, $1.50

RICK AND RUDDY OUT WEST

Illustrated by W. B. King

Rick and Ruddy motor overland at the call of Uncle Tod to assist him in locating the "Lost River." The course of the underground stream has been diverted by the nefarious Lawson crowd, who need the water for their placer mining.

Rick and Chot, and not to forget Ruddy, solve the mystery and are rewarded by equal shares in the newly-named "Ruddy Mine." Price, $1.50

RICK AND RUDDY ON THE TRAIL

Illustrated by W. B. KING

Rick and Ruddy, returning from an errand one morning, came across a traveling showman in great trouble. His partner had taken French leave during the night and with him went the showman's trick dog. Rick and Ruddy are allowed by Rick's father to accompany the old showman in his search for the seemingly unfaithful partner. The trail leads them all over the United States, and the experience of boy and dog are many and novel. Price, $1.50

TWO WILD CHERRIES SERIES

Dick and Janet Cherry are the "Two Wild Cherries" of Mr. Garis' new series. They are young people, below the boy and girl scout age, who manage to find a great many interesting and worth-while things in life to occupy their time and attention. Younger readers will find this series well worth following and will look forward with anticipation to future titles. The books are effectively illustrated by John M. Foster.

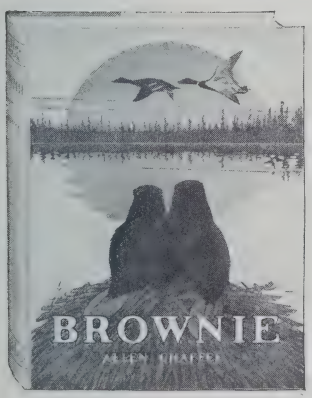
THE ALLEN CHAFFEE NATURE STORIES



BROWNIE

THE ENGINEER OF BEAVER BROOK

Illustrated by Paul Bransom

Brownie is the Utah beaver, whose habits his present biographer has studied first hand. He is the engineer of forest and waterway, changing, through his marvelous industry and genius, the topography of the country he inhabits as our own roads and cities are undergoing transformation for the needs of a changing civilization. This thought gives Brownie's story an important place in child literature, but the book has an even closer touch, through its theme of constructive energy, with the instincts of the child.

The book is full of nature facts told in the story form all children love. It will be read by boys and girls from eight to twelve years. It will be enjoyed by younger children as soon as they want true stories. The illustrations by Mr. Bransom, who has no equal in the interpretation of our animal life, are superb. Size 7¼ x 9⅝. Price $1.50

LIGHTS OFF SHORE!

Illustrated by Harold Anderson

In these days of discussion of constitutional amending and law enforcement, Mr. Durell feels that our growing boy and girlhood should be instilled with the patriotic motives and principals on which our forefathers founded this great nation. Here is a powerful tale of action and adventure with our old friends Sam Hotchkiss and Captain Seth Nickerson unintentionally cast among the law breakers operating about Cape Cod. There is no glamor to the modern smuggler and pirate as Sam discovers after many harrowing experiences. The law will run its course. The author shows an intimate knowledge of the ways and methods of present day outlaws of the coast and the lives of these people are pictured as they really are, with the mystery dispelled and the sordidness revealed. In this third title of the Blue Water Series, boys and girls will find the most thrilling narrative of the season. Price, $1.50

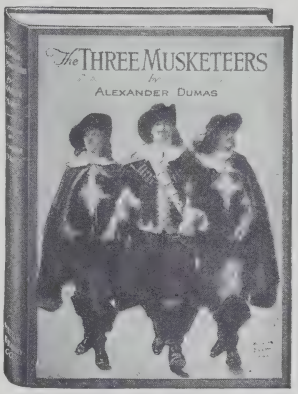
THE THREE MUSKETEERS

THE GREATEST OF ROMANTIC CLASSICS RETOLD FOR CHILDREN

By ALEXANDER DUMAS Edited by Carolyn Sherwin Bailey
Illustrated by Harold Brett



This edition of the Dumas masterpiece is a real achievement in the editing of a famous classic, presenting it in practically the exact words of the author, yet by elimination of questionable passages, making of it a book which the most conscientious parents will not hesitate to place in the hands of their children.

All historical features of the story are embodied in the abridged text, and all the incidents of stirring adventure, the shining examples of loyalty and courage, the fellowship and sympathy of the companions in arms, are retained. These are, in fact, emphasized for the child reader, by the deletion of the amours of Milady and details of court intrigue of which the normal child understands little and cares less.

The superb illustrations are reproduced in full color from original and remarkable drawings by Harold Brett, one of the foremost illustrators in this country.

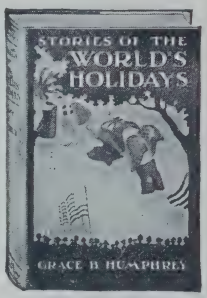
TWO BOOKS BY GRACE HUMPHREY

STORIES OF THE WORLD'S HOLIDAYS



A book that tells "why the flags fly" on certain days in many lands. The origin of the holidays, their meaning and the methods of observance are fully explained in graceful, simple language. There are nineteen chapters, each devoted to a different holiday, and the subjects include China's Feast of Lanterns, Japan's Children's Paradise, Ireland's St. Patrick Day, Saint Valentine's Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Lexington Day, France's Bastile Day, Poland's National Holiday and many others. The book is handsomely printed and bound.

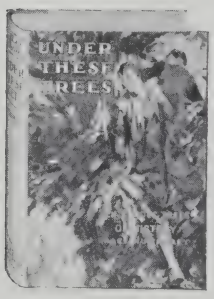
UNDER THESE TREES

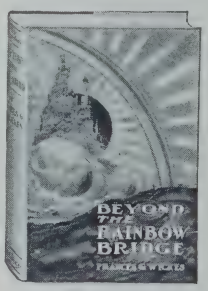


From time immemorial trees have played an important part in leading episodes of the world's history. In collecting authentic data concerning ten of the most important historical events in which famous trees have been recognized factors, and weaving the results of her research into interesting and informative stories, Miss Humphrey has contributed a work of real value to historical literature. The trees about which she writes are "The Fig Tree" of the Roman Forum, "The Trysting Oak" of Robin Hood's Band, Jeanne D'Arc's "Fairy Tree of Domremy," "The Royal Oak" of Charles II, "The Talking Oak of Dodona," "The Eliot Oak," "The Liberty Tree," in Boston, "The Penn Treaty Elm," "The Washington Elm," and "The Charter Oak" at Hartford.

Through each story runs a strain of true patriotism which appeals and thrills the reader. It is a book which young and old can read with interest, and profit by a new light upon some high spots of history. Price, $1.75

BEYOND THE RAINBOW BRIDGE

By FRANCES G. WICKES
Illustrated by Hildegarde Lupprian



The myths of that fairy city above the rainbow where the gold and marble palaces of the Norse Gods glisten in the sun. The tales of the valiant Icelandic heroes venturing forth across the Rainbow Bridge to do battle with the Ice Gods below.

The beautiful Northern folk-lore is compiled and revised by Miss Wickes in such a fashion as to impress the reader with its charm and the wonder of the early imagination.

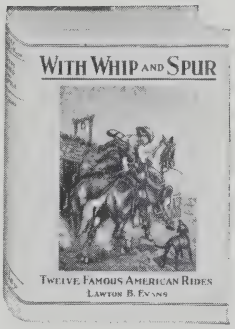
BOOKS BY LAWTON B. EVANS

WITH WHIP AND SPUR

By LAWTON B. EVANS
Illustrated in color by Sidney Riesenberg



Through the great undertones of history resounds the music of galloping hoofs! Sometimes the thunderous chorus of hurrying cavalry to turn the tide of battle—again a stacato solo from the flying feet of a single horse and a lone rider on whom depends the fate of a nation.

Whip and Spur portrays in vivid description and pictures the part that those who rode alone have played in American History.

The contents include Col. Travis' Courier, Curley, the Crow Scout, Paul Revere's Ride, Gen. Grant's Escape, Gen. Sheridan's Ride, Emily Geiger's Warning, The Ride of Tench Tilghman, The Messenger from Saratoga, Gen. Putnam's Leap, Emily Sanson, Guide, The Ride of Lieut. Archibald Gillespie, The Pony Express. Price, $1.75

THE PIRATE OF BARATARIA

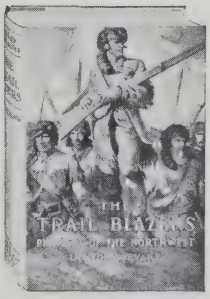
Illustrated by Oliver Kemp

Lafitte an outcast officer of Napoleon's army, after an unfortunate duel finds himself sailing the high seas for France. From the abuses of an English prison he escapes to become a renegade sea captain in a South American Republic. A wild adventurous spirit leads this beloved vagabond to the Gulf of Mexico where he preys upon overseas shipping. He later becomes an important factor in assisting the young American Navy in the waters around New Orleans in the war of 1812. A powerful and masterly historical novel for older boys and girls. Price, $1.75

THE TRAIL BLAZERS

PIONEERS OF THE NORTHWEST

Illustrated by Oliver Kemp



In all American History there is no more romantic record of achievement, patriotism and heroism, than the story of George Rogers Clark and his sturdy band of pioneers, and their conquest of the Northwest Territory by which five great states and part of another were added to our common union.

In "The Trail Blazers," Mr. Evans has brought to this historical episode the idealism and thrilling interest which only the master story teller can convey. His presentation is true to history in every detail, his people are the rugged, rough conquerors of the wilderness who built the foundation of our present day Americanism—brave and tenacious, high principled and patriotic.

The Trail Blazers, while written for younger readers, is a book which those of all ages will find entertaining and educational. Price, $1.75

WORTH WHILE STORIES FOR EVERY DAY

This book contains 185 complete stories of miscellaneous character, choice selections from mythology, nursery rhymes retold in prose, Mother Goose tales, natural history stories, stories of birds and animals, biographical sketches of the great in history and stories of realism, each chosen for its ethical value. A unique feature is the moral of each story printed beneath its title so that the story teller may conveniently select a story adapted to illustrate any point or trait of character.

Price, $1.75

OLD TIME TALES

Illustrated in color by E. P. Ottendorff

An unusual book containing in story form a general resume of World History from the earliest records to modern times. The first part of the book contains stories based on ancient mythology before the time of actual historical record, and the remainder of the volume includes authentic historical stories. The collection is so extreme and varied that from this one volume a teacher may select a story to supplement the history lesson of any period of the world's progress. Price, $2.00

HEROES OF TROY

Illustrated by Carl Lotave

Facts and legends of the Trojan war and the wanderings of Ulysses, immortalized by Homer in the greatest of heroic epics, are here gathered into a book of absorbing interest, retold in simple prose which a child can understand. As a story for general use, or as supplementary reading to the study of Homeric literature, this book will prove of important value to both teacher and pupil. Fine illustrations visualize for the reader many of the stirring events which the text describes. Price, $2.00

HEROES OF ISRAEL

TALES FROM THE OLD TESTAMENT

Illustrated in color by Clara M. Burd

The story of the trial and hardships of the people of Israel is presented in a simple style without moral teachings, except as they come from the narrative itself. This volume will fill a long felt need in the nursery, where a Bible story is a fitting end for the day, and in the schoolroom, where the Bible is too much neglected and whose stories should be included among those that belong to the inheritance of every child. Price, $2.00

AMERICA FIRST

ONE HUNDRED STORIES FROM OUR OWN HISTORY

Illustrated by Milo K. Winter

To gratify the love of children for the dramatic and picturesque, to satisfy them with stories that are true, and to make them familiar with the great characters in the history of their own country, is the purpose of this volume. Beginning with the adventures of Lief the Lucky and ending with the exploits of Sergeant York, every story deals with persons and events vitally associated with the building of our nation. Price, $2.50

BOOKS BY MAUD LINDSAY

MOTHER STORIES

Illustrated

These stories are models of simplicity and purity in purpose and expression.

They are written with a knowledge of the likes and ways of children in the frequent repetition of verse and phrase; and the moral lesson does not stand out too pointedly.

Price, $1.50

MORE MOTHER STORIES

Illustrated

This second volume by Miss Lindsay is fully up to the standard of her earlier work, and has met with equal favor.

These stories are such as teachers and mothers may well study, and assuredly they will be given ample opportunity for every child who hears one of these tales will rapturously demand, "Tell it again!"

Price, $1.50

For Boys 12 to 16 Years

Handsomely Bound in Cloth. Full Library Size.

PRICE, 50 CENTS EACH. NET.....

POSTAGE 10c. EXTRA

CAPTAIN JACK LORIMER; or, The Young Athlete of Millvale High.

Jack Lorimer is a fine example of the all-around American high-school boy. His fondness for clean, honest sport of all kinds will strike a chord of sympathy among athletic youths.

JACK LORIMER'S CHAMPIONS; or, Sports on Land and Lake.

There is a lively story woven in with the athletic achievements, which are all right, since the book has been O.K'd by Chadwick, the Nestor of American sporting journalism.

JACK LORIMER'S HOLIDAYS; or, Millvale High in Camp.

It would not be well to put this book into a boy's hands until the chores are finished, otherwise they might be neglected.

JACK LORIMER'S SUBSTITUTE; or, The Acting Captain of the Team.

On the sporting side, the book takes up football, wrestling, and tobogganing. There is a good deal of fun in this book and plenty of action.

JACK LORIMER, FRESHMAN; or, From Millvale High to Exmouth.

Jack and some friends he makes crowd innumerable happenings into an exciting freshman year at one of the leading Eastern colleges. The book is typical of the American college boy's life, and there is a lively story, interwoven with feats on the gridiron, hockey, basketball and other clean, honest sports for which Jack Lorimer stands.

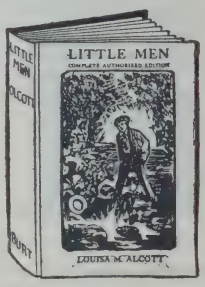
LITTLE MEN

Complete Authorized Edition

By LOUISA M. ALCOTT

A Sequel to "LITTLE WOMEN," Cloth, 12 Mo. JACKET IN FOUR COLORS

PRICE 50 CENTS. NET.....



The story of life at Plumfield with Jo's boys.

Few books for or about children have been so thoroughly taken into the hearts of the American people as Louisa M. Alcott's stories; among them "Little Men" ranks second only to "Little Women."

Jo grows up, is the presiding genius of her school at Plumfield, where she and Professor Bhaer are the wise and loving autocrats of a houseful of young people.

Sensitive, music-loving Nat, harum-scarum Tommy, studious Demi, undisciplined Dan, domestic little Daisy and hoydenish Nan are a few of the active-minded, true-to-life children who romp into and out of trouble all through this endearing story.

An Old-Fashioned Girl

(Authorized Edition)

By LOUISA M. ALCOTT

Author of "Little Women," Etc.

Cloth Bound, Wrapper in Colors, Drawn by Jessie Wilcox Smith

Being one of the illustrations from the Little, Brown & Company high-priced edition

PRICE 50 CENTS. NET.....

No books of their class have ever been read with greater delight than the Alcott Stories. "An Old-Fashioned Girl" is one of the best of them, if a comparison can be made in the list.

Miss Alcott in this story describes "The good old Fashion, which makes women truly beautiful and honored, and renders home what it should be, a happy place where parents and children, brothers and sisters learn to love and know and help one another." The book is to be welcomed among the books for girls, because of its wholesome spirit and happy atmosphere.

Little Women

By LOUISA M. ALCOTT

Cloth, 12mo. PRICE 50 CENTS. NET.....

Jacket in Four Colors. Drawn by Jessie Wilcox Smith.

This being one of the illustrations from the original Little, Brown & Co. high-priced edition.

Of the many books for girls and boys that have come and gone in the fifty years since "Little Women" was first published, not one has had such a lasting popularity.

"Little Women" has always been considered the most popular girls' story that has ever been written. Children of the present day are just as eager to read of Meg, Jo, Amy and Beth as the children of the earlier generations.

Already "Little Women" has been read by millions of children, and is certain to be read by many generations to come. This story will never grow old.

The American Library Association lists "Little Women" as the most popular juvenile title ever published, and goes further by saying that it is a book that should be permanently in every home.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WELCOME

Dear Children.

Opening the covers of a book is like opening the front door of a house, so that you may go inside and have jolly times. And how good it is when some one who loves you stands at the front door and says:

"Oh, how glad I am to see you!"

That is what I say to you now, as you open this book.

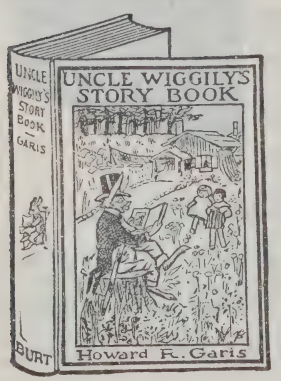
"Come in and have some jolly fun with me!"

You know that I love you, children, and I want you to enjoy these stories about me. They tell how I escaped from the bad chaps who wanted to catch me. The pictures show what tricks I played on the Fuzzy Fox, the Woozie Wolf, and the Puffing Pipsisewah so they might not nibble my ears. Then, also, there are tales of some of the animal children whom you well know.

So, then, having opened the covers of this book, come in and read! Stay as long as you wish, and, when you go out, invite some one else to enter.

Your loving friend,

UNCLE WIGGILY.



Uncle Wiggily's Story Book

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Cloth, 16 Full-page Illustrations in color, 29 in Black and White, by Campbell.

PRICE, $2.00. NET.....

Nearly every event in the life of a child, from the first tooth that needs pulling, to the first tumble and fall, is told of in connection with some delightfully imagined happening involving Uncle Wiggily. There are little lessons for the children in contentment, happiness, kindness to animals, bravery and self-sacrifive. To a child, gettting lost or cuttting a finger is an event of great moment, and it is just such events as these around which the stories are constructed.

FAVORITE STORIES FOR CHILDREN

By JOHANNA SPYRI

Unusual, Original Stories of the Different Scenes, Episodes and Adventures in the Lives of Real Boys and Girls in Town and Country.

PRICE 50 CENTS EACH. Postage 10 Cents Extra.

Clothbound, 12mo. Attractive Jackets in Colors

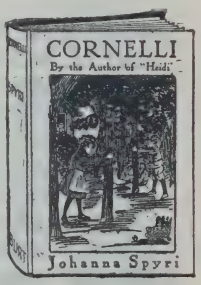
HEIDI

Translated by H. A. Melcon.

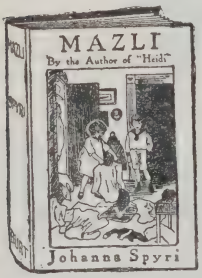
This volume recounts the story of an adorable little orphan girl who lived with her grandfather, a goatherd in the Swiss Alps. The gay, lovable nature of Heidi made her a favorite of the people who lived in her valley; especially of a wealthy Frankfort family, who befriended her in many ways after being won by her delightful character and beautiful nature. Few modern juvenile stories have enjoyed such universal appeal.

CORNELLI

Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork.



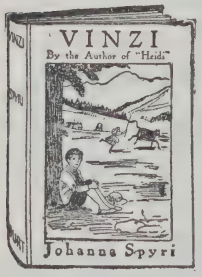
Johanna Spyri has been known in this country, heretofore, by the famous classic "Heidi." In the book "Cornelli" an equally entertaining story has been told of a shy, sensitive little heroine who suffered deeply from unjust suspicion, but was reinstated in her father's affection and gained new friends in an exceptionally real, interesting manner. A story filled with humor and genuine feeling.



MAZLI

Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork.

The colorful, exquisitely told story of "Mazli," her high-spirited, impulsive brothers and sisters, and their wise, affectionate mother, cannot fail to provide the young reader with a group of new, true friends. The experiences of Mea, Kurt, Lippo and Bruno, and the legend of the supposedly haunted castle near which they live, offer a world of lively entertainment.



VINZI

Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork.

The refreshing, intimate, essentially human tale of "Vinzi," his love of music, and his practical peasant father, is written with complete sympathy and understanding. The free, joyous life of "Vinzi," Stefeli, and their vigorous cousins in the Swiss Alps, presents an engaging, attractive picture of real youthful happiness and the pleasure of bodily health.

DORA

Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork.

There is an unstudied charm and simplicity in this clever tale of lonely, orphaned Dora, and the long, quiet days she spent with her aunt and uncle in a chilly garret. A trip to the country and the introduction of the neighbor's children into her life fill it with joy in a manner that will appeal strongly to childish sympathy.

THE MOON QUEEN SERIES

By T. BENJAMIN FAUCETT

Cloth Bound. Profusely Illustrated. Frontispiece in Color.

PRICE 50 CENTS EACH. NET.....

For Boys and Girls from 5 to 10 Years of Age.

FOUR BOOKS of entertaining and instructive adventures in nature's wonderland. New ideas featuring subjects most familiar to boys and girls. Stories of funny little people who come from the ground, the bushes and the trees, at Moon Queen's command. Each character an exact representation of an animated Vegetable, Flower, Fruit or Berry. Frontispiece shows them in comparative sizes and natural colors, while their individual characteristics are cleverly woven into the stories.

Every Chapter Attractively Illustrated, Full of Action, Humorous Situations and Valuable Information.

....VENTUROUS VEGETABLES.
These funny little people meet Matthew Mole, Christy Crow, Reuben Rabbit and other interesting characters while on their way to the Frolic Grounds.

....FROLICSOME FLOWERS.
A giant Bumblebee takes them to the wonderful Rajah Rug, where they have many adventures with the Prince and Princess, Edgar Eagle, Henrietta Hummingbird, and others.

....FOLKSY FRUITS.
They take a marvelous trip from Tony's store to Opal Orchard and meet Matthew Mole, Teddy and Tommy Toad, Gip Gopher and many other oddities.

....BRAINY BERRIES.
Their interesting and exciting adventures in the weird depths of Crystal Cave acquaint them with Jolly Jim, Billy Bear, the Waltzing Waiters, and other equally odd and amusing individuals.

PRESENT DAY ETIQUETTE

INCLUDING SOCIAL FORMS

By VIRGINIA VAN DE WATER

Approved by Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson

12 MO. CLOTH BOUND. $1.00. NET.....

Mrs. Van de Water belongs to an old New York family and her fine manners and social observance are inborn. She is a daughter of Marion Harland and sister of Albert Payson Terhune, the well-known novelist. Her experience enables her to write an etiquette book of unequaled excellence. She writes of rules and regulations in a concise way quickly readable and understood, In writing this book, Mrs. Van de Water has had in mind not the immensely rich, but people of average means and aspirations.

This volume is especially rich in the form letters which it supplies to meet every social occasion—invitations, acceptances, letters of introduction, of condolence, etc., etc.

A complete index makes possible immediate reference to the discussion of every doubtful point.

As Mrs. Gibson says in her introduction, "An intelligent adherence to the suggestions given in this book will lead any man to greater business and social success, and any woman to added graciousness and charm."

LIST OF PUBLICATIONS BY DESIGNATING NUMBER *

Index Medicus. Classified Record of the Current Medical Literature of the World. Publication of the Index Medicus began in 1879 and was discontinued in 1899. The first series, comprising 21 volumes, is now out of print, though copies may sometimes be obtained from dealers in second-hand books. The second series, issued monthly, was begun in 1903 under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington and continued in that form until 1920. The third series, issued quarterly, dates from 1921 through 1926.

In January 1927, the Cumulative Quarterly Index, issued by the American Medical Association, was joined with the Index Medicus in a new publication known as the Quarterly Cumulative Index Medicus. This journal is published by the American Medical Association, 535 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, to which all communications and subscriptions should be sent. The first number appeared in April, 1927.

All orders for copies of the second and third series of the Index Medicus should be sent to the Carnegie Institution of Washington, Washington, D. C.

Part I. Summaries and Comparisons of the Properties of the Starches and of the Tissues of Parent-stocks and Hybrid-stocks. Applications of the Results of the Researches to the Germ-plasm, Variations, Fluctuations, Sports, Mutants, Species, Taxonomy, Heredity, etc. Notes and Conclusions. Pages xi + 1 to 376, 34 plates, 820 charts.
Part II. Special, General, and Comparative Laboratory Data of the Properties of the Starches and of the Tissues of Parent-stocks and Hybrid-stocks. Pages vii + 377 to 834.

271. Contributions to Embryology, Nos. 24 to 26. Vol. VIII. Quarto, 198 pages, 10 plates, 23 text-figures. (1918) . . . . . Cloth, $6.00

This book contains the following papers:

STREETER, GEORGE L.—The Development Alterations in the Vascular System of the Brain of the Human Embryo. (Contribution No. 24.) 38 pp., 5 pls., 12 text-figures.
COWDRY, E. V.—The Mitochondrial Constituents of Protoplasm. (Contribution No. 25.) 120 pages, 1 plate, 9 text-figures.
KUNITOMO, KANAE.—The Development and Reduction of the Tail and the Caudal End of the Spinal Cord. (Contribution No. 26.) 38 pages, 4 plates, 2 text-figures.

272. Contributions to Embryology. Nos. 27 to 46. Vol. IX. Quarto, 561 pages, 54 plates, 77 text-figures. (1920) . . . . . Cloth, $19.00

This volume (a memorial to Franklin Paine Mall) contains the following papers:

MACKLIN, CHARLES C.—The Development and Function of Macrophages in the Repair of Experimental Bone-Wounds in Rats vitally stained with Trypan-Blue. (Contribution No. 27.) 46 pages, 4 plates.
DUESBERG, J.—Cytoplasmic Structures in the Seminal Epithelium of the Opossum. (Contribution No. 28.) 38 pages, 2 plates, 5 text-figures.
CORNER, GEORGE W.—On the Widespread Occurrence of Reticular Fibrils produced by Capillary Endothelium. (Contribution No. 29.) 9 pages, 2 plates.

272. Continued.

WHEELER, THEODORA.—Variability in the Spinal Column as regards Defective Neural Arches (Rudimentary Spina Bifida). (Contribution No. 30.) 13 pages, 11 text-figures.

VAN DER STRICHT, O.—The Arrangement and Structure of Sustentacular Cells and Hair Cells in the Developing Organ of Corti. (Contribution No. 31.) 34 pages, 4 plates.

RETZER, ROBERT.—The Sino-ventricular Bundle: A Functional Interpretation of Morphological Findings. (Contribution No. 32.) 14 pages, 1 plate.

JENKINS, GEORGE B.—A Study of the Superior Olive. (Contribution No. 33.) 16 pages, 2 plates, 1 text-figure.

SCHULTZ, ADOLPH H.—The Development of the External Nose in Whites and Negroes. (Contribution No. 34.) 18 pages, 1 plate, 7 text-figures.

LEWIS, MARGARET REED.—Muscular Contraction in Tissue Cultures. (Contribution No. 35.) 22 pages, 2 plates, 6 text-figures.

SABIN, FLORENCE R.—Studies on the Origin of Blood-vessels and of Red Blood-corpuscles as seen in the Living Blastoderm of Chicks during the Second Day of Incubation. (Contribution No. 36.) 50 pages, 6 plates, 1 text-figure.

BEAN, ROBERT B.—Notes on the Post-natal Growth of the Heart, Kidneys, Liver, and Spleen in Man. (Contribution No. 37.) 22 pages, 8 text-figures.

MILLER, WILLIAM S.—A Morphological Study of the Tracheal and Bronchial Cartilages. (Contribution No. 38.) 14 pages, 2 plates, 11 text-figures.

LEWIS, WARREN H.—The Cartilaginous Skull of a Human Embryo 21 millimeters in length. (Contribution No. 39.) 26 pages, 5 plates.

MEYER, ARTHUR W.—Hydatiform Degeneration in Tubal and Uterine Pregnancy. (Contribution No. 40.) 40 pages, 6 plates.

MYERS, BURTON D.—A Study of the Development of Certain Features of the Cerebellum. (Contribution No. 41.) 11 pages, 6 text-figures.

ESSICK, CHARLES R.—Formation of Macrophages by the Cells lining the Subarachnoid Cavity in response to the Stimulus of Particulate Matter. (Contribution No. 42.) 12 pages, 1 plate.

STREETER, GEORGE L.—A Human Embryo (Mateer) of the Presomite Period. (Contribution No. 43.) 36 pages, 7 plates, 4 text-figures, 3 charts.

WEED, LEWIS H.—The Experimental Production of an Internal Hydrocephalus. (Contribution No. 44.) 22 pages, 2 plates.

CLARK, ELIOT R., and ELEANOR LINTON CLARK.—On the Origin and Early Development of the Lymphatic System of the Chick. (Contribution No. 45.) 36 pages, 7 plates, 15 text-figures.

BARDEEN, C. R.—The Height-weight Index of Build in relation to Linear and Volumetric Proportions and Surface Area of the Body during Post-natal Development. (Contribution No. 46.) 72 pages, 11 charts, 2 text-figures.

273. Contributions to Embryology, Nos. 47 and 48. Vol. X. Quarto, iii + 103 pages, 16 plates. (1921) $6.00

This book contains the following papers:

EVANS, HERBERT MCLEAN, and KATHARINE J. SCOTT.—On the Differential Reaction to Vital Dyes of the Two Great Groups of Connective-Tissue Cells. (Contribution No. 47.) 55 pages, 11 plates.

MACKLIN, CHARLES C.—The Skull of a Human Fetus of 43 Millimeters Greatest Length. (Contribution No. 48.) 48 pages, 5 plates.

274. Contributions to Embryology, Nos. 49 to 55. Vol. XI. Quarto, 173 pages, 15 plates, 6 charts, 12 text-figures. (1920) . . . . . In cloth, $15.00

This book contains the following papers:

DANCHAKOFF, VERA.—Myeloid Metaplasia of the Embryonic Mesenchyme in relation to Cell Potentialities and Differential Factors. (Contribution No. 49.) 32 pp., 5 pls.

LINEBACK, PAUL E.—Studies on the Longitudinal Muscle of the Human Colon, with special reference to the Development of the Tæniæ. (Contribution No. 50.) 12 pp., 8 text-figures.

WISLOCKI, GEORGE B.—Experimental Studies on Fetal Absorption. (Contribution No. 51.) 16 pp., 4 pls., 1 text-figure.

I. The Vitally Stained Fetus.

II. The Behavior of the Fetal Membranes and Placenta of the Cat Toward Colloidal Dyes Injected into the Maternal Blood-stream.

INGALLS, N. WILLIAM.—A Human Embryo at the Beginning of Segmentation, with special reference to the Vascular System. (Contribution No. 52.) 30 pp., 5 plates, 1 text-figure.

BARRY, LEE WILLIS.—The Effects of Inanition in the Pregnant Albino Rat with Special Reference to the Changes in the Relative Weights of the Various Parts, Systems, and Organs of the Offspring. (Contribution No. 53.) 46 pp.

CORNER, GEORGE W.—A Case of True Lateral Hermaphroditism in a Pig with Functional Ovary. (Contribution No. 54.) 6 pp., 1 pl.

STREETER, GEORGE L.—Weight, Sitting Height, Head Size, Foot Length, and Menstrual Age of the Human Embryo. (Contribution No. 55.) 28 pp., 2 text-figures, 6 charts.

275. Contributions to Embryology, No. 56. Vol. XII. Quarto. (1921) . $6.00

MALL, F. P., and A. W. MEYER.—Studies on Abortuses: A Survey of the Pathologic Ova in the Carnegie Embryological Collection. 364 pp., 24 plates, 6 text-figures.

276. Contributions to Embryology, Nos. 57 to 64. Vol. XIII. Quarto, 146 pages, 15 plates, 25 text-figures, 1 chart. (1921) $4.00

This book contains the following papers:

CASH, JAMES R.—On the Development of the Lymphatics in the Stomach of the Embryo Pig. (Contribution No. 57.) 15 pages, 3 plates, 3 text-figures.

REICHERT, F. L.—On the Fate of the Primary Lymph-Sacs in the Abdominal Region of the Pig, and the Development of Lymph-Channels in the Abdominal and Pelvic Regions. (Contribution No. 58.) 23 pages, 5 text-figures.

JENKINS, GEORGE B.—Relative Weight and Volume of the Component Parts of the Brain of the Human Embryo at Different Stages of Development. (Contribution No. 59.) 20 pages, 12 text-figures, 1 chart.

CORNER, GEORGE W.—Abnormalities of the Mammalian Embryo occurring before Implantation. (Contribution No. 60.) 6 pages, 2 plates, 1 text-figure.

SPAULDING, M. H.—Development of the External Genitalia in the Human Embryo. (Contribution No. 61.) 22 pages, 4 plates, 2 text-figures.

WISLOCKI, GEORGE B.—Further Experimental Studies on Fetal Absorption: (Contribution No. 62.)

III. Behavior of the Fetal Membranes and Placenta of the Guinea-Pig toward Trypan-Blue injected into the Maternal Blood-stream. 8 pages.

IV. Behavior of the Placenta and Fetal Membranes of the Rabbit toward Trypan-Blue injected into the Maternal Blood-Stream. 5 pages, 1 plate.

WISLOCKI, GEORGE B., and J. A. KEY.—Distribution of Mitochondria in the Placenta. (Contribution No. 63.) 13 pages, 1 plate.

CORNER, G. W.—Cyclic Changes in the Ovaries and Uterus of the Sow, and Their Relation to Mechanism of Implantation. (Contribution No. 64.) 30 pp., 4 pls., 2 text-figures.

277. Contributions to Embryology, Nos. 65 to 71. Vol. XIV. Quarto, iii + 162 pages, 17 plates, 41 text-figures. (1922) $3.50

This book contains the following papers:

SABIN, F. R.—Direct Growth of Veins by Sprouting. (Contribution No. 65.) 10 pages, 1 plate.

BUELL, C. E.—Origin of the Pulmonic Vessels in the Chick. (Contribution No. 66.) 16 pages, 2 plates.

DOAN, CHARLES A.—The Circulation of the Bone Marrow. (Contribution No. 67.) 19 pages, 1 plate, 3 text-figures.

CONGDON, E. G.—Transformation of the Aortic-Arch System During the Development of the Human Embryo. (Contribution No. 68.) 64 pages, 3 plates, 28 text-figures.

STREETER, GEORGE L.—Development of the Auricle in the Human Embryo. (Contribution No. 69.) 28 pages, 6 plates, 8 text-figures.

WOOLLARD, H. H.—The Development of the Principal Arterial Stems in the Fore-limb of the Pig. (Contribution No. 70.) 16 pages, 2 plates.

FINLEY, ELLEN B.—Development of the Subcutaneous Vascular Plexus in the Head of the Human Embryo. (Contribution No. 71.) 7 pages, 2 plates, 2 text-figures.

A LITTLE CLOWN LOST. By Barry Benefield, author of "Bugles in the Night," "The Chicken-Wagon Family," etc. 12mo, 317 pages. $2.00

This powerful and dramatic story of one little clown's antics in the great sawdust ring of life itself is beyond all question Barry Benefield's tour de force. Phoebe Dibble, daughter of old Hooker Dibble, the itinerant "yarb doctor," is a happy and yet plaintive child of the road when she wanders into the life of wild young Shep Tideboy and becomes his wife. But she is at heart a valiant trouper and it is she who runs away and tries to hide herself behind the grease paint smile of the circus clown when she finds that she is encroaching on Shep's scholarly dreams of the Middle Ages.

This is certainly the most thoughtful and deeply moving work which Mr. Benefield has written in his interesting career as a master of the unusual in American fiction. The publishers feel certain that A Little Clown Lost will prove to be one of the outstanding novels of the Autumn season, and one that will live.

DAY OF FORTUNE. By Norman Matson. 12mo, 356 pages. $2.50

This is the story of a Norwegian immigrant family in the throes of becoming Americanized. The children grow up in a manufacturing center of the Middle West; they are still young when the family pursues its fortune to San Francisco. Fortune is fickle to them, and the family breaks up to follow its separate impulses. Mr. Matson writes of middle-class childhood with a sureness of detail and a beautifully sensitive pen. He makes one feel piercingly the vague stirrings, the hard disappointments, the whole terribly serious tragi-comedy of adolescent youth.

THE GOLDEN ROUND. By Frances Winwar, author of "The Ardent Flame." 12mo, 300 pages. $2.00

The relentless passions of thirteenth century Italy weave and clash in this romance of Piers, the cobbler's son, and his beloved Emperor Frideric. Piers is torn between the evil promptings of his ambitious and beautiful wife, the enmity of Pope Gregory IX toward his master, and his own loyalty. This is a gorgeously written story, combining the tragedy and glamour of high romance with the blunt, roguish humor of a Chaucer or a Boccaccio in the scenes of common life.

BABE EVANSON. By Catharine Brody. 12mo, 424 pages. $2.50

This is a realistic story of New York's East Side, the New York of ugly hot red stone tenements, where the garish joys of Coney Island are the apotheosis of Heaven. In such a world Babe Evanson, a pretty stenographer, who is sensitive enough to be worried by the intricacies of life and brave enough to attempt to solve them, blindly wrestles with existence, meeting disillusionment without understanding. There are a quiet restraint and power in this first novel which show Miss Brody to be a young writer of originality and promise. Babe Evanson is a fine piece of characterization.

THE NEW TEMPLE. By Johan Bojer, author of "The Emigrants," "The Great Hunger," etc. 12mo, 341 pages. $2.50

This, a sequel to "The Great Hunger," is the story of a young man's search for God. Cast away from parents and fortune, Lorentz Holm sets a proud and bitter face on the world and goes forth to find a new God different from the conventionalized Christ. In the end it is his old parents, Peer and Merle, and his sister Louise who by their patience and love for him help him to see God. This is a beautiful and moving story, infused with Bojer's deep feeling for nature and humanity.

FOOLS IN MORTAR. By Doris Leslie, author of "The Starling." 12mo, 339 pages. $2.00

This is the story of twenty-year-old Noel Sothern's love for a married man, begun in the romantic atmosphere of moonlit Sicily, carried on furtively but with a passionate fierceness in the secrecy of London, and ending in a "safe" marriage which is doomed from the start by the girl's own honesty. It is a brilliant picture of a girl's mental and emotional life, set against a background of the flashy, decadent individualists who haunt the theaters and theatrical managers' offices of London.

TENTS OF WICKEDNESS. By Mella Russell McCallum. 12mo, 350 pages. $2.50

Back in the seventies, when a traveling circus was called a caravan, Bess Marvel, bareback rider, fell under the spell of a stern young Puritanical farmer named Adam Whitaker, and married him. Adam wanted his wife to become "a good Christian," but all her life she longed for one of her children to go back to her beloved "profession." How the gay blood of the born performer bubbled forth in her orphan grand-daughter Carol is told in the climax of this moving and beautifully written story.

WAY FOR A SAILOR. By Albert Richard Wetjen. 12mo, 350 pages. $2.50

A rugged, man-to-man recital of a sailor's life—ordinary seaman at fifteen years, fourth mate at the age of twenty. Jack Lassan tells his own story, taking one with unaffected vigor through storms and shipwrecks, "pubs" and brothels, broad oceans and foreign ports, salt-swept foredecks and brilliantly lighted passenger saloons. The plot is the daily life of the sailor, and the writing has such sincerity and sweep that the reader is caught up, hypnotized by the ceaseless rhythm and plunge of the sea.

FLOWERDOWN. By Ann Knox. 12mo, 350 pages. $2.50

A novel of modern England, and of young love fighting against misunderstanding and frustration. Economic pressure forces the Flowerdowns to sell their old estate to a family of nouveaux riches Americans, the flashy but likable Van der Vaughans. Bryany Flowerdown sees her lifelong love for Christopher Beecher crumbling before the onslaught of American wealth and beauty, and tries to hide the pain of it by living secluded in London. The return of her old lover precipitates a catastrophe that is at once beautiful and tragic. The story combines old-world charm with tragic restraint, rich humor with deep pathos.

THE FIGURED FLAME. By Jane Darrow. 12mo, 352 pages. $2.50

Here is a first novel of fresh and unusual beauty. Eve Marvin is a girl whose genuine artistic talent, inherited from her father, has been rigorously repressed by her mother and tabby-cat aunts. When love calls, Eve does not know how to answer; when a career is in her grasp she lets it slip. A father's spirit and a lover's understanding help her eventually to find herself. In a transparently beautiful style the story records the triumph of a girl's urge to artistic creation.

THE DOOR OF DEATH. By John Esteven. 12mo, 283 pages. $2.00

A mystery story in which not only human motives but the inscrutable influence of Renaissance intrigue brooding over a millionaire's villa intermingle to produce a baffling tragedy. Francis Ballion, wealthy collector and antiquary, has built for his home an Italian Renaissance palace, one feature of which, the "Door of Death,"—supposed to be used only on occasions of burial,—plays a sinister part in the unfolding of the drama. Plot and treachery, poison and the rack, are woven into an atmosphere of horror which is strongly reminiscent of the work of Edgar Allan Poe.

THE TURKISH ORDEAL: FURTHER MEMOIRS OF HALIDÉ EDIB. By Halidé Edib. Royal 8vo, 430 pages. 16 illustrations. Colored frontispiece. $4.00

The remarkable Turkish woman whose epoch-making revolt against the antique barbarism of certain Turkish customs was described in "Memoirs of Halidé Edib," here continues the story of her fight for social reform and modern enlightenment in Turkey. The political and social history of the entire country from the close of the War until within a few years of the present is intimately reflected in these memoirs. It is the story of the awakening of a nation, by a woman who was largely responsible for that awakening and who won great personal distinction for her part in it.

LAMBS IN MARCH: AND OTHER ESSAYS. By Anne Bosworth Greene. Rough cut. 8vo, 350 pages. Decorated. $2.50

Beautifully written essays by the author of "Dipper Hill" and "The Lone Winter," ranging all the way from a childhood in England to a sketching trip on horseback in the Yosemite. Mrs. Greene writes with a deep love of the open and of horses, reflected in "Night-Winds and Stars," "Saddle and Campstool in the Yellowstone," etc. The atmosphere of the unusual in farm life is charmingly presented in "The Rabbit-Cat" and "Lambs in March." An altogether delightful book.

HEART OF THE WOODS. By Isabel Adams. Rough cut. 8vo, 365 pages. $2.50

The charm of the Laurentians, the forest-clad mountains of eastern Canada, pervades this book. A delicate story is laid against the background of the author's long-loved home on the hill, furnishing sympathetic and humorous descriptions of the household, the habitants of the neighboring French-Canadian villages, the summer visitors, etc. There are also camping, fishing, and hunting, and a description of a forest fire closing in on the camp many miles from the settlements. The altogether delightful personality of the author shines through the book.

MORNING MOODS. By Lorna Greene. 12mo, 125 pages. $1.75

A volume of youthful, strong verse, whose freshness and originality, rare sense of beauty, outdoor imaginings, largeness of vision, and depth of psychological perception reflect the personality of a young poet who was tragically killed in a motor accident, when not quite twenty-four. A biographical introduction by her mother, Anne Bosworth Greene, throwing light upon the scene and circumstance in which the various poems were composed, adds to the poignancy of this unusual volume.

THE UNKNOWN WARRIOR. A Play by Paul Raynal. Translated by Cecil Lewis. Tall 12mo, 300 pages. $2.50

This powerful play was first acted at the Comédie Française under the title, "Le Tombeau Sous l'Arc de Triomphe." It has also been produced in Sweden, Austria, Germany, and England, everywhere achieving a memorable success. The action involves the fortunes of three people—a poilu, his father, and his fiancée. Patriotism, combined with horror of war, whirls them blindly along to a surging climax. Deeply inlaid with irony, the play is still intensely, bitterly human. Of it Bernard Shaw said, "It was almost worth having war to have so fine a play."

THE CHEVALIER BAYARD. By Samuel Shellabarger. 8vo, 377 pages. 32 illustrations. $4.00

This is the first complete English biography of the great French knight, "without fear or blame," the last great figure of chivalry. The narrative follows Bayard's military career in the campaign of Charles VIII, Louis XII, and Francis I into Italy, and shows his even greater prowess as a peace-time administrator, a brave, loyal, and magnanimous gentleman. Mr. Shellabarger makes clear, however, that with all his great qualities Bayard was thoroughly human and not a "plaster saint." The fast disappearing pageantry of the Middle Ages forms a background of tournaments and sieges.

BULLETS AND BOLOS: THIRTEEN YEARS IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS. By John R. White, Colonel Philippine Constabulary, Retired. 8vo, 360 pages. 16 illustrations. $3.50

The author of this vivid history served in the Philippines when he was still in his teens, first with the army and then with the newly-formed constabulary. He rose to be Senior Inspector, with the rank of captain, in Mindanao, and served intimately under Generals Leonard Wood and J. G. Harbord. His adventures against the natives have an epic quality. This book is an authoritative, straightforward, thrilling record of a little-known chapter in the story of American rule abroad. BULLETS AND BOLOS contains a foreword by General James Guthrie Harbord.

THE MARCH OF THE MORMON BATTALION. By Frank Alfred Golder. Foreword by Senator Reed Smoot. 8vo, 280 pages. Illustrated. $3.50

In 1846 the United States Government enlisted a battalion of five hundred men from the Mormons encamped at Council Bluffs, Iowa, to fight in the Mexican War. Largely from the journal of Henry Standage, Professor Golder has reconstructed the heroic story of this body of men, with vivid contemporary descriptions of the Indians, the frontier country, and California before the gold rush. Letters and papers of Brigham Young, his friends and his enemies, also serve to give an interesting picture of the whole Mormon movement, with both sides fairly represented.

WORLD DRIFT. By Edward Alsworth Ross, author of "Standing Room Only?" "The Changing Chinese," etc. 12mo, 223 pages. $2.00

In this book Professor Ross views some of the sociological problems of the world from a variety of angles. He presents new facts on the birth and death rates of the bright and the stupid, discusses the slow suicide of the old-American stock, sets up a new standard for measuring the degree of capitalism of different countries, epochs, and industries. There are two startling chapters on observations in India and the respective good the Briton and the Indian get out of British control. A thought-provoking book by an experienced and outspoken sociological expert.

OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL CULTURE: AN INTERPRETATION. By Maurice Parmelee. 8vo, 375 pages. 32 illustrations. $4.00

A distinguished and widely traveled sociologist compares the cultures of the East and of the West and describes their contact and influence upon each other. He contrasts Eastern mysticism with Western activism, the subordination of the individual in the East with Western democracy, analyzes differences in sexual standards, in the attitude toward nature, diet, temperance, work and leisure, etc. He shows also the not altogether beneficial effects of Western imperialism, industrialization, and Christian missions on cultural relations, and suggests things the West can learn from the East.

THE IMPATIENCE OF A LAYMAN. By Hugh A. Studdert Kennedy. 12mo, 275 pages. $2.00

Here is a challenge to all, a ringing call to a new reality in religion and life, urging mankind to have done with its useless preoccupation with evil and pain, and to give its whole attention to what is good and joyful. Mr. Studdert Kennedy is an experienced scholar and a gentle, forceful man whose common sense, practicality, and fresh and delightful personality are reflected in this inspiring volume.

A NATURALIST AT THE SEASHORE. By William Crowder. Small quarto, 360 pages. 8 color plates and numerous illustrations in black and white. $10.00

This is a narrative detailing a naturalist's observations of the lives and habits of lower marine animals along the shore of Long Island Sound. It describes the lives and loves of sea-spiders, the mortal combats of skeleton-shrimps, together with the author's more scientific observations of these various creatures under the microscope. Both by his genial style and by his own brilliant illustrations, Mr. Crowder has created a beautiful and fascinating book for nature-lovers and art-lovers.

MARVELS OF SCIENCE. By M. K. Wisehart. 12mo, 250 pages. 16 illustrations. $2.50

A collection of popular articles on some of the most startling and little-known aspects of practical science. Among the titles are "Marvelous Secrets Revealed by the Microscope," "The House of a Thousand Marvels,"—an account of the functions of the Bureau of Standards in Washington,—"The Wonders of Chemistry in Your Everyday Life," "The Wonder Story of Asbestos," etc. This book answers the continuous demand to know more about the growing influence of science in our daily lives.

NIGHTS ABROAD. By Konrad Bercovici, author of "Around the World in New York," etc. Rough cut 8vo, 400 pages. 20 illustrations. $4.00

A series of glowing sketches of old-world cities as seen in the magic atmosphere of night, when the garish, "touristy" sights and noises of daytime have disappeared. The reader stands with the author on the bridge at Toledo, listening to the voice of the Tagus flowing through the Spanish night; or he glides through the streets of Venice and falls under the spell of the mysterious, cruel city of the past. Mr. Bercovici's books on gipsies and foreign life are widely known for their color and charm.

THE FRINGE OF THE MOSLEM WORLD. By Harry A. Franck, author of "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," etc. 8vo, 426 pages. 64 illustrations. $4.00

The "Prince of Vagabonds" turns his insatiable curiosity toward the nearer edge of Asia. In his enthusiastic, intimate style Mr. Franck takes Egypt, Palestine, Transjordania, Syria, and the "new" Turkey and brings them vividly home to us out of their remote associations. His fascinating travels include the Easter ceremonies at Jerusalem, visits to Colonel Lawrence's country, swims in the Dead Sea and the Sea of Galilee, and first-hand estimates of the changes in the Near East due to European mandates. There is also a skilful picture of the modernized "Terrible Turk."

A-RAFTING ON THE MISSISSIP'. By Charles Edward Russell. 8vo, 337 pages. 16 illustrations. $3.50

This is the first historical account of the rise and development of the logging, lumber, and rafting industry of the Mississippi basin. Mr. Russell shows how the pine woods of Wisconsin and Minnesota, transported by Mississippi rafts and raftsmen, furnished the material from which were constructed the prairie homes of the emigrants flowing to the West from 1832 to 1890. The narrative is enriched by stories of celebrated river men and by some of the author's own experiences along the Father of Waters.

TO BAGDAD AND BACK. By Joe Mitchell Chapple. Royal 8vo, 298 pages. Fully illustrated with photographs and colored prints. Gilt top. Boxed. $6.00

A journey to the land of "The Arabian Nights" covering something like 16,000 miles by train, steamer, automobile, camel back, and airplane. The author has a genius for drawing out taciturn natives, be they Syrian merchants, Arab sheiks, Egyptian dragomans, or Sudanese chieftains, and investing them with charm and humor. In describing the ancient cities of Bagdad and Damascus, Jerusalem, Cairo, and Khartoum, he makes one feel the strange contrast between the long-dead but haunting past and the present with all its inventions and efficiency which are filtering into this part of the world.

FABULOUS NEW ORLEANS. By Lyle Saxon, author of "Father Mississippi." Royal 8vo, 360 pages. 32 illustrations by E. H. Suydam. Colored frontispiece. $5.00

New Orleans, the City of Mystery, lives and glows in the picturesque prose of the author of "Father Mississippi" and in the drawings of E. H. Suydam, talented illustrator of "Highlights of Manhattan." Mr. Saxon knows his New Orleans, past and present, and brings out in this book the mysterious, tragic, dark side of the city's life which makes it utterly different from any other city in the United States. This is both a readable guide to New Orleans and a notable contribution to the literature of the South in which Lyle Saxon is an increasingly important figure.

MEXICO AND ITS HERITAGE. By Ernest Gruening. Royal 8vo, 700 pages. Profusely illustrated. $6.00

An authoritative and impartial explanation of what is really going on in Mexico, by a man who knows the country thoroughly, past and present. "Why are there revolutions in Mexico? Will they continue? What underlies the incessant religious conflicts? What causes the unceasing friction between Mexico and the United States, which has brought the countries repeatedly to the verge of war and may again?" These are a few of the puzzling and internationally significant questions which Mr. Gruening answers with the candor of an expert in this important book.

THE NEW MAP OF SOUTH AMERICA. By Herbert Adams Gibbons, author of "The New Map of Europe," etc. 8vo, 500 pages. Map. $3.00

Dr. Gibbons here covers another continent in his series of international studies which already embraces Europe, Africa, and Asia. He discusses the relations of each of the South American countries with its neighbors, and the position of the continent as a whole in the affairs of the world. To this end he tells enough about the natural resources and the past achievements of each country to make clear its place in contemporary history. A comprehensive book, of great value in understanding the foreign policies of our own country as well as those of our southern neighbors.

THE LAST OF FREE AFRICA. By Gordon MacCreagh, author of "White Waters and Black." 8vo, 400 pages. 64 illustrations. $4.00

Abyssinia—the only country in Africa that has never bowed to a foreign power—is the subject of this spirited narrative. Mr. MacCreagh tells a little of everything about this independent black empire—how to get there, how they live there, what to hunt there, and, at the back of it all, why the country has always been and is still free. Humor and anecdote go hand in hand with the author's shrewd exposition of Abyssinia's place in world politics and the opportunities its development offers to American enterprise.

MY AFRICAN GARDEN. By Sheila MacDonald. 12mo, 279 pages. Illustrated. $2.00

The tribulations of a garden lover in South Africa are legion. Fortunately the writer of this book has such an irrepressible sense of humor that her many disasters and misadventures with sandstorms, hailstorms, incompetent native servants, dead animals and living insects, are turned into a delightful series of incidents. Also, there are the twins and "Martie," their governess, who starts out as a misfit but ends as a lion-killer and heart-breaker. The descriptions of what the author accomplished with her garden are filled with charm and information.

THE FLAVOR OF HOLLAND. By Adèle de Leeuw. 8vo, 344 pages. 32 illustrations. $4.00

This is a charming account of a visit to Holland, made especially valuable because the author was under the guidance of her father, a native Hollander. Consequently her observations are fortified by a real knowledge of the country, of its customs and costumes, its farms and flower culture, its harbors and waterways, and especially of the kindly, tolerant character of its people. Miss de Leeuw writes with a sense of humor and charm of expression that make the book a delight for those about to visit Holland or for those who have returned from that fascinating land.

THANKSGIVING DAY IN MODERN STORY. Edited by Maud van Buren and Katharine I. Bemis. 12mo, 375 pages. $2.50

This is the fourth in the popular series of anthologies which already comprises "Christmas in Modern Story," "Christmas in Storyland," and "Mother in Modern Story." The editors have explored the files of modern magazines and short-story collections to find these genuine family stories appealing to both adults and older young people. Like its predecessors, this book has a perennial charm and makes an excellent gift.

HELP YOURSELF! By Doris Webster and Mary Alden Hopkins. 12mo, 175 pages. $1.25

Close in the wake of its popular forerunners, "I've Got Your Number" and "Marriage Made Easy," comes a third book of "psychoanalysis with a smile," by that pair of inventive geniuses, Webster and Hopkins. By their uncanny system of questions and key-numbers, they direct the young man or woman "How to Get a Girl" and "How to Get a Beau," and in addition each user may find out how best to employ his or her particular brand of charm and his or her particular line of talk.

THE BOYS' LIFE OF FRÉMONT. By Flora Warren Seymour. 12mo, 300 pages. Illustrated. $2.00

A biography for young people of the explorer and soldier who awakened young America to the wonder of our Western possessions. Frémont made five thrilling journeys of exploration into the little-known West, and helped win California for the American flag. He was the first Republican candidate for President of the United States, and a firm enemy of slavery in the Civil War. Frémont knew poverty and hatred as well as glory, but he is a fine example of energy, courage, and patriotism.

A PATRIOT MAID AND OTHER STORIES. By Emily Benson Knipe and Alden Arthur Knipe, authors of "The Lucky Sixpence," "The Lost Little Lady," etc. 12mo, 250 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

Boys and girls play adventurous parts in these stories of Revolutionary days. An American lass outwits the Hessians and rescues the family fortune in one story; in another a young girl's daredevil feat saves the life of young George Washington from Indians. These are stirring, exciting stories of courage and native resourcefulness, by two of the most deservedly popular writers of juveniles to-day.

THE FLYING V MYSTERY. By Joseph Bushnell Ames, author of "Under Boy Scout Colors," etc. 12mo, 207 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

The author of a great many fine boys' stories here writes a sequel to "The Mounted Troop" and "The Secret of Spirit Lake," his two most popular stories. THE FLYING V MYSTERY is a tale of Boy Scouts in the West, and combines the elements which are eagerly sought by juvenile readers—outdoor adventure and a good, baffling mystery, eventually solved by the efforts of the Scouts.

SUBSTITUTE JIMMY. By Ralph Henry Barbour, author of "The Crimson Sweater," etc. 12mo, 280 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

Another rattling good school story by the prince of boys' story-tellers. Jimmy is a nice kid who arrives at Riverbend School with a fairly good opinion of Jimmy and of Jimmy's football ability. Being relegated to the second team jars him considerably. But he manages to patch up a feud, thereby helping his school to some land it has long needed, and in the big game Jimmy has a clever finger in the pie.

THOSE CARELESS KINCAIDS. By Louise Seymour Hasbrouck. 12mo, 241 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

Rosemary and Delight Kincaid were a little too full of life—"careless," Miss Parsons thought them—to live through their vacation on the St. Lawrence in the conventional way that was planned for them. They managed to get involved in the most surprising adventures, with boy campers, State troopers, etc. This is a diverting story containing genuine character, showing at the same time the independent, fearless, and wholesome relation of modern young people to modern parents.

CAPTAIN MADELEINE. By Mary Constance Du Bois, author of "The League of the Signet-Ring," etc. 12mo, 276 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

Captain Madeleine, the heroine of Fort Verchères, was a girl who really lived in the days when Canada was New France, and she accomplished the very deeds told about in this story. The scene opens in a Mohawk village, where lives An-da, the captive white maiden. She helps the white chief's son to escape. They make their way to Fort Verchères, and the rest of the book describes the clever and daring defense of the fort by its heroic captain, Madeleine, against the Indians.

SONS OF THE MOUNTED POLICE. By T. Morris Longstreth, author of "The Silent Force," "Ade of the Marcy Mounted," etc. 12mo, 250 pages. 8 illustrations. $2.00

A thrilling, breath-taking, and absolutely true record of what happened to four young men who joined the Mounted Police of Canada, written by the popular outdoor writer and trusted historian of the Force. He describes first the trials and tribulations of these men as "rookies," and then follows their exploits in several of the most sensational cases the Force has handled in recent years. These involve hunting seditious Indians in British Columbia, unearthing the greatest drug trafficker on the West Coast, digging out a counterfeiters' plot in Montreal, and other equally amazing feats.

THE BOYS' LIFE OF JOHN BURROUGHS. By Dallas Lore Sharp, author of "A Watcher in the Woods," etc. 12mo, 300 pages. Illustrated. $2.00

In this book a great living nature-lover tells the life story of perhaps the greatest lover of and writer about nature this country has known. John Burroughs' early life was a tremendous struggle to educate himself, and boys of all ages will derive inspiration from reading how this boy overcame his handicaps. Here is a fascinating and stimulating glimpse into the inner life of the famous nature-poet, philosopher, and occupant of "Woodchuck Lodge," by his most ardent admirer and follower.

THE FORTUNES OF JOHN HAWK. By Grace MacGowan Cooke. 12mo, 300 pages. Illustrated. $2.00

A highly interesting juvenile laid in New York at the close of the Revolutionary War. John Hawk is a white boy, brought up by Indians. He escapes from some British officers who have enslaved him and comes under the protection of an elderly Englishman who sympathizes with the Americans. After a large number of colorful adventures, a surprising discovery is made about John Hawk's identity. The book abounds in incident and pleasing pictures of the long-forgotten old New York.

THE TROJAN BOY. By Helen Coale Crew. 12mo, 207 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

The story of the siege of Troy is here charmingly retold for younger readers. The two principal characters are boys, one of them a servant in the house of Hector, who falls into numerous adventures in trying to perform military duties too arduous for his tender age. This is Homer's story told from a new and delightful point of view, and containing the wise lesson that true manhood lies in quietly doing one's duty, however unexciting this may be, rather than in deeds of conspicuous bravado.

LINDA'S EL DORADO. By Allen Chaffee, author of "Tony and the Big Top," etc. 12mo, 203 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

A story of adventure in the West in the gold-prospecting days of 1852. Two boys and their sister go West to join their father in Washington Territory, but when he fails to meet them they suspect foul play. Their adventures while searching for him and the surprising upshot of their hunt make a thrilling story, set against excellent descriptions of the colorful Northwest, and the picturesque life of the gold-seekers.

ADVENTURES IN AFGHANISTAN FOR BOYS. By Lowell Thomas, author of "With Lawrence in Arabia," "The Boys' Life of Colonel Lawrence," etc. 12mo, 300 pages. Illustrated. $2.00

The famous modern adventurer who first introduced Colonel Lawrence to the world here tells the story of his own death-defying trip into the wildest and least-known region of Asia. He crossed the dangerous country of Waziristan, the No Man's Land of central Asia, where the gigantic, sharpshooting tribesmen bow to no king and wage eternal war among themselves. Crossing the grim Khyber Pass and miles of desert and mountain ranges, he finally reached Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan.

A MORGAN RIFLEMAN. By Walter H. Nichols. 12mo, 300 pages. Illustrated. $2.00

This is a story of the American Revolution, the hero being one of Morgan's famous corps of Virginia sharpshooters. He becomes personal aide to General Benedict Arnold, and the career of this famous hero and traitor is the main theme of the story. Both sides of Arnold's character are clearly and truthfully portrayed. The author brings back the vivid atmosphere of the days of Bunker Hill, Quebec, Saratoga, Valley Forge, and West Point, and gives good pictures of Washington, Schuyler, and others.

FIGHTING HEARTS OF THE WILD. By Kenneth Gilbert. 12mo, 237 pages. 8 illustrations. $2.00

A collection of animal stories by one of the best writers for boys to-day. Each of the stories depicts vividly the struggle of some animal for existence in the realm where the swiftest and strongest alone survive. The mother grizzly who outwits the trappers, the wolverine who bests a wolf in single combat, the owl and the great blue heron protecting their families—these are typical highlights of a keenly observing, swiftly moving, and intensely dramatic pageant of the woods.

THE LUCK OF OLDACRES. By Elaine Goodale Eastman. 12mo, 239 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

A family of ambitious young people on a beautiful, old, run-down New England farm, struggling to support themselves and their mother and grandfather, hit on the idea of making the farm into a summer camp. They turn to with a will, and not only make an unsuspected success of the venture but also take part in a heroic rescue from drowning, an exciting silver-hunt, a spectacular fire, and an original outdoor opera. An entertaining and wholesome story, with surprises.

BOY HEROES OF THE SEA. By Walter Scott Story, author of "The Uncharted Island." 12mo, 274 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

A collection of exciting stories taking place along the "stern and rockbound coast" of New England. Wrecked ships and endangered lives supply the challenge, which is answered by the fearless heart and wiry endurance of youth. Mr. Story has already won many young readers by his salty yarns. This collection has the tang and the spirit that appeal to all red-blooded boys, especially those who know the seacoast.

THE CHILDREN'S BOOK OF EUROPEAN LANDMARKS. By Lorinda Munson Bryant, author of "The Children's Book of American Landmarks," etc. Square quarto, 100 pages. 50 illustrations. $2.50

THE CARAVAN GIRLS. By Marguerite Aspinwall. 12mo, 250 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

A mystery story for boys as well as girls. Three girls and two boys take their mother on a motor-camping trip to the South. A precious violin is stolen, and to add to the suspense, the caravan is pursued by a strange gray car. Then fire breaks out mysteriously in a large house near which the party is camping. The children become involved with gipsies, and it is through them that the mystery is satisfactorily solved in the end.

CORNELIA'S CUSTOMERS. By Jane Winters. 12mo, 293 pages. Illustrated. $1.75

What girl hasn't wanted to keep a candy store? What boy hasn't longed to be a merchant? Not every girl and boy have a chance to work out ideas about keeping store, but Cornelia Renshaw and her brother Bill did, in a village grocery where a kind deed and their father and their Uncle Amos made them assistants first, then managers, and finally owners. This is a story of wholesome, unusual activities and of friendly relationships with the varied village characters.

ST. NICHOLAS BOOK OF SCIENCE. By Floyd L. Darrow. 12mo, 300 pages. 12 illustrations. $2.50

The year's progress in every branch of science is graphically described in this book for young people and for many older ones as well. The newest discoveries in such diverse realms as stars and atoms, talking movies and the future of our gasoline supply, aviation and engineering triumphs, flood-control, television, the migration of birds, etc., are here treated clearly and popularly in the order of their actual happening through the year. A book that will be valuable in homes, schools, and libraries.

PRAIRIE TALES: Retold from St. Nicholas. 12mo, 207 pages. Illustrated. $1.25

Another volume is added to the ever-popular collection of stories retold from St. Nicholas. The tales in this series deal mostly with adventure on the vast prairies of the West. They represent the best that has appeared in St. Nicholas from 1874 to the present day. These stories have a freshness and vigor which reflect the young days of our country as they unfolded themselves on the Western plains, and which keep on appealing to boys and girls with the same intensity year after year.

BOUND VOLUMES OF "ST. NICHOLAS." The twelve monthly numbers in two royal square quarto, richly bound cloth volumes. Profusely illustrated. One year $6.00; each volume $3.00

St. Nicholas has been a standard among young readers for over fifty years. Short stories, serials, up-to-date articles on current events and world progress, and special departments of interest to readers from ten to eighteen make this the most popular of all juvenile magazines; and the bound volumes provide a classic library for children.

CARDINAL MERCIER—WITH THE MALINES CONVERSATIONS. By Mgr. Laveille. Translated by Arthur Livingston. 245 pages. 12mo. $2.00

"Here was a man," one exclaims after reading Mgr. Laveille's life of Cardinal Mercier. Student, priest, patriot—he made his faith a living thing, and his living a record of the power of supreme faith in God. The book is a glowing, vivid story from the time he was Desiré Mercier until the day when as Cardinal he blessed his church and his nation with his simple wisdom. The record of his rebuff of the invading German hordes and his other triumphs reads like fiction.

THE LORD'S HORSEMAN. By Umphrey Lee, 12mo. $2.50

For most of us, who are not Methodists, John Wesley has existed as an obscure figure among theological dissenters. In this biography of him by Dr. Lee he emerges as a tremendously engaging character, enjoying as many human frailties as most of us mortals, and possessed of undying courage and enthusiasm for a cause. A brilliant and extremely readable addition to the library of biography.

STAR OF DAWN. By Ian Alexander. Royal 8vo. $1.00

A Christmas choral drama depicting the great moments in the life of Christ. With music composed by Dr. Alexander, and instructions for the production of the pageant.

YOUTH IN QUEST. By Grace Sloan Overton. 12mo, 185 pages. $1.50

A book for young people by a friend of youth. This book is a guide-post to a more satisfying employment of the physical and mental freedom which youth has gained in the last few years. It outlines self-mastery, social understanding, and a more vital relationship with God as the means to a richer and fuller life. Ministers and teachers of religious education will find it of infinite value in their work with young people.

KEATS AND MARY TIGHE. By Earle V. Weller. Royal 8vo, 333 pages. $3.50

A reprint of "Psyche and Other Poems," by Mary Tighe, the volume which first inspired Keats to poetic composition, with nearly 400 parallels from the work of Keats showing the influence of Mary Tighe on Keats' poetry. This is the third scholarly work to be chosen by the Modern Language Association of America for publication under the terms of the Revolving Publication Fund established through a gift by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. It is printed from type in a limited edition.

THE SEWING BOOK. By Blanche E. Hyde. 8vo, 375 pages. Profusely illustrated. $2.50

A thoroughly practical manual which describes in a straightforward, easily understood manner all that a woman should know about the tools used in sewing, and about sewing-machines, materials and patterns, stitches and seams, and cutting, fitting, mending, and remodeling all kinds of cloth and clothing. The directions given in the book are illustrated by a generous supply of unusually clear pictures.

THE DAY OF JEHOVAH. By William Arthur Heidel. Royal 8vo, 575 pages. $5.00

A scholarly study of sacred days and ritual forms in the ancient Near East. It is published for The American Historical Association.

ABOUT CHELSEA HOUSE BOOKS

CHELSEA HOUSE is the book department of one of the largest and oldest periodical publishing houses in the United States, with a record covering over seventy years in the fiction field.

The best serials appearing in such magazines as THE POPULAR, FAR WEST, WESTERN STORY, DETECTIVE STORY, SEA STORIES, et cetera, are selected for publication in book form under the Chelsea House imprint. These magazines have been the means of introducing some of America's best-known writers to the American reading public—O. Henry, Peter B. Kyne, Charles E. Van Loan, James Oliver Curwood, and many others.

The members of the editorial staff of Chelsea House are experts in the fiction field. They have had years of experience in catering to the taste of the large body of the American reading public. They know the kind of story that will appeal to the general run of readers. It is not their aim to publish books that will be read only by a limited circle.

LIGHT-FINGERED LADIES

By Armstrong Livingston

12mo, 318 pages, $2.00 net.

When Aline Charteris consulted Detective Peter Creighton, her affairs were in a desperate state. She was in the clutches of an unscrupulous thief and blackmailer, who had forced her to become his accomplice in two robberies as the price of returning some compromising letters written as a schoolgirl. Owing to the prominent social position of the Charteris family, the situation was a difficult one for Creighton to handle, but he was equal to it.

THE LOST GALLEON

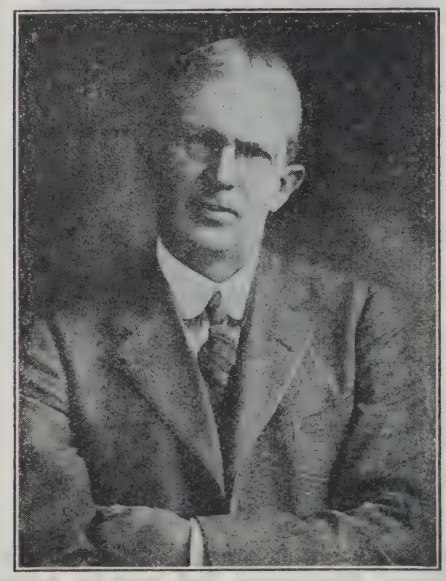
By Ellery H. Clark

12mo, 309 pages, $2.00 net.

Back in the days when Morgan and his pirate followers sacked and looted Panama, a Spanish galleon, bearing a rich cargo, slipped through the buccaneer's fingers and fled to the remote Southern seas, where all trace of her was lost for centuries.

Finally, Hal Nickerson, a venturesome

young Yankee sailor, of the clipper-ship era of a hundred years ago, obtained a definite clew to the whereabouts of the missing vessel.



Ellery H. Clark, author of "The Lost Galleon."

SANDOLLAR

By Charles Neville Buck

ORDER BY NUMBER

(1) UNSEEN ACRES

By Harry Golden

The man who shot an inoffensive rancher, held up a stagecoach, and did other ndry lawless acts, started Jack Smith on course of vengeance.

arry Golden, author of "Unseen Acres," rests after a good hunt.

(2) THE HOUSE OF ROGUES

By Christopher B. Booth.

This is the sort of detective story that rills everybody. It is really a splendid ece of writing, and so plausible that the terest and glamour of it do not wear off r days after the book has been finished.

(3) JERRY PEYTON'S NOTCHED INHERITANCE

By David Manning

Just because Jerry Peyton's father had been a bandit, certain people in a Western community proceeded to visit the sins of the father upon the son. But, through an act of grave injustice, it was proved that Jerry was a better man than his father.

(4) THE BRAND OF SILENCE

By Harrington Strong

Sidney Prale left New York for Honduras with plenty of friends. He returned with only a single friend upon whom he could depend. The cause was not of his own making, and he determined to prove his real worth.

(5) JOHN STANDON OF TEXAS

By Johnston McCulley

As an adventure story, this is unique. Most of its scenes are laid in the southwestern United States and Mexico. There is some lively fighting, and through it John Standon gives a splendid demonstration of American courage and resourcefulness.

(6) GEMS OF PROMISE

By Emart Kinsburn

Just over the border in Mexico, a bleached skeleton lay resting beside an ancient firearm. The weapon was inscribed "Gabriel Gamez, A. D. 1812." And it led Morgan Tuttle, saddle tramp, through a series of enthralling adventures.

(7) THE BLACK STAR

By Johnston McCulley

This is the story in which Johnston McCulley's famous character, Black Star, was first introduced to the reading public. Here, too, will be found Roger Verbeck and his man, Muggs, who were out to capture Black Star.

---

(8) THE MAN FROM MICHIGAN

By Charles Wesley Sanders

Jim Wallace, born and raised in Michigan, hears of a gold mine in California, rich beyond the wildest dreams, and starts out in search of it.

---

(9) BLACK STAR'S CAMPAIGN

By Johnston McCulley

Black Star, master criminal, who conducts a campaign of organized loot in this story, is a dominating figure. And against the intelligence of this supercrook are pitted the mental resources of Roger Verbeck, who frustrates Black Star's attempt to plunder the city.

(10) BULL HUNTER

By David Manning

Bull Hunter is big, clumsy, slow-witted, and a butt for the rude pranks and ridicule of his comrades. But he only needed to be shown how to use his tremendous strength to advantage.

---

(11) BULL HUNTER'S ROMANCE

Sequel to "Bull Hunter"

By David Manning

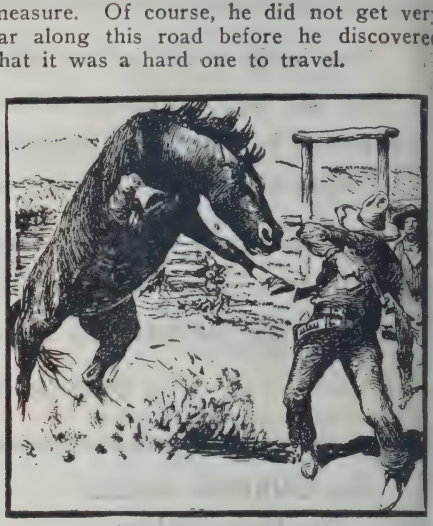
This is another series of Bull Hunter's exploits. It deals with Bull, his horse, and his dog; and the trio have a number of stirring adventures.

---

(12) HILL-BRED BARTON'S CODE

By Charles Wesley Sanders

Billy Barton had a grievance and determined to return injustice, measure for measure. Of course, he did not get very far along this road before he discovered that it was a hard one to travel.



The process of taming Diablo was a difficult one. From "Bull Hunter's Romance," by David Manning.

(13) THE SPECTACULAR KID

By Robert J. Horton

Heralded by rumor as a killer, "The Spectacular Kid" came to the Smith River country. Every one trembled at his approach. He was a queer character, however, with an almost effeminate love of silver ornaments, reënforced by a surprising amount of bravery and manliness.

---

(14) WHO KILLED WILLIAM DREW?

By Harrington Strong

John Walkins Wright gave his niece a diamond collar. It disappeared mysteriously, and to make matters worse, old William Drew, the butler, the only person who might possibly tell where it went, was found dead.

---

(15) JIM CURRY'S TEST

By David Manning

This is primarily a tale of Western adventure, but in some respects it is the story of a horse. Meg was a splendid white mare, and she flits in and out of the pages of the story much to the reader's edification.

horndyke Flint discovers the safe belong-g to the Japanese curio dealer. From
The Tracking of K. K.," by Douglas Grey.

16) THE TRACKING OF K. K.

By Douglas Grey

The detective in this story is Thorndyke lint. He is confronted by the mystery of dead Japanese curio dealer, and the dis-ppearance of a very rare piece of Chinese ronze of great antiquity.

---

17) KING CHARLIE'S RIDERS

By David Manning

King Charlie ruled a very unusual king-om, and his subjects were extraordinary nd nondescript. They certainly were not s good as they might have been, but when ey decided to use their ill-gotten gains r a very surprising purpose, they set ings in motion, and this story is the re-lt.

---

(18) UNWELCOME SETTLERS

By James Roberts

Obeying Greeley's injunction, "Go West, oung man, go West," Neil Sterret first ecures a wife and afterward gives evience of strength of character that sur-rises everybody, even himself. His ex-
ystery, makes an unusual Western story.

---

(19) WHISPERING CAÑON

By James Roberts

Whispering Cañon is a fascinating spot. This story peoples it with some very likable folks, and some who are not quite so attractive; "Red" Saunders, for instance.

"Uncle Matt" Simms and Rance Rundel are two of the good characters, and their adventures make this story really worth while.

(20) SQUATTERS AT DABCHICK LAKE

By Emart Kinsburn

Tom Trentacosta, otherwise "Thirty Ribs," was a thorough tramp and proud of it. Moreover, he was a celebrity of tramp-dom—a king of the road. But when he threw in his fortunes with "Neckyoke" Tal-ley, and his daughter, Grace, to homestead at Dabchick Lake, it was the beginning of a new life for Thirty Ribs.

---

(21) THE BOSS OF CAMP FOUR

By Emart Kinsburn

They sold "Spookmule" Paxton twenty thousand acres of land, and before the ink was dry on the deed they were doing their best to get it back.

Why? And who are "they"?

---

(22) WATCHED OUT

By Eugene A. Clancy

This is a tale in which Wall Street fig-ures. Given some crooked work on the part of some crooked people, the author makes the most of his opportunity, until in the end the reader is perfectly satisfied that John Gore, although he won happi-ness and fortune, deserved them.

---

(23) QUALITY BILL'S GIRL

By Charles W. Tyler

"Blue Jean Billy" Race is an unusual character, a girl whose obsession is the memory of an injustice visited upon her father, "Old Quality Bill." Blue Jean is a seagoing bandit, and it does not make any difference to her whether she goes on board a boat or swims.

(24) THE COYOTE

By James Roberts

When a man is forced to flee in the Arizona desert, with a price upon his head; when he is regarded as the possessor of a very sinister reputation, then either he has played life a scurvy trick, or he has not been used fairly. But Roger Rathburn went into the desert country as an outlaw and a gunman.

(25) THE SCARLET SCOURGE

By Johnston McCulley

Sergeant Sam Haynes decided that the way to tackle a hard job is to work hard at it. So, when Lorenzo Brayton, investment swindler, was found dead in his office, Sam got to work.

(26) ANNE AGAINST THE WORLD

By Victor Thorne

Anne, a shy little home girl, is the heroine of a romantic love story. She was driven out into the world by her desire to help her talented brother, and was led into grave danger.

(27) ROVIN' REDDEN

By James Roberts

When Joel Landon robbed a bank, he naturally resented Lem Redden's interference, but the latter fixed things so that he himself went to jail in Joel's place.

After matters were explained to Sheriff Blackburn, there didn't seem to be any way of getting Lem out except to let him break jail, and that led to more trouble.

(28) GOLDEN ISLE

By Roland Ashford Phillips

Concealing jail breakers is not a healthy occupation. In the case of the escape of Rex Costello from Sing Sing, however, Lloyd Bucknell found that it was to his advantage to hide the prisoner and afterward take him on a treasure hunt.

(29) THE KIDNAPING SYNDICATE

By Christopher B. Booth

The friendship formed in the prison cell by Pallister, the forger, and "Twisty," th yegg, led to the inception of "The Kidnap ing Syndicate." After they were released the pair embarked on one of the mos astounding criminal enterprises ever con ceived by warped human minds; but ther came the inevitable day of reckoning.

(30) THE HUSKS OF LIFE

By Mary Douglas

Jennie Riley was forced to flee from th unpleasant attentions of the foreman of th factory in which she worked. Wanderin on the streets, she picked up an envelop addressed to an artist in Greenwich Vil lage. She took it to the address, and the life began for her.

"Black Mike" on the desert. From "The Golden Bowl," by Harrison Conrard.

(31) THE GOLDEN BOWL

By Harrison Conrard

Gold, plenty of it, appears in this stor of Arizona. "Black Mike's" father an some friends had just discovered a bonanz spot so rich as to look like the treasur box of Croesus. lum, and Andy Connell, the old prospector, gave them shelter. They hated each other and fought time and time again; yet they always stuck together.

(60) SOUTH OF FIFTY-THREE
By Jack Bechdolt

Jonathan Hayes was in many respects a primitive man. He knew little or nothing of the ways of civilization, for he had lived all his life on the bleak shores of Kalvik Island, off the coast of Alaska. When it became known that Hayes held the secret of an immensely valuable cache of sealskins, he became the object of more than one conspiracy.

(61) THE WOMAN IN 919
By John Paul Seabrooke

At the Winsonia Hotel, where she occupied room 919, she was known as Mrs. Harlowe Green. She had married a weak-minded young scion of wealth, whose family was endeavoring to buy her off. She had other enemies, too, and one night her career of trickery and intrigue was terminated in a tragic manner.

(62) MR. CLACKWORTHY
By Christopher B. Booth

A book full of laughs and surprises, which incidentally furnishes an illuminating revelation of the confidence game as played by an expert con man, and which may prove a means of warning to the unwary who are likely to fall for some of the Mr. Clackworthys of real life.

(63) THE WAGON BOSS
By Emart Kinsburn

Here we again meet Chet Fanning, whose adventures proved so entertaining in Mr. Kinsburn's other book, "The Boss of Camp Four." Few, if any, other writers know the life of the construction camps of the West better than Emart Kinsburn.

(64) BACK OF BEYOND
By Ethel Smith Dorrance and James French Dorrance

Against the advice of Sergeant Alfred Rawson, of the Mounted Police, Doctor Kirkland and his daughter, Louise, pushed on to Back of Beyond Valley, although winter was close at hand. Like many another ambitious young pa-olman, Larry Moore was anxious to make ood as a policeman, but he was unlucky. le happened to be the victim of a con-piracy—just a pawn in the game—when ıe enemies of Thomas J. Braddigan, the olitical boss, planned to murder him.

(152) OL' JIM BRIDGER

By Joseph Montague

Before you have half finished the open-ıg chapter of this fine Western story, you ill find yourself living out in the Western ilderness in the heart of the Blackfoot ountry with Jim Bridger and Kit Carson, ail blazers of the old West, for your com-anions.

(153) THE COASTS OF ADVENTURE

By James Graham

Even in this unromantic age, it is possi-e to sail the coasts of the Spanish Main ıd indulge in desperate battles wherein panish galleons and piratical desperadoes re the combatants.

(154) THORNTON THE WOLFER

By George Gilbert

An unusual sort of Western story this. Its hero is not a cowboy, but an expert catcher of wolves. But the gallant figure of the crafty Lobo King, leader of the wolf pack, will take almost as strong a hold on the interest and sympathy of the reader as will his enemy, the man who is trying to catch him.

(155) BLUNDELL'S LAST GUEST

By Albert Payson Terhune

Mystery begins on the very first page, where the reader's curiosity is aroused as to the reasons for the delay in the arrival of Justin Blundell's guest. It increases when he finally does come on the scene, and it gathers added tenseness with each succeeding chapter.

(156) GUN GENTLEMEN

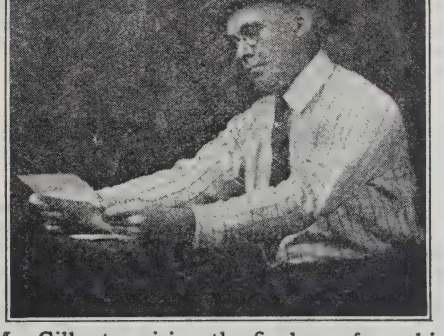
By David Manning

When two such famous gunmen as Lucky Bill and Mat Morgan arrived in the little town of Wheeler on the same day, it was naturally to be expected that some trouble would arise between the pair, and so a hush of anticipation fell over the town's chief saloon, where such affairs generally started.

(157) THE BLACK SANDER

By Loring Brent

Few men can come back once the tropics have got the better of them, but Harrison Dempsey Blade stages a gallant come-back, and the story of it is a highly colorful and dramatic tale of a South Sea island adventure.



Mr. Gilbert revising the final proofs on his story—for Chelsea House.

(158) THE VALLEY OF THE MONQUIS

By Arthur Preston

The story tells of the search for the long-lost Valley of the Monquis and its treasure by two rival groups. One of these is led by Nick Starling, an adventurer, while the other is headed by Scipio Tye, an unscrupulous rancher who also figured in Mr. Preston's story "The Saddle Tramp."

(159) THE TUNNEL TO DOOM

By Roy W. Hinds

The fact that one of the bandits who robbed the bank in the town of Valmers had a piece of adhesive tape over one eye was about the only clew the authorities had to the fugitive robber. It was a slight clew for Jim Persons to work on, but it led him into terrible danger when he followed it into the lumberjack camp of Alonzo Staples.

(160) "LOOKOUT" LARAMIE

By Paul Bailey

Steve Madison, owner of the Bar Z Ranch, brought an unjust accusation of horse stealing against "Lookout" Laramie, and that incident marked the beginning of the latter's career as an outlaw. He was determined to punish Madison; and the manner in which he dealt out primitive justice was as unusual as it was terrible.

(161) THE GOLDEN DOLPHIN

By Joseph Montague

When Jim Lyman saw the sign of the Golden Dolphin over the antique shop that Katharine Whiting conducted, he went in and told her an amazing story. Jim was a sailor who had seen the island where the wreck of the real Golden Dolphin lay, and he undertook to lead the girl to it.

(162) THE QUICK-DRAW KID

By George Gilbert

He had been slinging hash all his life —standing behind cheap lunch counters, drawing coffee and dishing up orders of wheat cakes, prunes, and other delicacies for the patrons of eating joints of that sort. Then one day a gang of cow-punchers from the Box 9 Ranch blew into his place and offered him a job to go as cook on the ranch.

(163) TONG MEN AND A MILLION

By Emart Kinsburn

Chinatown in old Frisco! What a horde of sinister pictures the words conjure up for the imagination! Cunningly plotted, cold-blooded crimes, all clews covered up with consummate skill and trickery! Soft-footed Chinese gunmen stealing forth at night to shoot down the victims whom their tong has marked for destruction!

(164) SENOR JINGLE BELLS

By David Manning

They thought they were two tough, bad hombres, did Jim Sladen and Frank Yarnell. Then there rode into town a slim young Mexican dandy, whom Sladen promptly nicknamed "Jingle Bells." Yet the grin with which he faced Sladen was that of sheer American recklessness.

(165) SANCTUARY ISLAND

By Joseph Montague

Young Jim Buckley, stranded in Papeete, met the beach comber, "Beachnut Bill," the man "who might 'ave been a king," and listened to his fantastic tale of the strange brotherhood of fugitives from all over the world who made their headquarters at Sanctuary Island and acknowledged the leadership of the piratical Captain Zero.

(166) HIDDEN HERDS

By George Gilbert

Before he was adopted by "Slender" Burton and the other hands of the Box 9 Ranch, Lew Osmond was a greenhorn. In Mr. Gilbert's other book, "The Quick-draw Kid," Lew's earlier exploits are related. This volume tells of his later feats in recovering a lost herd of cattle that had fallen into a walled-in valley in a remote corner of the canyon country.

(167) THE GREAT RADIO MYSTERY

By Chester K. Steele

What would you do if you received a note from an unknown writer, demanding thirty thousand dollars by a certain date and threatening you with death if you did not produce the money? Probably you'd ask your best friend's advice, and when you found he had a similar note, you would feel that there was a pretty well-laid plot of murder and extortion on foot. This was the kind of mystery that Detective Tom Danford was called upon to solve.

168) THE OUTLAW SHERIFF

By Hal Dunning

Jack Allen, the sheriff, had a brother, nown as Jim-twin Allen, also as the White Wolf. Branded as an outlaw, with a big rice on his head, the little freckled gun- an, with his two lean gray horses, was a cturesque figure who made himself feared id respected wherever he appeared.

But when his brother, Sheriff Jack, was id up and unable to maintain law and der, Jim-twin Allen tried his hand at neriffing, and made a good job of it.

Hal Dunning, author of "The Outlaw Sheriff."

(169) THE CALL OF SHINING STEEL

By Don Waters

There is a lure and glamour about the ll of the shining steel rails that grips me men just as strongly as the will to ucceed in business, law, medicine, or any her occupation or profession. Zeb White as a born railroader, and this story tells f the obstacles he overcame in winning uccess in his chosen calling.

(170) VINCENTE, THE YAQUI

By Wilson Campbell

He rode across the desert, a magnificent ronzed specimen of Indian manhood, clad faded blue dungarees, his only weapon a nife in his braided-leather belt. As he de through the Palo Verde Valley his horse was shot from under him, and he was accused of stealing horses from the Z B Ranch. When Alf Chase, son of the owner of Z B, intervened, a splendid friendship began that carried the two through many strange adventures.

(171) I DID IT!

By Garret Smith

Receiving a legacy of four hundred thousand dollars when you are just about broke from bucking the real-estate game is quite pleasant, but when the money comes to you as the result of the murder of an uncle whom you supposed to be poor, and you are accused of the crime, such a legacy has its drawbacks.

That was what happened to Wallace Towne in this story.

(172) PRAIRIE SHOCK

By John Holden

A woman trying to run a construction camp has a hard job on her hands, and a tenderfoot bookkeeper is not always very much help, especially when there is the accusation of a crime hanging over his head.

(173) THE GUILTY ACCUSER

By Armstrong Livingston

The coroner's jury found that Richard Gray had shot himself in a moment of temporary insanity, but his sister, Jean, was unwilling to accept a jury's verdict. She therefore prevailed on friends to investigate further, and Peter Creighton, the famous New York detective who has figured in several of Mr. Livingston's previous books, was put on the case.

(174) DOOM CANYON

By Joseph Montague

"Dark and forbidding as a dead man's tomb," is the way the author describes "Doom Canyon," the strange, inaccessible hiding place where "Lobo" Smith and his gang of desperadoes made their headquarters.

To fight single-handed against this outlaw band was a task to daunt the finest courage, but a stranger known as Strong did not hesitate when he felt that it was up to him to bring Lobo Smith and his crowd to justice.

(175) KILLING JAZZ

By Christopher B. Booth

A jazz phonograph record played an important part in the structure of mystery and crime in this story. Caleb Ballinger's weak heart failed him, and he fell dead, when he heard the blaring music sounding from his phonograph downstairs on Sunday, which to him was always a sacred day observed in peace and silence.

Who started the phonograph playing the fatal record?

(176) SQUATTER'S TREASURE

By Emart Kinsburn

A girl construction-camp boss has some thrilling adventures in her quest for hidden treasure, in this story.

Mr. Kinsburn again introduces to the reader the life of the Western construction camps and the curious characters who work in them. It is a phase of Western life which few authors know as thoroughly as Mr. Kinsburn.

(177) THE ISLAND WOMAN

By Captain A. E. Dingle

The British-government agent, Lynn, picked Jim Gurney for his astounding ability as a rough-and-tumble fighter. Jim was just the man for his mission in the island of Tarani, where a gang of pearl pirates and scoundrels, under the leadership of a woman outlaw, had their headquarters.

Jim's adventures on the island make the kind of reading that stirs the imagination and quickens the pulse, as one thrilling episode succeeds another until the story reaches its astounding climax.

(178) RIDIN' FER CROSS T

By George Gilbert

"Snubby" Bricker, cowboy, found life on the Circle 9 Ranch too tame, so he drifted, and he sure found plenty of excitement when he got down to the Cross T Ranch, owned by the girl, Donna Ynez.

The Cross T was an immense ranch property founded by the girl's grandfather, and naturally its wealth aroused the covetousness of various people, including the foreman, Yerkes, and the bandit known as El Culuber.

(179) THE CRIMSON CLOWN

By Johnston McCulley

One of the most unusual and at the same time most fascinating characters in detective fiction is the clever rogue, Delton Prouse, known to police authorities as "The Crimson Clown."

He would appear unexpectedly in his clown's suit of crimson, with its hood and mask, execute some daring and brilliant criminal exploit, and escape by discarding his disguise.

A thoroughly benevolent and rather likable rascal, is The Crimson Clown.

(180) RANGE RIVALS

By John H. Hamlin

A breezy Western story that will take the reader out to the pine-crested Sierra country of California, where Buckjump Ranch is situated.

The ranch was owned by Widow Gruman, and when she leased it to her foreman, Tige Northrup, a bitter range rivalry was started.

Lots of brisk, outdoor, Western action and a bit of romance in this fine novel of California ranch life.

(181) THE ISLE OF DRUMS

By Joseph Montague

They had many names in the South Seas for the island of the New Hebrides group known as Aoba. Some of the natives called it "Man-eating Isle," and others referred to it as "The Traders' Graveyard" and "The Isle of Drums."

And so when Thad McKay, at his headquarters on Hope Island, got word that Sam Parks, the pearl trader, and his daughter, Lenna, were in the hands of the cannibals on this sinister island, he set out to rescue them.

(182) THE WHISTLING WADDY

By Donald Bayne Hobart

They called him "Solitaire" Stevens because he preferred his own company and the lone trails of the remote places of the West to holding down a job on some ranch. Like many men who are by themselves a great deal, Solitaire had developed the habit of whistling to himself, so that he was also known as "The Whistling Waddy."

Solitaire had just one real friend, old Jerry Grimshaw, and when Jerry was killed, the event started The Whistling Waddy out on a trail of adventures, that carried him into deadly peril time and time again.

(183) HUNTED DOWN
By Robert H. Rohde

The little black box containing a fortune in jewels proved a lure for the desperate ing of criminals headed by the scoundrel iown as the "Red Duke."

Old Z. B.—"Bet a Billion"—Warburton is very careless in the way he carried the tle black box around with him, but he pt it out of the clutches of the Red uke's crew.

In their effort to get possession of the ox, the gang murdered one of the Warirton household, and that brought the agician and detective known as "The reat Macumber" into the game.

(184) POUNDING THE RAILS
By Don Waters

In this realistic story of railroad life, the uthor has brought an exceptional knowlge of his subject into play and has put to his pages the excitement and romance, well as the human interest, in the lives the men who "pound the rails"—which their expression for driving a locomove.

Here the reader will again meet Zeb Vhite, who played a prominent part in r. Waters' other splendid railroad story, The Call of Shining Steel."

(185) OUTLAWS OF BADGER HOLLOW
By G. W. Barrington

A glorious bay stallion, proudly defying ie hungry lassos of men. Such was the st outlaw of Badger Hollow.

Then "Curly" Blanton came into the ollow, bent on subduing the stallion—id himself became the second outlaw of adger Hollow.

How he faced his accusers and led them the third and real outlaw of Badger ollow, in proving his own innocence, akes a gripping and breath-taking story the West.

(186) BUCKING WITH BAR C
By George Gilbert

The railroads had raised the freight rates n cattle to such a point that the ranchers ecided to try driving their herds over the ree-hundred-and-fifty-mile trail to Hanseurg, just as the old-time cattlemen had one.

"Cow Foot Freight," some called it, and thers, "The Longhorn Express." It was ow but sure, and it meant a profit for ie cattlemen and the defeat of the railoads.

Young "Cricket" Bursand, owner of the ar C Ranch, was the man who started the trail-driving idea. And he proved, despite much criticism, that he was neither crazy nor yellow, in the stirring adventures that followed.

(187) MR. CHANG'S CRIME RAY
By A. E. Apple

Escaping from the toils of justice, the notorious Chinese master criminal, Mr. Chang, devotes his evil mind to obtaining a remarkable invention of a destroying ray that will bring him triumph over his enemies. Chief among these is the clever Chinese detective, Doctor Ling.

The battle of wits between these two wily Orientals—the one a fiendish criminal, the other a relentless detective—furnishes about as much excitement and thrilling suspense as any one can possibly want to crowd into an evening of reading.

(188) THE RANGE WAR ON V V
By Emart Kinsburn

In sporting circles, Billy Rose was known as "The Kokomo Man-licker." He was a professional boxer, and a good one, too.

But when Billy tackled the life of a cowboy and horned in on a cattle-range war, he found himself up against a much tougher proposition than he had ever been called upon to face in the prize ring.

(189) FORTUNE UNAWARES
By Joseph Montague

The adventure starts in Crandall's gambling house—an old brownstone mansion in New York. Then the scene shifts to Shanghai, and the vivid tinge of its Oriental atmosphere takes on a deeper hue.

The action centers about a wonderful ruby which was coveted by many, a magnificent stone that men would shed blood without compunction to possess.

A veritable Arabian-nights adventure in modern times is this brilliant story of the Far East.

(190) LOOT OF THE LAVA BEDS
By John H. Hamlin

Visiting the Boxed Arrow Ranch, "Rick" Kendal found his brother-in-law dead in a deserted cabin, with a big bruise at the base of his skull. Around the victim's neck was twisted a curious necklace of colored, polished pebbles.

Rick Kendal was just a tenderfoot, a city fellow unfamiliar with ranch life, and the adventures following his discovery of the murder of his brother-in-law were of startling character.

OUTPOSTS OF CIVILIZATION
By W. A. Chalfant

Author of "The Story of the Inyo"

"Mr. Chalfant traces the epic story of the West from the inception of settlement to the times of lawful elections and homesteads. His pages bristle with facts and they teem with action.

"On the canvas of his pages he paints a word picture of forests into which no ringing blade has bitten, under whose wind-tossed canopies stand columns that are to bear their share in the building of many cities; millions of buffalo dot the plains, their deliberate movements becoming stampedes as unclad warriors ride their grass-bridled mounts along the bovine army and pour clouds of arrows into it, by way of improving the camp larder. The scene changes and we see the approach of the venturesome trapper who brings with him the first outposts of civilization, the trading post and fort. With him come the trading companies and with them comes the discovery of gold.

Gold! Millions of pounds of it, in rivers, brooks and mountain sides. The East hears of it and goes wild. Oxen plod across the plains, buffalo retreat before the herder, the grizzly lumbers from his mountain fastness, disturbed by man in his quests. Campfires gleam along two thousand miles of wagon tracks, cities of rude shacks fly up to cater to the wants of the travelers. Pan and rocker go before the coming of hydraulic giants. Belching smokestacks take the place of campfires. The law of pistol and knife gives way to law and order. The West becomes a lusty youth, lays aside its cradle cloths and is ready to rub elbows with the world.

This is the story this volume tells, a tale of venture and adventure, doing and dying. Men lived and died, but steadily as the course of the wagon tracks across the sun-baked plains, civilization advanced and the story of this advance is set down expertly and interestingly by Mr. Chalfant."—The Boston Transcript.

MATHEMATICS IN LIBERAL EDUCATION

A Critical Examination of the Judgments of Prominent Men of the Ages
By FLORIAN CAJORI, Ph.D.
Professor of the History of Mathematics University of California
Author of "History of Mathematics", "History of Elementary Mathematics" "History of Physics", etc.

This book is an exhaustive review of the "Judgments of the Prominent Men of the Ages", as the author states, relating to the effect of mathematics in liberal education. But, it is indeed far more than this, because these important opinions are subjected to the illuminating conclusions of the author who is especially able to form valid opinions upon this subject.

Recent reports indicate an increased number of failures among students in our engineering schools—failures laid to inadequate preparation in our high schools. In our universities, students entering upon the more advanced fields in economics, education, biology, eugenics and political science begin to feel the need of a knowledge of statistics and enter the study of elementary courses on this subject, but lack the mental habits and training afforded by pure mathematics which would enable them to master and use statistical methods with intelligence and security.

PRESIDENTIAL SHRINES
From Washington to Coolidge

By WILLIAM JUDSON HAMPTON, D.D.
Author of "The Religion of the Presidents," "Our Presidents and Their Mothers," "The Shrine Invisible," "Dodging the Commandments," etc.

The author of this book has included a valuable collection of sixty-eight historical photographs and the information contained about each of our presidents from Washington to Coolidge will be of rare value to the student of American History as well as to every American whether native born or from abroad.

THE SCOUT OF THE BUCKONGEHANON
An Historical Romance of the West Virginia Border

By JOHN CAMILLUS McWHORTER

"It is almost like turning again the pages of an old-time story of Indian hunting and fighting, to read about the exciting events here chronicled. It is a romance of the West Virginia frontier between the close of the French and Indian War and the beginning of the Revolutionary period. The border was in a state of disturbance, settlers were pushing over the Alleghanies, and making homes along the rivers that flowed into the Ohio. The country which now is West Virginia was attractive to the eyes of the pioneers, but they were forced to win at the expense of much Indian fighting, unrest, danger and death.

Like the stories of Boone in Kentucky, the author describes as faithfully as possible the conditions of pioneer life. History and tradition are cleverly interwoven, making the story an entertaining chronicle of the past."

Waste Corner!

By Ruth Manning-Sanders

Dorothy Canfield says, "For me 'Waste Corner' has such wonderful charm that I hesitate to set down my opinion lest other readers think the praise maudlin.

"It is a miniature masterpiece. Only Hardy could have matched the picture of isolated West-country people—And Hardy's wilful pessimism would have left out the most beautiful note of all . . . the unforced, unpreached sublimity of loving human spirit, beaten by every test the world values, but always groping ahead—in spite of everything, undefeated."

Read this beautiful and moving study of character. It is an exceptional story.

THE WOMEN IN THE CASE

By Louis Tracy

If the lock on the door of John Arden's room had not jammed so that he was forced to sleep in "Suite F" the death of Lord Farndale would probably have remained in the Scotland Yard file as a great unsolved mystery.

But fate deemed otherwise—follow Arden through an experience that will keep you on edge from start to finish.

THE BLACK CIRCLE

By Mansfield Scott

Thornton, craving revenge upon a band of super-criminals known as The Black Circle, makes an astonishing break from Charlestown Prison and hits the road for New York. The leaders of the gang, four men of distinction and prominence, are unknown to a single minor operator. Once before a subordinate had attempted to cross them only to forfeit his life, yet Thornton, the prison pallor still on his cheeks, proposes to put his head in the lion's mouth. He has escaped from Charlestown only to bend every effort to what seems sure death. A rapid series of baffling complications follow and do not reach a final climax until the end. Cloth, Net, $2.00

BETTY

By Faith Baldwin

Pretty black-haired Betty Warren who helps support her mother by working for an author's agency in New York City, meets young Bob Stevenson, a mechanic, and they fall in love. They become engaged but Betty will not marry because she feels she must continue to support her mother, so they quarrel and part. Betty then meets wealthy Anson Lorrimer, an author, who proves to be a very unscrupulous gentleman, but is finally rescued from him by her fiance. Faith Baldwin has written here a story of love so enchanting, of adventure so thrilling, of suspense so absorbing, and pathos so enslaving that the reader's every emotion will be aroused and satisfied. Cloth, Net $2.00

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE

By Louis Tracy

The advent of a new Tracy story is held as a cause for rejoicing among his large following of detective story readers. For exciting drama that keeps you on the edge of your seat from the first line of the first chapter until you bump up against "finis," "A Mysterious Disappearance" sweeps the reader along until he is ready to cry enough. Cloth, Net $2.00

THE SECRET OF SECRETS

By J. S. Fletcher

Laurence Workman, a young inventor, is robbed of valuable papers which contain his nearly perfected secret plans for a new type of airplane motor, by a gang of thieves the leader of whom is Sir John Bedford. Sir John employs a well-known engineer and inventor who endeavors to complete the plans, build the machine and sell it to the German Government before Workman can complete his and sell it to the British Government. He then forces Lillian Delomosne, who is in his power, to inveigle Workman to confide his secret to her and she falls in love with Workman. "The Secret of Secrets" is a story so full of action and thrills that the reader cannot be induced to put the book down until he has finished it. Cloth, Net $2.00

NEW DETECTIVE STORIES (Cont'd)

THE SMILING DEATH

By Francis D. Grierson

A well dressed man is found murdered in a London street, another victim of "The Smiling Death." The master mind of these crimes is known to the police but it takes the keenest detectives of the Scotland Yard force to track down the criminal. This is an unusual aspect in a detective story and Mr. Grierson's masterful unravelling of the mystery makes this story perhaps even greater than his "The Limping Man." Cloth, Net $2.00

BRAM

By Charles J. Pelton

"I am the poet of labor,
No woman's body is so sweet to me,
As the cause of my brethren."

Thus sang a dreamer, a poet whose most intimate friend was an effeminate man, and who cared naught for women until a beautiful girl stepped into his life. His choice between two loves forms the basis for a gripping and intense story. Cloth, Net $2.50

THE SHADOW OF RAVENSCLIFFE

By J. S. Fletcher

Hugh Goring, just out of Oxford, goes to Ravenscliffe Hall to tutor sixteen-year-old Sir Francis Langdale. The first night Goring is there Sir Francis sees a ghost known as The Shadow of Ravenscliffe. According to an old family tradition the ghost will appear to a member of the family three times and soon thereafter this person will die, and Sir Francis believes this to be a sign of this death. A hunchback who claims to be a kinsman of Sir Francis and who is very mysterious in his actions lives in Ravenscliffe Hall. Who is he and why is he so secretive? Who is the instigator of this apparition and why should it appear to Sir Francis? "The Shadow of Ravenscliffe" is a mystery story which keeps the reader intensely interested from the first to the last page.

THE RED KITE CLUE

By Owen Fox Jerome

Professor Vandeventer, a noted archæologist is found mysteriously murdered three days after his return from the Orient where he has been doing research work for the past ten years. Robbery was not the motive for the murder, as nothing of value is missing. However, a Sacred Horn—a horn made out of a human thighbone—which the Professor brought back from Tibet, is gone. Detective Philip MacCray is called to investigate and here, too, as in "The Hand of Horror," he leads the reader through many exciting and baffling experiences which keep him in suspense through the last page. Cloth, Net $2.00

THE WHITE CAMELLIA

By Francis D. Grierson

Martin Stroud, a wealthy man who dabbled in chemistry as a hobby, has apparently committed suicide. Inspector Sims of Scotland Yard is called to investigate and his colleague, Professor Wells, accompanies him. They discover that the body is that of Martin Stroud's twin-brother about whom very little is known, and that the case is not one of suicide but of murder. A white camellia, the badge of The Knights of the White Camellia, is found in the room with the body. To whom did it belong? Why has Martin Stroud faked a suicide and then disappeared? And where has he disappeared to? In this exciting detective story Mr. Grierson furnishes the reader with as many thrills, if not more, as he did in "The Limping Man" and "The Smiling Death."

HOW TO TRAIN YOUR MIND

By Marvin Dana, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D., etc.

A Concise Practical Book Accomplishing
Marvels In The Science Of Mind Training

The success of a man in this world is in direct ratio as to whether or not he has a trained mind. The person who forges ahead is he who carefully trains his mind so that he can use it to its full power commercially for success, socially and intellectually. It is a vital necessity to every man to have a receptive mind that he can rely upon to work out his problems, that will grasp the essentials of any thought, that he can depend upon for memory and for accuracy.

The remarkable system of mind training set forth in this potentially powerful volume tells in a simple, easily-grasped manner how everyone can have a thoroughly trained and highly developed mind, insuring the success of the student who desires to make of himself a man above the average in brain power, earning capacity, and who wishes to attain a definite successful goal in this life. Cloth, Net $1.00

THE FAMOUS HOWARD BOOKS

THE HOWARD BOOKS

Dr. Howard's books are famous the country over and are recognized as the outstanding works on the ever vital subject of sex. They have acquired this esteemed place as a result of their authority, their wholesomeness and their penetrating and inspired statements of frank truth. They are such books as the wise and thinking parents desire to put into the hands of their growing children. They are volumes for all men and women who put a value on happiness and health and wish to have a guide to carry them safely by the greatest and most worrisome problems with which the human race is confronted and which such books as these will render less menacing and tragic.

These volumes, collectively and each alone, find their greatest appeal among those people who, unafraid to throw off the mantle of false modesty, desire to seek out truth which, interpreted in the light of present-day scientific understanding, will bring to them both mental and physical health and contentment throughout their lives.

FACTS FOR THE MARRIED

Every Married Couple And Those Looking Forward To Marriage Should Read This Inspiring Book

Sex knowledge means contentment, happiness, harmony in the married state. Ignorance of sex truths, according to eminent authorities, is the one great cause of marital disaster, divorce, separation. Here is a broad-minded fearless discussion of the intimate problems which every married couple face and will be the salvation for thousands of men and women. Those, too, who are about to enter into the married relation will find this book inspiring and comforting. This vital volume is written in the ingenious form of consultations between man and wife—a method particularly fitted for the intimate character of the subject. Read this searching soul-probing book. It tells who should marry and who should not; how parents may have strong and healthy children; explains pre-natal influences. The chapter on the "Morality of the Child" should be read by every parent. Cloth, Net $1.00

SEX PROBLEMS SOLVED

This Volume Turns a Purifying Beam Upon The Most Worrisome Problems in Life

Many men and women do not reach their destined goal in life, complete happiness in marriage, full physical contentment. The reason is sexual disorders and mismanagement. Sex properly regarded and controlled is a powerful force for good. Sex chaotic and running pell-mell ruins lives, makes people old before their time, destroys happy marriages and stunts success. This very remarkable book is an all-revealing fearless and corrective discussion of sex and the all-important part it plays in your life and mine and in the lives of our wives and children. To sex mis-adjustments, say the eminent authorities, must be blamed the great proportion of tragedy in marriage and mental disorders of the adolescent boy or girl. It is the great duty of every human being to read this astounding book. A few of the chapter headings are: 1. Worry and the primitive forces of nature. 2. The sexual problem of the neurasthenic. 3. Why you worry over unknown fears. 4. Internal sex forces and their effect upon efficiency. 5. How emotions—fear, anger, love, jealousy—cause injury to bodily health. 6. Character and sexuality. Cloth, Net $1.00

The Best in Religious Thought

Christianity To-Day. By Frederick C. Eiselen, Doremus A. Hayes, William D. Schermerhorn, Ernest F. Tittle, Irl G. Whitchurch, Leslie E. Fuller and HARRIS FRANKLIN RALL (Editor). 12mo. cloth, $2.00

HARRIS FRANKLIN RALL

THE LECTURES: 1. The Teaching Ministry and Its Message. 2. The Use of the Bible To-Day. 3. The Prophet as Preacher. 4. What Happened between the Old Testament and the New. 5. What the Old Testament Gave to the New. 6. The New Testament Ideal of Christian Culture. 7. Christian Unity and the Early Church. 8. Faith in God in an Age of Science. 9. Messiahs, New and Old. 10. Can We Export Christianity? 11. Christianity and the Nations. 12. Our Changing Morals. 13. The Justice of Jesus. 14. The Spirit and the Sword. 15. Why Read the Bible. With a Foreword by C. Copeland Smith, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Chicago, Ill.

Garrett Biblical Institute is a graduate school of theology affiliated with Northwestern University. The substance of these chapters was given as a radio course over WCFL, broadcasting from the Municipal Pier, Chicago, the addresses being transmitted from Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, which carries on an extensive radio program under direction of its pastor, Dr. C. Copeland Smith. A group of teachers of religion here speak not to scholars, but to pastors and lay folk and all who are interested in religion. They tell here frankly what Christian scholarship to-day is thinking and saying. They show how modern Christianity is facing its tasks and interpreting its message. This is not a system of theology, but a series of concrete studies facing some of the chief questions that concern the Bible, historic Christianity, and the Christianity of to-day as it sets forth its message to individuals, to society, and to the world.

Faith in the Divine Fatherhood. BY WILLIAM PETER KING, D.D. Author of "The Practice of the Principles of Jesus." 12mo. cloth, $2.00.

In this volume Dr. King has stated in the language of everyday life the profoundest truths of religion. The ringing realities of the revelation of God through Jesus Christ are unforgetably propounded, particularly the revelation by Jesus of God the Father. Counterviews are frankly stated and met with sound argument. As in "The Practice of the Principles of Jesus" the reader first finds and then begins to expect throughout the book epigrams that flood dark areas of experience with brilliant streams of light.

The Cole Lectures, 1928

Christianity and Success. By Edwin Holt Hughes, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and One-Time President of De Pauw University. 12mo. cloth, $1.50.

Bishop Hughes introduces his book with the remark: "For a long time I have believed that some one should take the American passion for success and bring it both to the test and to the purification of our Christian faith." He found that the effort called upon all of the background and rich experience of his eminently Christian and successful life. The six studies will thrill and inspire his readers as they did his hearers at Vanderbilt University. Preachers will find in them a wealth of illustrations; business men and women, a measuring rod of personal success in the light of Christian living.

The World in Which We Live

Peter Menikoff. The Amazing Story of a Bulgarian Boy in the Great American Melting Pot. By Peter Yankoff, M.D. Octavo, $2.00.

This is one of the most amazing stories of personal achievements in the English language. It is true from cover to cover. Peter Menikoff was born in the peasant village of Shacklee in Southwestern Bulgaria. From this primitive background, and not knowing a word of English, he settles in America as a boy, an employee in a brick kiln. Determined to become a doctor, he goes to Park College, Missouri, where, despite his utter ignorance of English, he completes the eight years of preparatory and college work necessary for medical school work.

This is the finest tonic for the growing cynicism of youth of to-day that we know of. Those who think that opportunity in America is a delusion and that life is not for the courageous, but for the fortunate, are challenged to read this book. They cannot do it without losing every vestige of the self-pity complex that keeps them from attempting things worth while. . . . Get and read "Peter Menikoff." It will be placed beside "The Americanization of Edward Bok."

Ready August 1, 1928.

Mexico, Past and Present. A book for those who want the truth. By Dr. G. B. Winton. 12mo. cloth, $2.00.

This is a masterly work, beginning with the first-known Mexico, its native Indians, and then going by direct steps through the days of the Spanish conquest and leadership to the attempts at the new republic. It gives a full and convincing record of the Mexico under Diaz, Madero, Carranza, Obregon, and Calles. "Mexico, Past and Present" is one of the outstanding books of international import published during this decade. Above all, it does not sidestep the questions of oil rights, the Church, and the supposed Socialism of the Mexican government.

A New "Chappell Book"

(The Belk Lectures at Wesleyan College)

Christ and the New Woman. By Clovis G. Chappell, Author of "Home Folks," "The Village Tragedy," and the Popular Volumes on Bible Characters. 12mo. Cloth, $1.25.

Dr. Chappell admires and believes in the New Woman, and in these lectures he discusses frankly the changes in her ideals, occupations, and opportunities that have come about through her emancipation. While he recognizes the perils that lie in her new freedom, he sees that woman has been thrust out into wider fields of activity through the operation of forces beyond her control and that she is the same at heart that she always was.

He shows that woman is man's equal and that the failure to recognize this fact accounts for the prevalence and persistance of certain evils in society. The double standard in morals is going, and either man will rise to the level of woman or woman will descend to the level of man.

This book is a wholesome discussion of a subject that is in everybody's mind, and it should be read by all mothers, fathers, girls, boys, preachers, and teachers. It is full of good common sense, and the view of humor running through it makes it delightful reading.

A New "Wright Book"

The House of Happiness. By Bruce S. Wright, D.D., Author of "The Life in the Spirit," "Moments of Devotion," etc. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

Bruce Wright knows life. As a man of God there have come to him opportunities to mend broken hearts, to reëstablish home ties, to visit hearthsides in times of joy and in times of sorrow. Here are his twenty studies in the factors that bring and insure happiness to mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, husbands and wives.

The love of God and the laws of God make for a happy home. To honor the home, to use it as the Architect and Builder intends, to cause its doors to open with cordiality, its hearth to hold the fire of holiness, its windows to shine with happiness, its stairs to lead up, ever up toward God, to make it a house of progress as well as stability, is the purpose of "The House of Happiness." "It is the best work of this author," declares William H. Leach, Editor of Church Management.

Church Finance--Church Building

Church Finance. By William H. Leach, Author of "Church Administration," and "Putting It Across," Editor of Church Management. Octavo. $2.25.

How to make more general a complete membership participation in the support of well-rounded, progressive Church programs confronts many Church bodies. For a number of years Mr. Leach has studied these problems. A short time ago he assembled his findings. The result is that within the covers of this book ministers and lay leaders have at their disposal a wealth of valuable material on finding and harnessing the resources of their congregations.

The successful plans of others are completely described. Church accounting is thoroughly presented. There are publicity suggestions, texts for stewardship sermons, plans for the raising of money by mail, a substitute for the every-member canvass, a discussion of endowments. Church committees and pastors can turn to "Church Finance" for ready aid in working out the financial program of their congregations. "Church Finance" is written from the point of view of the practical financing of a Church and not from the position of theoretical Christian stewardship as pertains to money.

Planning Modern Church Buildings. By M. W. Brabham. Probable price, $2.50.

With more than one hundred illustrations, this book is sent on its mission of helping building committees and church builders to plan wisely the edifices they raise "to the glory of God" and as places of worship for his people.

To consult this book is to find plans for building and remodeling that will enable one to spend wisely and to build usable, desirable structures.

This is without doubt a most complete work. Special treatment is given to the needs of the Church school. The author, for some time a valued member of the committee on architecture of the Board of Church Extension of one of America's largest denominational constituencies, is associated with one of the country's most successful architectural firms.

Ready August 6, 1928.

A Noted Englishman on an Interesting Theme

Wesley's Legacy to the World. By John Ernest Rattenbury. Being substantially the Quillian Lectures recently delivered before Emory University. $2.50.

The author of this volume, a noted Englishman, presents in a fascinating and informing way the permanent values of the Evangelical Review of the eighteenth century. Among these values is John Wesley himself, declared by Bishop Barnes to be the greatest religious leader that England has ever produced, and he is described as both a citizen of heaven and a child of his time, giving to the world a religion of spiritual experience and common sense through a rediscovery of God. The enormous influence of Methodism upon all Churches and upon secular life is explained. The author has a wide range of knowledge, a bold grasp, and mature judgment, and his book is a distinct and highly valuable contribution to a subject which seems to be inexhaustible.

Ready August 30, 1928.

Christianity and Civilization

Christianity's Contributions to Civilization. An Interpretation of Christianity as the Greatest Spiritual, Moral and Social Impetus the World Has Ever Known. By Charles David Eldridge, Ph.D. Octavo. $3.00.

This is the first book from the pen of one of America's most popular and able platform speakers. He has presented in compact form information that clergy and laity need and want—a splendid setting forth of historic facts.

The author is accurate and reliable. There is no distortion of fact. Extensive travel, broad culture, constant reading, and continuous contact with men and things have enabled him to prepare in a fresh and original way a well-balanced perspective of history from the first century until the present time.

Dr. Eldridge's treatment of the contributions of Christianity to the non-Christian peoples is especially valuable and is an able defense of Christian missionary enterprises. He sees the final goal of religion to be a world actuated by Christian ideals and permeated with the spirit of Jesus.

A New Type of Leadership Training Text

Missions in a Changing World. By W. W. Pinson, D.D., Author of "Walter Russell Lambuth," "George R. Stuart: Life and Work," etc. One of the new "Missions and Social Service Course" Texts. $1.00.

Since 1906 Dr. Pinson has been prominently identified with the missionary enterprise of the Church at large. His extensive work in the Orient, his close acquaintance with missionary leaders, and his sympathetic and eminently successful supervision of the missionary activities of a denominational constituency noted for its missionary zeal prepare him in a peculiar way to bring to young people and to the Church at large these informative, challenging, and frank observations of missions to-day.

COKESBURY RELIGIOUS EDUCATIONAL TEXTS

STANDARD TRAINING COURSE

THE Standard Training Course, which has been in use for more than ten years, is prepared coöperatively by several large denominations conducting training programs. Each year the course is improved by the addition of advanced texts and the elimination of those which have outlived their usefulness for one reason or another. It is planned to meet the needs of the average teacher whose educational equipment is represented by the last two years in high school and the first two years of college. Teachers whose educational advantages have been limited to less scholastic training than this will find the Cokesbury Training Course of real help to them.

The Cokesbury publications in the Standard Training Course are:

Teaching in the Sunday School. By Goodrich C. White. — $1 00 — S

The author of this book is Dean of the College of Liberal Arts in Emory University and has undertaken in this text to set forth in nontechnical language the fundamental principles involved in the teaching process. The opening chapter, 'Getting and Holding Attention," is in itself evidence of the skill of the author in presenting the entire subject. The illustrations used are taken from practical situations in Sunday schools scattered throughout the country. The book is replete with concrete illustrations, and every chapter is concluded with a series of pertinent questions for thought and discussion. The arrangement of the material is in excellent form and serves well the purpose for which the book was written. A splendid text for use by individual students or the leader of the local training class.

The Program of the Christian Religion. By Rev. John W. Shackford, D.D..... — 80 — S

The chief business of the Christian worker, whether he be preacher, teacher, or Church officer, is to interpret the Christian message. Our own generation has seen an awakened interest in the study of the religious meaning of the Christian truth as it comes into contact with the problems of everyday living. In "The Program of the Christian Religion" the author has undertaken to answer the question "How can the Christian Church meet the world's religious needs?" His first answer to this question is that we may have a correct conception of God as Father, of Jesus as the world's Saviour, and of the fellowship of the Spirit. The author treats the kingdom of God as a social ideal in the process of becoming a social order that harmonizes with the life and teachings of Jesus. To accomplish this purpose the author outlines a program of missions, world-wide in its scope, of education that is comprehensive and complete, a program of service to every human need, and a program of evangelism that is all inclusive and in harmony with the laws of developing life. The book is filled with the sound "meat of the gospel" and has outlined a real worship program for building the kingdom through the agency of the Christian Church. Its study will enrich the life and enlarge the vision of all who read it.

	The Training of the Devotional Life. By Kennedy and Meyer. . . . . Worship is as old as the race. It is, and always will be, an important element in religious education. Nothing is more essential to the development of the religious life than an understanding of and appreciation for the value of worship. Childhood and youth respond most naturally to the worship appeal. It is important that their ideas of the character of God and our relation to him and to our fellows should be correct. Our forms and materials of worship determine the ideals and attitudes that govern their later life. This text deals with the vital problem of training in worship. It discusses such problems as the kind of prayer we ought to pray, the value of prayer to the growing life, the place and importance of music, testimony, and offering, and the proper use of Scripture in developing the devotional spirit and attitude. This book should be read by every pastor, Sunday school teacher, and parent.	$0 60	S
	Learning and Teaching. By Sheridan and White. . . . . This is one of the first and most widely used of the textbooks issued for the Standard Training Course. Its practical value lies in the fact that it was written by men well trained in the field of education who wrote out of the experience of years of successful teaching. Their conclusions are based upon actual experience. The text will help any Sunday school worker to an answer of many of the more perplexing questions which confronts him each time he stands before a class. There is a splendid discussion of "How Children Learn" and helpful suggestions on the relation of the teacher to the learning process and to the child himself. In concrete form this text covers the whole range of subjects involved in the work of the teacher. It is written in language within the range of the understanding of the average Sunday school teacher, and the illustrations are apt. Some of the topics treated are: "Understanding the Pupil," "Getting and Holding Attention," "Story-Telling," "Using Illustrations that Illustrate," "Activity and Its Relation to Learning," "Planning the Lesson," etc.	80	S
	Evangelism in the Sunday School. By Rev. E. B. Chappell, D.D. . . . . This book has been written primarily for those who are devoting their time and talent to the religious education of childhood and youth. The author does not concern himself with controversy over theology, but approaches the discussion of his subject with a clear-cut definition of the origin and meaning of the word "evangelism" as used in the New Testament. Following his definitions, the author offers a discussion of the agencies employed in evangelism, the evangelistic methods to be employed. He then turns to a full-chapter treatment of such subjects as "Evangelism of Early Childhood," of later childhood, early and middle adolescence, and of young people and adults. The text offers a treatment of this subject at once in harmony with sound educational theory and religious experience. This book should be in the hands of every parent, Sunday school teacher, and pastor.	1 00	S
	The Bible: Its Origin and Growth. By Costen J. Harrell. It has long been recognized that one of the serious handicaps of the average Sunday school teacher lies in the fact that he is often unfamiliar with the history of our English Bible. An intelligent appreciation of our Bible—how it came to be, how it has been marvelously preserved, and how it happens to contain just what it does as scripture—is very necessary for an intelligent interpretation of its great teachings. Bible message has won for it a distinct place in the literature of the world."

It has been difficult to secure textbooks on this subject which are at one and the same time based upon Biblical scholarship and containing a genuine devotional spirit. In its preface, the author states that no one ever truly understands anything until he knows something about its origin, and in the text he has undertaken to give us the very best that has been preserved in the history and tradition of the Church as it relates to this sacred book. Dr. Harrell writes out of long years of careful study as a successful pastor and has tested the lessons out in his own prayer meeting services. The writer has purposely avoided technical and ambiguous references. This is a book that ought to be read by every lover of the Bible and particularly by those who undertake to teach it.

SPECIALIZATION TEXTS

Training Juniors in Worship. By Mary Alice Jones.... $1 00 S

This text deals with the problem of training junior children—ages nine, ten, and eleven—in the use of the material and in the forms and methods of worship, and in the art of worship itself. The author has made a careful analysis of the subject from the viewpoint of the worker with juniors and of the juniors themselves. The chapter headings will indicate the thoroughness with which the author has undertaken to discuss the subject. Chapter I deals with an adequate definition of what worship really is. Chapters II, III, and IV discuss the problem of guiding the junior's thoughts about God and of his approach to God and the meaning and methods of prayer. Chapters VI and VII deal with the problem of music as an aid to worship. This is followed by chapters dealing with the devotional use of the Bible, the sacrament as an aid to worship, motivation of service and conduct, concluding with a very practical and helpful chapter on building the worship program and the atmosphere for the worship service. The author has produced this book from a rich background of editorial experience and from practical work in a junior department in Sunday school. The text is not a manual, though it contains many practical suggestions. It is a fundamental discussion of the underlying principles of worship and training in worship.

The Worship of the Little Child. By Edna Dean Baker. 12mo. Cloth..... 75 H

This text deals with the problem of training Beginners in the forms and methods of worship. The value of Miss Baker's book to the teachers of Beginners is well indicated by the chapter headings. Chapters I and II deal with the meaning of worship in the life of the child and the possibilities of developing the desire for worship in the mind of the child. Chapter III is a splendid analysis of the Beginner's concept of God, the differing ideas that children have about God, and the danger in permitting wrong conceptions to go uncorrected. Chapters IV, V, VI, and VII deal with the problems of cultivating the spirit of prayer and guiding the Beginner in prayer. Chapter VIII deals with the problem of music as an aid in worship and discusses the type of music best suited for Beginner use. Chapter IX discusses the offering and methods for teaching worship through the offering. This is followed by a chapter on the motivation of service and conduct, teaching worship by creating the correct motives. The author is a recognized authority on the subject of worship in child life and writes from years of experience in working with children. Her book is not a manual. It is a fundamental discussion of the underlying principles of worship for the little child.

	Organization and Administration of the Intermediate Department. By Hugh H. Harris. 16mo. Cloth.....	$0 70	H

This is a specialization unit in intermediate work of the Standard Training Course. The author shows a practical working knowledge of the theory and practice of religious education involved in work with boys and girls of intermediate age. There is no age group in the Church school so thoroughly misunderstood and more often neglected. It is indeed an age that furnishes a constant problem to the Church school worker, and the author has undertaken in this book to deal with the practical problems involved. The form of organization and the place and purpose of the adult leader, the value of pupil initiative, responsibility, and participation are clearly pointed out and the methods indicated by which these principles may be observed. The book is at once in harmony with sound educational principles and with the practical conditions under which the average worker must labor. It points the way for a better understanding of the early adolescent group.

	Community Forces for Religious Education. (Early Adolescence.) By G. Walter Fiske. 16mo. Cloth.....	60	H

The author introduces his discussion of the community forces with the statement that the aim of religious education is Jesus's way of living, or, as he states in another place, "Christianity is supremely the way of life." This immediately brings the Church school worker face to face with the fact that we can no longer withdraw from the community in which we live and develop a Christian character while removed from community contacts. The purpose of the author in this book is to help the Church school worker to a better understanding of the multitude of forces which play upon the life of the adolescent boy and girl and which make for or against his religious development. The subjects treated by the author indicate the scope of the book. The world of the early adolescent, which includes his home, his play, his work, his school, his friendships, the moral and religious values in extra-Church agencies, are all treated by the author. The text concludes with a challenge discussion of the Church school's responsibility, particularly with the early adolescent group, and its responsibility for meeting their religious needs.

BIBLE TEXTS on the Level of the Standard Training Course

One of the greatest needs of workers with children and young people is that of a series of Bible textbooks based upon the very best scholarship of the day, omitting the controversial problems which are raised by scholars, but guiding the reader in his own study and interpretation of the Scripture. Textbooks being issued by the Cokesbury Press have been written for this purpose. The books which are described below are recently from the press and are to be followed at frequent intervals by other books written on the plan of a "book-by-book" study of the Bible.

	A History of New Testament Times. By Rev. George M. Gibson, A.M., D.D.....	1 00	S

The purpose of the text is to present to the average Sunday school officer and teacher an intelligent background for a better understanding of the making of the New Testament and the forming of the early Christian Church. The first two chapters deal with the background of Jewish history and the social life of the Jewish people. Following this, there appears a discussion of the religion of the Roman Empire and a study of Judaism at the time of the birth of Christianity. The book is clearly and plainly written and is admirably suited for the Sunday school teacher or Bible students who stand in need of a better knowledge of the times and circumstances under which the early Christian Church began its work. There is a very splendid discussion of the Judaism of the New Testament times and of the forces that were at work in preparation for the birth of Christianity. One chapter is devoted to the public ministry of Jesus, another to the fall of the Jewish state and the beginning of the Christian Church. Following this is the story of Paul's contribution to early Christianity and the beginnings of the organization which we know as the Christian Church. The two concluding chapters deal with the Church in process of development and the development of the Christian literature which has come to be recognized as our New Testament. The book will serve as a splendid background for a subsequent study of the life of Christ, the history of the Church, or the work of Paul.

	The Message of Jesus. By Rev. Harvie Branscomb.....	$1 00	S
	Professor Branscomb has offered a very fascinating and careful study of the message of Jesus; the book is timely. Not for many generations past have Christian people been so interested in the message of Jesus as they are to-day. What did Jesus think about this or that as relating to the great problems of our day is an all-absorbing question. The first chapter opens with a discussion of the record of the teachings of Jesus and the way in which he taught. The chapter on Jesus and the Old Testament is exceedingly helpful to the Bible student who is perplexed with present-day Bible criticism. Following in order, the author has set forth a discussion of Jesus's teaching about God, the kingdom, righteousness, living, humility, sincerity, domestic life, money, and rewards. There is a fascination and a freshness in the method of treatment that will interest the reader from the opening paragraphs to the close of the last chapter.
	St. Mark's Life of Jesus. By Rev. Andrew Sledd, D.D., Ph.D.....	1 00	S
	This is not just another life of Christ. The purpose of the writer is to lead the reader through a careful and intimate study of the record of the life and doing of Jesus as it has been preserved for us in the Gospel according to Mark. The first chapter is devoted to securing the proper background of appreciation for what is to follow. It contains a condensed statement of the national, political, social, and religious conditions that prevailed at the time Jesus began his ministry. There is also a discussion of the religious ideals and aspirations of the Jewish people themselves. Chapter two opens, as does the Gospel of Mark, with the preaching of John and the appearance of Jesus, his baptism, temptation, his return to Galilee, and his entry upon his ministry. The whole of chapters six and seven are taken up with a discussion of the doctrine of the cross as it appears in the conversation between Jesus and the twelve as he tried to reveal to them his real messianic mission. The vividness of style in which the book has been written leads the reader through the Gospel of Mark as though he would engage in an intimate biographical study. Dr. Sledd, in his study of the message of Mark, has become so intimately acquainted with every little detail in the life of Jesus that his pen picture makes the Master live again, and one can easily visualize his movements from day to day. With the book in hand, the reader can in imagination walk side by side with the Master through his whole career and can share with him the emotions, ideals, and aspirations which flow from his great heart. It is not a new life of Christ, because the author has but reproduced for us the Gospel of Mark. It is new in its style of intimacy and detail.

	The Life and Letters of Paul. By Rev. Thomas Carter, D.D. 16mo. Cloth	$1 00	S

This interesting work on the life and letters of Paul was issued in 1921 and has from the beginning been exceedingly popular. The book is written in two sections. The first twelve chapters center around the person of the great apostle and the Gentile world. In graphic story the author carries Paul from his birth to his death and portrays for the reader all of his recorded experiences. The book opens with a splendid portrayal of the world into which Paul was born—the Roman, Greek, and Hebrew—and explains the great forces that contributed so much to his character and work. Then follows a discussion of Paul's experience, his disciplines, and his preparation for his life's work. Chapters five to twelve recite in chronological order the missionary journeys and other ministries in which Paul engaged, and the reader cannot help but secure a new appreciation of this outstanding figure of New Testament times. The last twelve chapters concern themselves with a discussion of the epistles or letters which are attributed to the pen of Paul. With each letter the author points out the time of its writing, those to whom it was written, the purpose of the letter, and the message which it contains. An excellent and readable book, splendid for use in training classes, young people, and adult classes at the Sunday morning hour, and for systematic study in connection with the prayer meeting service.

	The Missionary Message of the Bible. By Edmund F. Cook, D.D.	1 00	S

The author of this book has devoted many years of his life to a study of the missionary problem. He has served as missionary secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and also the Sunday School Secretary of Missions and Missionary Education for that Church. The book is not a thesis on missions nor a treatise on the Bible, but is designed to serve as a guide to the study of the missionary teachings of the Bible. The author treats his subject after a statement of the theory of the missionary enterprise by a study of Israel as a people with a missionary commission, a study of the missionary vision and message of the prophets, centering the entire treatment about Jesus as the Master Missionary, and concluding with a study of the missionary zeal of the great apostle to the Gentiles and the outreach of the early Church in trying to spread the gospel message. One cannot read the book without a clearer and fuller appreciation of the divine plan as it expresses itself in the missionary enterprise of the twentieth century.

COKESBURY TRAINING COURSE

The Cokesbury Training Course has been prepared to meet the need of the thousands of Sunday school workers, pastors, and others who carry on the work of the kingdom under the limitations of the small Church. The books are all written in simple style, undertaking to deal with problems in a practical way; and technicial treatment and phrases are omitted. Each book has been written by a person familiar with the small town and open country situation and for the purpose of meeting a specific or definite need. When the series of texts for this course is completed, it will contain as broad a range of subjects as is now provided for in the Standard Training Course, adapting the principles and methods to the conditions of work in the small school.

	The Life of Christ. By Umphrey Lee. Cloth..... Another new book on the life of Christ which will readily find its place among the best sellers on this subject. The style is fluent, clear, and easy to read. The author draws upon all four of the Gospels and gives to us in brief compass a picture that is at once concise and complete; and he avoids all the critical and controversial problems that have been raised by theologians and scholars. The purpose of the author seems to have been that of putting before the reader a composite life of Christ—that is, a life of Christ as he sees it through the eyes of the four Gospel writers. The opening chapter draws a beautiful picture of the land of Palestine, the home at Nazareth, and the early education and youth of Jesus. In rapid succession, like a moving panorama, the author follows the travels, associations, and teaching of Jesus back and forth through the land of Palestine, in and out of Jerusalem, to the end of his life. No important event in that full life of Jesus seems to have been overlooked. One chapter is devoted to a study of Jesus as his contemporaries saw him. Here the author has given us a picture of what his own family thought of him, what his neighbors thought of him, and what the common people thought, the patriots and the religious leaders. This is an excellent book; its use is recommended for a Bible unit in connection with the training courses for the workers in the small school. It is admirably adapted to courses for use in young people and adult study groups and for high school students. It is a worth-while contribution to this field.	$0 75 Boards Edition at 60c discontinued	S
	The Small Sunday School, Its Plans and Work. By L. F. Sensabaugh. Cloth..... In the preparation of this book the author has been guided by his own personal experience as a superintendent and teacher in the local Sunday school and in his contacts with the thousands of small Sunday schools as a Conference superintendent. A. M. Locker, for many years superintendent of field work for the International Council, says of the book: "It is the first of its kind to meet the needs of the small Sunday school; it is the finest outline of suggestions for officers and teachers in the small school that I have ever seen." A pastor writes: "I have given my life to the country Church, and my constant embarrassment has been to secure a training text suitable to their needs. I hail this book as a godsend to our small schools." Another says: "The book follows the well-known principle of taking people where they are and giving them a definite, constructive program that will lead them where they ought to go."	75 Boards Edition at 60c discontinued	S
	The Sunday School Worker, His Life and Work. By L. F. Sensabaugh. Cloth..... The purpose of this book is to emphasize the importance of the personal element, and, as the title indicates, deals with the quality of life and work that is so essential for success. A prominent Sunday school worker, in speaking of the value of this book, writes: "The style is enthusiastic, inspirational, spiritual. The discussions are enlivening, with a wealth of apt illustrations which will appeal to the people who are serving as officers and teachers in the small Sunday school." The real purpose of this book is to vitalize the whole process of religious education, to prevent Sunday school workers from losing sight of the things of the spirit in their effort to master methods.	75 Boards Edition at 60c discontinued	S

	Two attitudes may be assumed in studying the Bible. First, an individual may choose at random any selection, read it, and study what some one has said concerning it, and after repeated selections and readings, consider that he is posted on the Bible. Second, he may follow some definitely outlined course, following progressively the progressive revelations of God and considering the Bible such, study its institutions, characters, and religious teachings. The chapters abound in characteristic stories of the negroes and their reaction of freedom, and both humor and pathos are combined in the drama that is unfolded. The climax is reached in a thrilling horse race, which is so vividly told that the reader finds himself cheering with the rest for the faithful old bishop and his superb blind horse as the bell rings on the last lap of the race.

Christus Comprobator; or, The Testimony of Christ to the Old Testament. By Bishop C. J. Ellicott. With an introduction by Bishop Warren A. Candler. 191 pages. 12mo	75	A
Some years ago, when a wave of destructive "Higher Criticism" swept over England, the learned and devout Bishop Ellicott, Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, prepared and delivered seven addresses, his subject being "The Teachings of Our Lord and Master as to the Authority of the Old Testament," and the extent to which he authenticates the divine origin and character of the different books of the Old Testament to which he was pleased to refer. The good effect of these addresses was felt throughout England. The untechnical form in which the lectures are cast makes them especially useful to busy laymen and young preachers who are not prepared or inclined to deal with such a subject in any other form.

Coke, Life of Thomas. By Warren A. Candler, one of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. 304 pages. 12mo	1 50	A Great achievements, whether they be of individuals or the masses, are usually the result of the uncommon devotion of some great man. The establishment of the Methodist Church and the promulgation of its doctrines during the early years centered upon the lives of a few devout leaders, among whom was Thomas Coke. In the propagation of Methodism he was second only to John Wesley, and in some respects he was superior to that great man. Layman or preacher will profit by a close study and application of the life of this illustrious character.

Evangelism in the Sunday School. By Dr. E. B. Chappell. 12mo. (For use in schools of M. E. Church, South). 1 00 S

Dr. Chappel has made a careful study of the whole problem of evangelism through the Sunday school and has taught courses in evangelism in many of our Standard Training Schools. The conclusions reached as a result of this study and his experiences have been brought together in this volume. While this book deals primarily with principles, it furnishes also many valuable suggestions as to methods, and will meet a long-felt need among Southern Methodists who are seeking to prepare themselves for effective service as teaching evangelists.

Evidences of Divine Being. By E. A. Maness. 12mo. Boards..... 40 A

Dr. Maness has made no effort to give an elaborate system of argument for the proof of a Divine Being. His book is an expression of practical evidence and certain outstanding proofs which lead the mind to believe in God. It is helpful to faith to marshal the evidences of God's being, and the proofs of his existence will drive doubt from the Christian heart and help to close the mouth of the critic.

Evolution of a Churchman, The. By Thomas Smoot... 65 A

This is a most unusual title. Winslow, an outline of whose religious evolution is given, is a composite. Like the "Wandering Jew," he has been a traveler over the earth since the Crucifixion and has lived in many unsuspected places. The author has met him in the city, village, and countryside; on railway trains and steamships; in business groups and literary circles. Often, he has found him in some cloistered retreat, as student of theology, trying to learn "what it's all about." Always, he has been misunderstood, and frequently condemned by those who should sympathize with him and condone his shortcomings. He is still with us, and his tribe is destined to increase. Shall we invite him into the house and give him counsel and advice, or shall we close the door in his face and let him continue to wander—and wonder?

in constant touch with the advancing thought of this marvelous time and was able to understand the significance of its discoveries.

In these lectures the vital truths of Christianity are presented as they appear to the eyes of one who knows the present day, and the old faith is seen in the new setting. Here is mature and balanced wisdom tested in the fires of experience.

While the book was not written as autobiography, it is in fact a record of the pilgrimage of a courageous soul into the land of spiritual promise indicated by enlarging horizons. The author put into it his best.

Galloway, Bishop Charles Betts. By Warren A. Candler, D.D., LL.D. 12mo. Cloth ..... 1 50 A

The gifted pen of Bishop Candler displays rare skill in the field of biography. He knows how to seize the salient facts of his character's life and present them in such clearness and proportion that the person lives and moves before the reader's view as the man really was.

Bishop Galloway was the most distinguished preacher of his Church in his generation. He was recognized as the most brilliant orator of the South, and his influence in both Church and State was beyond calculation. His voice and pen sent a blazing light far beyond the bounds of his own denomination.

George R. Stuart, Life and Work. By W. W. Pinson, D.D. ..... 2 00 A

The influence of Dr. George R. Stuart has been felt by more people in America than that of any other Southern minister of the past twenty years. His field of work began in the small pastorate became enlarged as he went into the larger metropolitan Churches, and later became nation wide as he associated with the great evangelist Sam P. Jones and still later when he became one of the highest-paid Chautauqua lecturers appearing before great audiences all over America.

Those who knew George R. Stuart will meet him again in these vivid chapters and live over the rich fellowship of other days. Those who did not know him will find themselves face to face with a vivid, virile, and alluring American in "Citizen Stuart" as the author characterizes him in one of his chapter headings.

God and the New Knowledge. By Brown, Kirkland, and Mims..... 1 00 A

This book, published for the Cole Lecture Foundation, "is fair to both sides," writes Malcolm L. MacPhail in the Presbyterian Advance. "Now that the tensest hour of the fundamentalist-modernist controversy is past, men are coming into a mood when they are ready to consider all the facts. By far the best book that I have seen to put into their hands is a little volume entitled "God and the New Knowledge," by three members of the faculty of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

"There is a peculiar pleasure in being able to write the preceding statement, because many of us in the North have been inclined to accept the impression made by secular papers that no fair and intelligent consideration of these questions could be expected from the South.

"Chancellor Kirkland, recognized educational leader of the South, contributes a chapter on 'Evolution and Its Limits.' Professor Brown writes on 'Modernism and Fundamentalism.' Dr. Mims (author of 'The Advancing South') has a chapter entitled 'The Bible Once More.'

"The authors," continues Dr. MacPhail, "have rendered a service to the Church throughout the country."

Dr. Chappell delves with unusual insight into the fundamentals of success and the contributing factors entering into the failure of home life. The subjects of these addresses are: Successful Marriage; Causes of Failure, before Marriage and after; The Mother; The Father; The Baby; The Young Man; The Marriageable Daughter; In-Laws; Old Folks. With characteristic brevity and directness of speech Dr. Chappell upholds the true marriage as a divine institution and not a civil contract of our own making.
	Hot Shots: Sermons and Sayings. By Sam P. Jones. 12mo.	40	A
	During his day, Sam P. Jones was a most picturesque figure before the American people. A unique character, striking personality, an original style—a phenomenal career. The largest auditoriums of America's greatest cities would not hold the people that came to hear him. From Canada to the Gulf his reputation was known and his services in demand. With humor and ridicule, a sharp offhand wit, and droll satire, this fun-loving and fun-provoking Georgian brought thousands to their knees and opened their hearts to the message of Christ, which formed the backbone of his public addresses. The best and most useful of these sayings, with a few complete sermons, have been preserved in this book. It is a wonderful treasure house of sermon material.

Jesus Our Ideal. By W. P. Whaley. 12mo. New Edition, cloth..... $1 00 S

This series of addresses is vital, well prepared and written, touching a sympathetic response in one's thinking and living. The life of Christ is taken through this series of messages and made to speak to us on the questions that are universal. The book has an appeal to both old and young.

Jesus the Pioneer, and Other Sermons. By Umphrey Lee. 12mo..... 75 A

In these sermons the author has presented the present-day problems as he sees them and brings out the fact that the Bible contains the solution for them all. That it is not a book whose principles were given for a bygone age, but is as up-to-date as the morning newspaper and as real as the problems which confront us. His illustrations reveal a broad sympathy and deep insight, and his approach to the subject is refreshingly different.

Junior Programs and Songs. By Mrs. E. Clay Smith. Octavo..... 75 A

There is a very real need throughout the Junior field for programs of worship. This need has been effectively met by this little volume. The programs have been constructed with intelligence and with care, and embody the results of practical experience in training Junior children to worship. The book is intended not only for use of the Junior Superintendent, but also for the pupils. It will aid greatly in conducting a worshipful service if each child in the department is provided with a copy and is enabled to enter heartily into the responsive readings and into the singing.

Lambuth, Walter Russell. By W. W. Pinson. 12mo... 1 75 A

A close acquaintance with Bishop Lambuth, running through many years of intimate association, qualifies the author for the writing of this book.

The story of the pioneer is always a source of interest and inspiration. To follow those who have blazed the trails to new discoveries and have given to the world a knowledge of regions hitherto unknown; who have penetrated to the outskirts of the world and from that vantage ground have beckoned their fellows to high endeavor, is an experience which always enriches the heart and broadens the mind. Such an experience comes to the one who reads this fascinating story of a great life. Bishop Lambuth was endowed with the instincts of the explorer, and during his life he gratified this instinct by his extensive travels in laying the foundations of the kingdom in "regions beyond.' To read this book is to get a new vision of the importance of the world evangelism.

We like things told to us plainly and simply and briefly, particularly those things in connection with devotions. Dr. Wright is such a writer. "To my mind, Bruce Wright is one of the best in the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church to-day," says William H. Leach, editor of Church Management. "Neither his spoken nor written sermons are long; but they are always interesting, and he finds plenty of hearers. He always places the spiritual note in the front position, and no one has ever questioned his sincerity nor his spiritual insight." 	This book is intended to show how Methodism reproduced apostolic Christianity by calling the Church from the blind alleys of sacramentalism, institutionalism, and intellectualism back to the great highway of Christian experience. It is a sympathetic interpretation of the revival movement which quickened the spiritual life of the whole of Protestantism and resulted in the various branches of the Methodist Church. The author deals candidly with questions of scholarship and science and indicates the relation of Methodism to Roman Catholicism, to the rest of Protestantism, and to the progress of the modern world.

	Message of Jesus, The. By Harvie Branscomb, Professor in Duke University. Bible Text Series.....	1 00	S
	What was the message of Jesus while on earth? What was his attitude toward the different phases of humanity? Did he stress some things more than others? These and many other vital points are satisfactorily and completely answered in this discussion of the ministry of Jesus. Mr. Branscomb has made no effort at scholarly display. Conclusions and deductions are made in such manner that there is no room for doubt as to the unaffected sincerity of the author.

	This is a complete code of ethical conduct for the minister. It is not a treatise based solely on the experience and opinions of the author. Rather, it is a complete digest of all available material on the subject, painstakingly and accurately assembled from the writings of many prominent preachers and pastors and from the Congregational, Unitarian, and Episcopalian codes. "Now, for the first time, ministers have access to a comprehensive and sensible treatise on the ethics of their profession. It is not a personal experience volume. Mr. Harmon has studied every code of ethics adopted by ministerial bodies, read widely of all literature dealing with the subject, and produced a book which will soon be referred to as 'a standard.'"—*William H. 	Missionary Evangel, The. By Bishop E. D. Mouzon. 12mo. This book comprises the Fondren Lectures for 1925 delivered by Bishop Mouzon before the students of Southern Methodist University in April. There was a feeling among those who heard the lectures as they were delivered in the chapel of Kirby Hall that in them the Bishop has effected a fusion of the historic ardor of their faith with a more than usually clear understanding of the problems of the Church as it confronts the contemporary world. The opening lecture, entitled, "The Evangel and the Bible," is based upon the conception that the Bible, intelligently interpreted as a revelation of men's hearts confronting a seeking God, must be raised. As a whole, the lectures lose nothing by being printed, for they contain so much of substantial truth, memorably phrased, that the book will cast its own light and strength	$0 95	A

	Missions in a Changing World. By W. W. Pinson, D.D. 12mo. A changing world order confronts the Church. There must be a reinterpretation of our missionary responsibility and of the method of approach to the awakening millions in other lands. Out of a deep study, broad experience as a missionary secretary, intimate contact with the mission field, and a genuine Christian ideal, Dr. Pinson has written a frank, dynamic, prophetic message—the needed reinterpretation. He has been challenging in facing and stating the facts and reveals true Christian sympathy for the people of other religions. To read this book is to secure a clearer conception of the missionary task of our day.	1 00	S

The author seems to me to have kept his eyes fixed on a noble ideal and at the same time to have maintained touch with the actual and concrete. He has not loosened his grasp on his fundamentals because of the false antitheses which so sadly perplex the untrained thinker."—Bishop Francis J. McConnell.

Herein are recorded stories of the lives and times of certain men who have written themselves indelibly into the history of the Christian Church. Some of them held the torch of faith and service during the Dark Ages. Some were contemporaries of the Renaissance. Several proved the salvation of Great Britain. Others kept aware of its origin and the debt it owes the spiritually minded founders of its colonies.

Many of these princes were the "heretics" of their day. Some were murdered for their devotion to honesty, truth, and unselfishness. But to-day they are seen in their true light. Only one has been canonized; but who can say that any one of them had not the qualities of saintliness?

The biographer has placed the reader under peculiar obligations, not the least of which is that as one reads of these lives and times he can very clearly see that he, too, "can make his life sublime."

Program of the Christian Religion, The. (See page 7). $0 80 S

Program of Jesus, The. By Edwin DuBose Mouzon. The Cole Lectures for 1925. 12mo. Cloth..... 1 50 A

This volume sustains the very high intellectual and literary standard which has characterized the Cole Lectures since their inauguration in 1903. The eminent Southern Bishop throws a flood of light on the vital question: "What is the program of Jesus for human society?" He does not believe that Christianity originated a few days after the death of Jesus; he finds its origin in the master life and teachings. Bishop Mouzon shows that as a man Jesus wrestled with human problems in establishing the kingdom of God, and that his temptation had to do with the kind of kingdom to be set up in the world. He insists that Christianity is much more than an "other world" affair, and says: "No Christian can remain indifferent to the evils in the life of modern society." A practical, deeply impressive presentation of real Christianity as revealed in the purpose and program of its Founder.

Providence, Prayer and Power. Studies in the Philosophy, Psychology, and Dynamics of Religion. By Wilbur Fisk Tillett. Octavo..... 2 50 A

In these illuminating "studies" this eminent author and teacher of theology brings together the ripe thoughts of a lifetime concerning some of the most fundamental doctrines of the Christian religion. "It is believed that no book has appeared in recent years wherein these great doctrines have jointly received such full, satisfactory, and helpful treatment as in this latest volume by Dean Tillett."

Putting It Across. By William Herman Leach, Ph.B. 12mo..... 1 25 A

Leadership is the most sought-for quality in the world to-day. Is it a gift, or can it be acquired? This question is definitely and decisively answered by Dr. Leach's new book, "Putting It Across," in which he shows why some organizations succeed and some do not, why some men are born leaders and others are never more than followers. How to make voluntary organizations succeed is the theme, and his wide experience in this work makes his book the product of the firing line.

	Reality in Religion: The Quillian Lectures for 1927. By Gilbert T. Rowe, D.D., Editor Methodist Quarterly Review	$1 75	A
	A stirring book by a great thinker. Here religion is presented as actual communion with a real God, the most persistent and creative force in human life. The facts of religion, persuades the author, are as real and observable as the facts of any other field of investigation; the laws, as ascertainable and verifiable in experience as the laws of nature. Dr. Rowe's book is a suitable companion to Harris Franklin Rall s "Meaning of God," earlier Quillian Lectures. "The whole book is an intellectual stimulus." —William H. Leach.
	Religious Aspects of Education. By Rev. J. C. Roper. 12mo. Cloth bound	95	A

Every one seems to think something must be done, but the author goes further. After careful, diligent investigation in collaboration with committees and shrewd observations of his own, he points the way to wider coöperation between Church and secular educational agencies. His concrete conclusions are worthy of immediate attention and application.

	In this book the author sets forth the history, evolution, and meaning of the more ancient forms of worship appearing under the head of "Ritual" in the Disciplines of the two great branches of Episcopal Methodism in the United States, the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He traces the changes that have gradually come about with the years, and brings out the deep and reverent spirit that has ever permeated the alterations and revisions that have taken place. Great care has been taken to keep this history correct in every detail, and no more valuable book has been published for Methodists in many years.

	A four-act drama that sheds a new light on one of the Bible's most beautiful and inspiring books. Professor Spence paints a vivid and accurate picture of the suffering, sacrifice, and romance of the days before Christ visited the earth. Of the many volumes written on this one theme this book offers to Bible literature an entirely new and original presentation of the book of Ruth. Professor Spence portrays with an unusual degree of exactness the life and customs of those people upon whom our faith is founded. The story is told in blank verse, making it easily and quickly read. Young people's societies, Bible study classes, or small schools will find this book unusually well planned for class study or for dramatization. 		Cokesbury Hymnal	Cloth
		A new songbook that may be used in Church, Sunday school, and revival. It is a collection of 300 hymns and songs of the old familiar type that people love to sing. The selections were made from suggestions received from preachers, evangelists, Sunday school superintendents, teachers, and laymen from all over the Church. Published in both round and shaped notes, in both manila and cloth binding. The words appear between the bars. Has an orchestrated edition. Contains responsive readings, and eleven of our best hymns are arranged for choral presentation. Completely indexed. The remarkable low price of $40 per hundred for the cloth binding and $25 per hundred for the manila makes it possible for any Church anywhere to have a songbook that will serve every purpose—Church, Sunday school, and revival. Sample copies will be mailed any preacher for 40 cents in the cloth binding or 30 cents in the manila. (Write for a complete description, including a list of songs.) Transportation is extra on all orders except single copies.	40 00 per 100 Paper 25 00 per 100	D D

		Best Revival Songs	12 50 per 100	D
		138 gospel songs, bound in best grade manila tag; canvas reenforcement on back. Furnished in both round and shaped notes. The urgent need of a practical revival songbook has long been recognized by the Association of General Evangelists. At their 1923 annual session, a committee, composed of Rev. W. M. McIntosh, Rev. Albert C. Fisher, Rev. A. J. Notestine, Mr. John U. Robinson, and Mr. W. G. Waltermire, was appointed and instructed to arrange for the publication of a book to contain approximately 150 of our most popular and useful songs. "Best Revival Songs" is the result of the work of this committee. The selections were chosen after soliciting suggestions from numerous people experienced in evangelistic work. These songs represent the choice numbers from the best-known songbook publishers of the world. A good many of them were obtained at an expense not ordinarily involved in a revival songbook.

	Soule, Joshua, Life of. By H. M. Du Bose. 12mo. 285 pages. "This book, while conforming to all the principal requirements of a true biography, is a most concise and interesting epitome of Methodist history, extending through nearly one hundred years, and embracing those mightiest events which mark the epochs of our wonderful Methodism. The author brings into play an artistic literary touch, a fine historical sense, an accurate knowledge of times and events, and that discriminative appreciation of values which insures proper perspective and proportion."—Christian Advocate.	$0 75	A

	The Southern Methodist Pulpit—1927. Edited by J. W. Rowland, Editor Richmond Christian Advocate. The Southern Methodist pulpit is manned by men of intelligence, ability, and sincerity. Here one finds old friends in Clovis G. Chappell, Gilbert T. Rowe, Forney Hutchinson, and P. R. Knickerbocker. And he also finds Frank Smith, Ivan Lee Holt, John William Smith, W. A. Stanbury, Mark S. Carlisle, R. P. Shuler, Philip Cone Fletcher, E. G. Hodge, T. S. Hamilton, W. L. Duren, Walter Anthony, and R. H. Bennett—men with convincing, timely messages, engaging personality, and constructive action. Their sermons form a worthy publication and are highly commendable additions to published homiletics.	1 50	A
	Spirit of John Wesley Gilbert, The. J. C. Colclough. 12mo. No other man, perhaps, has done more to foster harmony of Christian spirit and conscientious coöperation between white and black races than John Wesley Gilbert. This story of his life has been written that the record of his great work may serve as a constant reminder of the possibilities and advantages to be derived from a united effort toward a proper understanding of racial difference that will result in increased interest in the upbuilding of God's kingdom among all people.	40	A
	Spiritual Adventuring. By Bertha Condé. Author of "The Business of Being a Friend," "A Way to Peace, Health, and Power,' "The Human Element in the Making of a Christian." Pocket size. 12mo. Life is full of possible adventures, some merely furnishing thrills, but others leading to fruitful discoveries. The author points out the rich experiences that wait those courageous folks who dare to follow Jesus's plan for life. She follows no outworn philosophy. There are twelve chapters for weekly study in discussion groups or in personal devotions. The first five show the dimensions and character of the spacious spiritual life; the last seven deal with some of the special and practical teachings of Jesus—the use of one's resources, world citizenship, getting, spending, the cost involved in meeting some of the standards of the Christian life, the choice of worth-while careers.	1 00	A
	Spiritual Life, The. By Fitzgerald Sale Parker. 12mo. Paper. The greatest danger that faces the Church to-day is that it will become formal and mechanical in its functioning. The great danger that faces the individual Church member is coldness and formality. It breathes the spirit of heartfelt religion.	50	A

"It is just the thing for every busy layman who desires to become a Bible reader and who does not know just where to begin to get an introduction available within the leisure he has to devote to it. . . . As the basis of a series of studies in the books of the New Testament for adult classes in the Sunday school it has especial value."—Dr. Fitzgerald S. Parker.	90	S
		Story of the Old Testament. By Rev. Frank Seay, late Professor of Old Testament History in Southern Methodist University. 12mo. A wonderful presentation of the story of the Old Testament, its general character, its history, institutions, poetry, and prophecy.	1 00	S
		Studies in Methodist History. Prepared by Rev. J. M. Culbreth and edited by E. B. Chappell, D.D. Ornamental board binding. 12mo. One of the Cokesbury Training Course Texts for Senior, Young People's, and Adult classes in the Sunday school. It is designed to whet the mental appetite for more Methodist food of the same kind. It is important that our young people know something of the acts of the apostles of our own days as well as the Acts of the first century. For any Sunday school class that is old enough to study history, three months given to this little book would be time well spent.	60	S

		That One Face. By Bishop Herbert Welch. 12mo. Fondren Lectures, 1924. This book comprises the Fondren Lectures for 1924 delivered before the faculty and students of the Summer Theological School of Southern Methodist University. From the standpoint of a Christian missionary, these lectures are addressed primarily to those with a special interest in Christian propaganda, yet others who read will be impressed with the necessity for acquaintance with the people of other lands and the supreme duty which is ours as a Christian nation. The subjects are comprehensively handled and are well developed in their relation to each other.	75	A

	Thomas Neal Ivey. By Marion T. Plyler. 12mo.....	$0 95	A
	The life of Thomas Neal Ivey, author, educator, editor, and minister, should be an inspiration to all who are interested in the lives of the heroes of faith who have figured so prominently in the history and progress of the Church. In producing this interesting biography Dr. Plyler has further enriched the literature of the Church and perpetuated the memory of one whose life so abounded with loyalty and love. Included with the biographical study are many selections from the writings of Thomas Neal Ivey.
	Tom's Last Forage. By John Trotwood Moore.
	Fabricoid. 16mo.....	75	A
	Paper. 16mo.....	35	A
	Of Mr. Moore's many popular negro stories, none has been so generally acclaimed as "Tom's Last Forage." Although it has never before been published in book form, yet it is said to have been as often read by professional readers as any story ever written of the Old South and the negro. The late William Jennings Bryan, reading it at a reception tendered him at Columbia, Tenn., said: "It more nearly expressed the relationship existing between the old-time Southern gentleman and his negro slave than any story ever written." The facts of the story were suggested by an incident in the life of the author's father, the late Judge John Moore, of Marion, Ala., who is said to have been the greatest of Southern nisi prius judges. Of him it is said that no man ever lived in Alabama who more generally held the love and devotion of all his people, white and black, than did Judge Moore. Published first in a Chicago magazine, in 1897, "Tom's Last Forage," became at once a favorite, and so great has been the demand for its preservation in book form that the publishers have issued it in this small volume. It does not appear in any of Mr. Moore's other books.

	The design of this volume is to rouse the Church to action. Its utterances are like the staccato notes of the priestly trumpet summoning the hosts of Israel to battle. It calls for a revival of Christianity according to the pentecostal type. Many pastors have found it of inestimable value in revival campaigns.

	Trail Drivers of Texas, The. By George W. Saunders, President of the Old Trail Drivers' Association. Octavo. 1100 pages. Jacket in full colors.....	5 00	A
	One of the great source books on the early history of Texas, with the facts and interesting adventures in the establishment of the first cattle market in Kansas, this volume contains over 1,000 pages of the most inzeresting experiences, written by the men who actually participated in the early drives. Emerson Hough has expressed the high value he places in this work, giving it full credit for the background of "North of 36." The book is true in detail, and is an accurate recital of the experiences of the real cowboys of the Southwest. There is real necessity for its publication, because there are few, if any, books to-day which give the real facts about trail drivers and their employees of that early period. It corrects some of the false impressions that are created by some of the literature of the present day.

	Uncle Wash, His Stories. By John Trotwood Moore. (See also, Moore, John Trotwood, Works of)..... A group of typical old-time negro stories as told by a former slave. These tales give the reader an excellent picture of the lives and customs of the negroes of the Old South.	$0 90	A
	Village Tragedy, The, and Other Sermons. By Clovis G. Chappell, D.D. 12mo. 199 pages..... These sermons are on living themes, embracing science, logic, and poetry with the heartbeats of a suffering world. They are striking in evangelical spirit and Scriptural soundness. To study his work is to train for a better, more useful, and more fruitful ministry.	1 50	A
	Walking with God. By Costen J. Harrell. 12mo. Gift Size..... The English language is exceedingly rich in devotional literature. Yet the author of this book has contributed another volume that takes its place with the best, for it is planned to serve the young people of this generation and other persons who have recently begun the Christian life. Here one finds messages so brief that even the busiest may find time to read; so simple that any reader may understand; so vital that every reader may be helped to a more intimate walk with God. "Walking with God" will also be found an invaluable aid as a manual of "quiet talks" for preachers and teachers and for leaders of young people.	1 00	A
	Way of the Preacher, The: An Interpretation of a Calling. By J. A. Kern, D.D. 12mo..... A masterly presentation of the ideals of the preacher—what he should be and how to be it. Every important phase is discussed by the author, who is preëminently equipped for teaching on this great subject. "It has a life and character of its own, and a mission which will be successful, because it throbs with the highest ideals, the noblest attainments, the soundest methods."—Christian Guardian, Toronto, Canada.	1 25	S
	Wesley, John, Studies in the Life of. By E. B. Chappell, D.D. 12mo. 239 pages..... "Dr. Chappel is very happy in his selection of the important and decisive periods of Mr. Wesley's life, the salient elements of his character, and the chief aspects of his work. He shows real insight in fixing upon what was essential and omitting what was subordinate or incidental."—Methodist Review.	75	A

	What Every Methodist Should Know. By George R. Stuart. 102 pages. Ornamental boards. Textbook in Cokesbury Training Course..... The inimitable George Stuart has probably contributed his best work to our Church literature in this little book. Designed primarily as a work for class and group instruction, it is in fact a textbook for the study of the Methodist Church, its organization, operation, doctrine, and fundamental characteristics. For the preacher who would know more of his Church; for the layman who would become a better and more useful member; and, more especially, for the young convert who casts his lot with the Methodist Church, this little book is of exceptional worth.	60	S

	What Jesus Said about Heaven. By J. T. Whitley. One of the Cokesbury Devotional Series. Ornamental boards with jacket. 12mo.	$0 40	A
	Here are gathered together all the references of Jesus about heaven. Under appropriate chapter headings they are classified and elaborated upon to bring to the reader a clearer understanding "of that new life when sin shall be no more." This is an interesting study. The authority is the Master.
	What We Believe. By Franklin N. Parker, D.D. 16mo. 144 pages. (For M. E. Church, South)	75	A
	In these days of distressing controversies over the fundamentals of our Methodist belief, it is reassuring to have a clear-cut exposition from such an authority as Dr. Parker. His method is clear and forceful. There is no room for doubt or loose interpretation in this treatise. "My advice to all who read what I here say is that they buy at once this excellent discussion of 'What We Believe' from the pen of one of our best qualified systematic theologians."—*Bishop E. D. 	When God Walks the Road, and Other Missionary Stories. Edited by Sara E. Haskin. Paper	40	A
	The most effective method of making people acqainted with conditions is to tell them a story illustrating some specific thing. In this collection of very readable short stories, Miss Haskin has very effectively presented the need for practical missionary work both at home and abroad. The stories are as interesting as they are real.
	Winter Is Coming, and Other Stories. Edited by Mary Alice Jones. 12mo. Ornamental boards	65	A
	This book was prepared especially for use in week-day sessions of Church schools. It consists of a compilation of the best stories that have appeared in the Church and Sunday school papers. Stories with a strong moral tone from which the small children can gain lessons in life. The stories are grouped according to the special topic of the lesson as: Life in the Home, On the Playground, In the School, In the Church, With Nature, and for Special Days. An excellent plan for impressing upon the little ones the everyday lessons in life.
	Wisdom of Sufi the Scribe. By Dr. W. H. Nelson. 12mo. Ornamental paper	30	A
	Dr. Nelson combines oriental sagacity and Yankee shrewdness in the fifty brief fables entitled "Wisdom of Sufi the Scribe." Sufi observes with a critical but friendly eye the faults and foibles of man and points them out that others may profit. The wit and wisdom in these little tales serve to make a very readable little book.
